LOCAL MATTERS.

The river is falling. The weather for the past week has been delightful. Notice the change in Mr. Vogt's announcement this week.

Ready made summer clothing at cost at HAMM & CO. Miss Barison, will please accept our thanks for a basket of fine pouches.

John B. Robinson Esq. editor of the Perryville Forum, was in town last Saturday. The daily mail between here and Farmington commenced again on the 1st inst.

Mr. Ben Bogy and family came down Saturday night and left Sunday on the Elliott. If you want cheap summer clothing go to HAMM & CO.

Our young friend Clem. Boverie, who has been very sick, is, we are happy to say, convalescing. Peaches and water-melons are coming to town and the Doctors, are anticipating a rich harvest.

We understand that our neighbor the Free Press, intends making an illustrated paper out of itself. Mrs. Obermuller, is to remove from her old stand into Menards store south east corner of Main and Merchant street.

The colored folks of this vicinity celebrated the tenth anniversary of emancipation on Tuesday night last by a grand ball. Parties had better keep their stock up now as Uncle Jake intends enforcing the law and will pen up every cow and hog found loafing.

HAMM & CO. have the cheapest stock of ready made clothing in town. Dr. Brahan, is having a nest porch, built in front of his dwelling which when completed will improve greatly its appearance.

Mr. Jos Comb had a valuable mare stolen from his house on the night of the 2nd, no clue to the robbers has yet been found. The city authorities have improved the road between here and the landing by having gravel hauled, and filling the mudholes along the road.

Parties desiring to make connections with the railroad, will be pleased to learn that Kasher and Babl have resumed the running of their daily hacks. Special inducement to buyers of Dry Goods, Dress Goods, Shawls, Woollens, Cottonades, White Goods, Hosiery, Linens, Gloves and Yankee Notions. Our stock in Piece Goods and the goods enumerated above is perfectly complete and we can truly say we think we can offer bargains.

ROZIER & JOKERST'S. Our friend Emile S. Guignon, who has been spending the hot months with us left last week, to resume his old position in the Western Union Telegraph office.

A certain young man who deals extensively in stoves and tinware on Market street gracefully sports a pair of eye glasses, so as to better enable him to egg the young ladies as they go by.

The body of a foter was found in the river opposite the quarry on the 3rd. It had the appearance of having remained in the water for a long time as the flesh was nearly eaten from the bones. There was nothing about him that could afford the slightest clue to his identity.

Gus. Guibourd, still runs his hack to the landing making connection with the regular packets, and although his outfit is styled the "Black Maria" it never fails to bring you there on time. And Gus is sure to be there when the boat comes to take the passengers any where in the city.

If you want to trade where you can get just what you want, and at the very lowest prices, we honestly and earnestly advise you to come and see us before you do your buying, and we are determined to do the leading business in our town, if such a thing is possible and shall try to make such an impression on the hearts as well as pocket books of our patrons as will induce them to come again. ROZIER & JOKERST'S.

A Story About our Bogy. The St. Louis Correspondent of the Cincinnati Commercial.

It appears when Mr. Bogy was elected to the Senatorial chair; his son—Colonel Joe Bogy, was rather more elated than his father, and with a natural pride in the paternal success, alluded to it on all occasions. He spoke of his father frequently as the successor of Mr. Benton, and himself as the son of his father.

One night, after a discourse of this nature, a crouny, a sleepy sort of a chap, remarked that he had been the victim of a peculiar dream a few nights previous, and on being pressed related it.

"I dreamed," said he, "I dreamed I died and went to heaven, and when the angel at the gate asked me who I was I told him. He pointed to a place and told me to wait there; that my turn would come in a few hundred years. While I was waiting I saw Joe coming. Said the angel: 'Who are you?'"

"Don't you know me?" says Joe, "I'm Colonel Joe Bogys, son of Senator Bogy, of Missouri, the successor of Mr. Benton; you know me."

"Certainly, Colonel Bogy," replied the angel, "Come in, we've been expecting you. Walk right up."

"So Joe walked up to the throne, and the Almighty looked at him. 'Who are you?' he asked.

"I'm Colonel Joe Bogys," son of senator Bogy, of Missouri, who succeeded Mr. Benton." "Indeed," responded the Lord; "I'm glad to see you. Christ, my son, get up and give Colonel Joe your seat."

The Senator seemed to enjoy the story as heartily as anybody.

Freebooters.

One of the most audacious robberies ever perpetrated in this city occurred on Tuesday night on Grand Avenue. Mr. James Green, president of the Laclede Fire Brick company, who resides on McClure avenue, west of Grand avenue, was riding with his wife on Grand avenue, south of Campton avenue, when they were stopped by two footpads. One seized the horse by the bridle, whilst the other presented a pistol and demanded the money and watch of Mr. Green. He had no choice but to comply, and so passed out his gold watch and about forty dollars in money. The robbers then compelled Mr. Green and his wife to alight from the buggy, into which they jumped and drove off. The horse and buggy were afterwards found tied up on Lucas place, the same night. No clue has yet been found to the bold marauders.—Mo. Republican.

The Chief Justice of Manitoba has decided that the Court of Queen's bench of that province has jurisdiction in the case of Lepine, the accomplice of Riel in the murder of Scott. This decision indicates that Riel will eventually be brought to trial.
