

WALL ST. MEN TO BE HEARD BY SENATORS TODAY

Charges by Martin M. Mulhall Will Not Come Before the Committee Until Next Tuesday.

LETTERS ARE NOW IN COMMITTEE'S HANDS

A Demand Will be Made in the House Today to Have the Charges Investigated by That Body.

WASHINGTON, July 1.—With witnesses headed for Washington from many directions to testify on the new development in the senate's lobby investigation, Chairman Overman gave a hint Tuesday night of further sensations in the committee's activities.

An inquiry has been under way for some time, it is understood, into operation of paid press bureaus conducted by large corporations and "interests," and the committee expects to determine to what extent paid publicity agents are employed to attempt to influence public opinion or direct federal legislation.

The charges by Martin M. Mulhall, former representative of the Manufacturers' association, regarding his lobbying operations will not be opened formally until next Tuesday. Wednesday's hearing will be devoted primarily to the testimony of Wall st. men believed to have information as to lobbying activities in New York in which the names of congressmen are freely used.

Developments Tuesday indicated that officers of the senate and members of the lobby committee have been busy secretly for several days securing new information, the nature of which now is concealed. Sen. Reed, who went to New York Monday, is said to have acted for the committee unofficially in the obtaining of information and the names of desired witnesses.

Interest in Charges. Interest centered again Tuesday about the charges involving many present and former members of congress contained in the correspondence Mulhall has made public, covering his eight years of service as an agent of the National Association of Manufacturers. Former President Taft and Kirby of that organization who were to have sailed Tuesday from San Francisco for Australia, cancelled their passage on the demand of the senate officials and will come to Washington to testify Tuesday.

A demand will be made in the house Wednesday by Rep. Sherley of Kentucky and Neely of Kansas for an immediate investigation of the Mulhall charges by that body. Both representatives propose a special committee of five to take up the allegations made by Mulhall, that the Manufacturers' association financed campaigns, elected and defeated congressmen, dictated legislation and controlled the make up of committees.

Senate Has Letters. The senate committee has secured the Mulhall papers, however, and proposes to hold a hearing on them. A subpoena served on Louis J. Seibold of the New York World, requires him to produce the mass of letters and documents turned over to the World by Mulhall, and Kirby, former representative of the National Association of Manufacturers in Washington also has been subpoenaed to bring all his papers bearing on legislative activities.

Sen. Overman declined to reveal the extent of the proposed investigation into paid press bureaus further than to say that "other developments are coming." The committee learned during its intercepting of the Mulhall lobbyists that large sums had been spent for publicity and for contracts covering certain kinds of news service. It is understood that efforts will be made to determine the extent and character of said news services that are connected with the influencing of legislation.

SPARK SETS FIRE TO AGED WOMAN

Cigar Tossed Out of Apartment Window Starts a Blaze on Awning Which Has Disastrous Results.

NEW YORK, July 2.—A spark which blew in through the window caught in the clothing of Mrs. Marie L'Hullier as she was sitting alone in her apartment at 3609 Broadway, Tuesday afternoon, and she was burned to death before aid could reach her.

The fire started from a cigar or cigarette which was thrown out the awning over Mrs. L'Hullier's window, and a small fragment of the blazing cloth was blown into the apartment.

Mrs. L'Hullier was 74 years old. She was the mother of William D. L'Hullier, stock broker and director in several companies, with an office at 52 Broadway. Mr. L'Hullier and his family occupy the front apartment on the first floor of the building, which is known as Riverside court, and his mother occupied the rear apartment on the same floor.

The aged woman had just returned from dining with her son and daughter-in-law, and it is thought that she sat by the window until she dropped into a slight sleep. Some one from one of the upper apartments evidently threw the stub of a lighted cigar or cigarette out of the window, and it alighted on the awning of Mrs. L'Hullier's apartment, setting it afire.

The terms of the agreement by which a strike of 15,000 miners was averted Monday night in the New River field, were made known Tuesday. The agreement covers a period of two years and provides a nine hour day, the right to purchase supplies where the miner pleases, a semi-monthly pay day, check weighmen to be selected by the miners, reinstatement of miners discharged during the recent agitation, and the settlement of all disputes by a board jointly selected by operators and miners, with the governor of West Virginia as the final resort when the board is unable to reach a satisfactory conclusion.

SENATE DEMOCRATS NEAR AN AGREEMENT

Amendment to Have Tobacco Manufacturers Taxed When Output is Above Average Comes Up Again Today.

WASHINGTON, July 2.—Senate democrats approached a final agreement on the Underwood-Simmons tariff bill in caucus late Tuesday when they made the following decisions on important contested points:

Mutual Life Insurance companies were exempted from payment of income tax on premiums returned to policyholders in the form of dividends. A stamp tax of one-tenth of one cent per pound was agreed to, for all trading in cotton futures, the tax to be refunded where cotton is actually delivered.

An agreement was reached for a vote tomorrow on the Hitchcock amendment, proposing a restrictive tax on tobacco production to prevent monopoly.

The finance committee members held another meeting Tuesday night to decide questions referred back from the caucus. The caucus will resume work Wednesday and it is believed the final paragraph will be reached before Wednesday night.

The decision to exempt earnings which mutual life insurance companies later distribute to policyholders came at the end of a long debate. The caucus by a vote of 12 to 11 overturned Monday night the recommendation of the finance committee democrats that such exemption be made.

On a reconsideration Tuesday, asked by Sen. Lewis, the caucus reversed the action and voted to uphold the committee. Sen. Overman tried vainly to have the tax on cotton futures cut down from the one-tenth of one cent basis proposed by Sen. Clark, to one-twentieth of one cent.

Sen. Hitchcock's fight to secure the adoption of his tobacco tax amendment, which embraced the views set forth some time ago by Atty. Gen. McReynolds, was carried on until adjournment Tuesday night and was renewed Wednesday.

No papers have been filed except a precept giving the names of the plaintiff and the defendant.

Counsel for the young woman first applied for a capias which would have permitted Sulzer's arrest should he appear in this state. The judge before whom the application was made refused the order and suit was then begun in the ordinary manner.

Tuesday night the young woman's counsel declined to discuss the case, but it is reported the alleged contract of marriage was made Sept. 15, 1903, in New York city. Miss Hopkins, who resides here with two sisters, also refused to talk but admitted that Gov. Sulzer is the man referred to in her suit.

TOO DEMOCRATIC SAYS J. B. STOLL

Wouldn't be Able to Cringe and Fawn Before Foreign Courts if Made a Diplomat.

"I am too democratic to cringe and fawn before any of the foreign courts of Europe. I have serious doubts whether I would accept the post if it were tendered me." This was the statement given out Tuesday night by John B. Stoll when confronted with the report that he has been considered for the post of minister to Portugal, which recently was tendered to Meredith Nicholson and declined.

Mr. Stoll had just returned from Michigan City and was rather surprised when informed of the reported intention of Pres. Wilson. He would not state definitely whether he would accept or decline the nomination. His remarks, however, led to the conclusion that he may decline.

"My ambitions do not run in that direction," he said. He admitted that he was an "original Wilson man," and that he had labored actively for the New Jersey governor during the campaign.

Through his work as editor and politician Mr. Stoll has become widely known throughout Indiana. Until a year ago he was editor of the South Bend Times. He organized the Press Association of Northern Indiana and also assisted in founding the Democratic Editorial association, being its first president.

Since his retirement from active newspaper work Mr. Stoll has devoted his time to preparing a political history of Indiana.

TWO BATTLESHIPS VITAL ISSUE—T. R.

NEWPORT, R. I., July 2.—Col. Roosevelt scored legislators Wednesday who oppose appropriations for at least two new battleships annually in a speech before the progressive conference.

"Every senator or congressman, whatever his party, should be regarded as unfaithful to the public interest as false to the country if he fails heartily to support the program of providing every year for two battleships of the most efficient type," he declared. Such men are unrepresentatives of the American people, and invite national disaster and humiliation.

"There could be no worse type of public service than those congressmen who first do all they can to prevent the American people from being able to uphold their interest and honor in event of war, and then do all they can with wanton and ignorant folly to plunge us into war."

RALSTON PRAISES RECORD OF STATE SOLDIERS IN WAR

Indiana Man First to Enter Gettysburg, Says Governor at Big Reunion of Blue and Gray.

GETTYSBURG, Pa., July 2.—Indiana's glorious part in the battle of Gettysburg was related to thousands assembled here Wednesday for the 50th anniversary of the battle in an address by Gov. Samuel M. Ralston. After detailing the great fighting of the five regiments of infantry and seven companies of cavalry from Indiana, Gov. Ralston said:

"Indiana rejoiced in the ability, the valor and patriotism displayed by her sons who fought their brethren on fields of courage, and she is not here as a participant in this brotherly greeting to add to their fame by withholding a just meed of praise from the soldiers of other states who fought on either side of the tremendous battle. But rather is she here to join in swelling the chorus of glad acclaim in recognition of the absence of sectional hatred and the presence of peace, prosperity and patriotism among all the people of the union."

"This field on which we look was once the scene of as great a display of human bravery as the world ever witnessed. The test of American courage is the measure of American endurance. And in these valleys these slopes and upon these heights that test was made. It was a fearful test. It was made in a war to the death between men of the Anglo-Saxon race. It was made in a contest between men of the same country, heirs of the same traditions, men who lived liberty and who held high ideals of personal honor, men of character as well as courage.

"Now this same field is to afford the world its greatest object lesson in peace. The centuries leading to and beyond the Pyramids never beheld anything like it.

In detailing the fighting done by Indiana troops, Gov. Ralston claimed that Indiana soldiers were the first to enter. This distinction, he said, belonged to Sgt. Henry B. Sparks, of Company A, Third Indiana, who rode into Gettysburg about noon of June 26, and made prisoners of several soldiers. Soon afterwards Gen. Buford arrived with his division and took possession.

"Indiana boys also did picket service the same night," said Gov. Ralston. "Company A, Third Indiana cavalry, was the first to learn of the Confederate Gen. Heth's approach on Gettysburg July 1 and with this knowledge Gen. Buford ordered a brigade to meet the enemy."

GOV. RALSTON.

FIRST FLIGHT ACROSS LAKE MICHIGAN MADE

CHICAGO, July 2.—Loran A. Vilas, an amateur aviator of Chicago, made the first aeroplane flight across Lake Michigan. His trip made in a hydro-aeroplane from St. Joseph, Mich., to Chicago, consumed one hour and 34 minutes. Vilas was accompanied by William Bastar of Benton Harbor. Vilas followed the steamship lane from St. Joseph to Chicago, the distance being about 58 miles. He would have crossed from shore to shore within an hour, he said, had not shifting air currents compelled him frequently to change the level on which he was flying.

Vilas volplaned from a height of 800 feet as he approached this city and landed in the yacht harbor of Grand park. Although 2000 people had gathered on Michigan av. to watch the suffrage parade, Vilas' arrival in plain view of that street, was almost unnoticed.
