MULHALL HEARD BY SENATORS AT A NIGHT SESSION

Tells Them That He Refused a Bribe of $5,000 and Turned Down a Life Job in Naval Service.

HOUSE MEMBERS ARE BESTED IN ARGUMENT

They Had Expected to Do the Probing of the N. A. of M., But the Senators Beat Them to It.

WASHINGTON, July 12.—After an all day effort to settle the question of whether the senate lobby investigators or the new house committee should take the inquiry into the confession of Col. M. M. Mulhall, diplomatic negotiations were broken off Friday night and the senate committee called Col. Mulhall at a night session. Sen. Overman had announced earlier that no session would be held Friday night, but the meeting was decided on after Chairman Garrett of the house committee had armed sergeants-at-arms with subpœnas and sent them scurrying about Washington after Col. Mulhall and J. H. McMichael, who was charged by Mulhall with having acted as paid informant of the National Association of Manufacturers lobbyists while employed on the floor of the house.

This terminated a day of jurisdictional conflict. The Garrett committee had asked Sen. Overman Friday for at least copies of the Mulhall correspondence. The senate committee voted not to surrender it. After the house committee met today it recessed to allow Rees, Garrett, Russell and Nolan to go to the senate committee and renew the request for the "papers." This time they were officially refused.

Back to their side of the capitol went the disappointed house investigators and a strenuous executive session was held. Balked in the effort to secure the papers, the committee decided to do the next best thing. Although both Col. Mulhall and McMichael were under subpœna by the senate committee the house committee issued subpœnas for them forthwith, commanding their appearance at 9 o'clock Saturday morning. Sergeant at arms were at once dispatched to serve the summons.

Mulhall Takes Stand. Mulhall took the stand Friday night and subscribed to the oath with a smile on his face. Sen. Reed, designated by Chairman Overman to examine the witness, began by placing in evidence a list of the officers of the National Association of Manufacturers in 1907 and a list of the members of the association. Mulhall said he was born in 1850 and had lived in Baltimore more than 13 years. He said before he went with the National Association of Manufacturers he was "principally in politics," and was connected with the republican national committee.

"I refused a bribe of $5,000 and a life position in the naval service in 1892," said Mulhall. "That year I had charge of the republican campaign in Albany and Rensselaer counties, New York. Previous to that I had charge of William McKinley's gubernatorial campaign in Ohio."

The witness said he first became interested in the National Association of Manufacturers in 1902 when he met Marshall Cushing, its secretary, in a Washington hotel. Sen. Reed asked him about his relations with labor. He said the late Sen. Quay of Pennsylvania sent him to confer with John Mitchell during the anthracite strike in Pennsylvania fields in 1902 to get the inside story. During that time Mulhall said he arranged for a conference between Gov. Stone of Pennsylvania and three labor leaders.

Introduces Letters. The first Mulhall letter introduced was addressed to Mitchell in February, 1902, relating to these meetings. A letter of March 18, 1902, from Mulhall to Mitchell declared that the leaders of the republican organization could do more for the miners' union, "than any association board in existence." A letter dated May 17, 1902, from Mulhall to Mitchell told of a conference between Mulhall and Gov. Stone at which Stone expressed sympathy with the miners.

"I think you could make a grand strike," the letter said, in suggesting the calling of a strike, "if you would meet Gov. Stone and make him your friend; he will be of great assistance to you in the event of an anthracite strike."

A letter of August, 1901, from M. Carroll Downes, who Mulhall said was secretary to the late Sen. McComas of Maryland, was put in the record by Reed. It related to the employment of two men in the treasury department in Washington. Mulhall said he enjoyed close political relations with Sen. McComas and that the men for whom the employment was secured were officers of the Molders' union in Baltimore.

Went after Jobs. Edward Booth, one of the men who was to get a Washington job, wrote to Mulhall about the work being done to keep up the Workmen's Protective association. Mulhall said this organization was republican in politics. In it Booth said McComas seemed to be handing out the "same old jolly" and complained about the class of jobs he and Williams were to get. "We do not propose to do anything for the republican party this fall unless they do more for us," he wrote. Booth said the organization could put 200 political workers in the field, and that it expected to be a large factor in the Baltimore majority election that year.

TOPEKA, Kansas, July 12.—The cultured Artist League of Boston says that little Theresa Marie Blitz of Topeka, Kansas has the most perfect features and figure to be found anywhere. She was also the winner in a contest with 2,000 other child beauties, and as a prize she is going to have a tour of the country with her father and a free trip to Paris.

"People say 'Im pretty,'" said Theresa when the reporters called to see her. "I wonder if I am. What do you think?" Grandmother's warning finger enjoined silence. And she whispered: "Please don't tell her! She'll find it out soon enough, goodness knows." "Of course, I'm proud that she's so beautiful—but it's so much more important for her to be just a good, sweet, little girl."

OWEN AND POMERENE RIVALS AT SWIMMING

Solons to Have Race for Senate Championship—Odds on Owen.

WASHINGTON, July 12.—The swimming championship of the senate is the title for which Sens. Pomerene of Ohio, and Owen of Oklahoma, will battle. The Ohio solon happened to remark that he used to be swimming champion of Killbuck Creek in Ohio, and Owen, who is part Indiana, grinned sarcastically. The two then agreed to a contest.

Of course senators don't bet—in public—but the favorite in the race is Owen, since somebody from Oklahoma tipped it off that Owen used even to eat his meals in water.

MARTIN IN FALL OF 700 FEET; NOT HURT

Aviator Brings His Hydro-aeroplane to the Lake Surface and Says He Will Continue Journey Today.

MUSKEGON, Mich., July 12.—Glen Martin's steady nerve and perfect control of his hydro-aeroplane, in which he is making the Chicago-to-Detroit cruise, probably saved his life late Friday afternoon, when the machine developed carburetor trouble and he was forced to make a quick descent into Lake Michigan.

Martin, with his passenger, Charles Day, was flying about 700 feet above the water when the air valve dropped from the carburetor. Martin volplaned to the surface of the lake, making a perfect landing about 2 1/2 miles from the shore. In a few minutes he succeeded in starting his engine again and reached the shore under his own power.

Martin declared his machine was not damaged and that he will resume his journey toward Charlevoix at 7:30 Saturday morning. Beckwith Havens and Roy Francis, who reached Pentwater Friday afternoon, will remain there during the night.

BULGARIANS ROUTED BY GREEK SOLDIERS

Advance of Victorious Army is Checked When Railroad is Torn Up—Prominent Greeks Reported Slain.

ATHENS, July 12.—Glen Ivanoff's army, together with three divisions of the Istip force, aggregating 112 battalions, made its last stand in a strongly entrenched position near Demirhisar on the left bank of the River Struma, and on the adjacent heights of Intrina, which were well defended with siege artillery. The heavy guns effectively delayed the advance of the Greek infantry and as the Greek artillery was out-ranged the battle was indecisive for a considerable time.

Under cover of darkness, however, the attack was renewed, and in a brilliant charge the Greeks dislodged the Bulgarians from the heights and drove them across the Struma. In their retreat the Bulgarians destroyed the railway for some distance, again checking the Greek advance.

The Greeks then directed their march along the right bank of the river, supported by mountain batteries, and compelled the Bulgarians hurriedly to abandon their positions, leaving behind four heavy guns and a quantity of ammunition.

While this battle was in progress the Greeks attacked and dispersed the Bulgarian forces from Istip, advancing towards Petrich, by way of Strumitza, capturing 20 guns.

DRESS CRITICISM CAUSED HYSTERICS FOR INTERLAKEN

AN injunction suit filed by Frances Howe to prevent Lycurgus Coplin, treasurer of Porter county, from levying on $15,497 worth of property for taxes have been brought to this county on change of venue.

Mrs. Howe created a sensation during a conditional examination in the case, held in the stenographer's room of the court house at Valparaiso, according to reports from that city. During the examination Mrs. Howe is said to have made the statement that she spent $5,100 a year on dress. Atty. Will Daply, representing the county, replied that she did not look it, whereupon Mrs. Howe flung up her hands, threw back her head and screamed hysterically. All the occupants of the room, including Stephen Corby and Harriet Cross, court reporters, fled, except Mrs. Howe's attorney, F. H. Wurzer, of this city. The examination was thus abruptly ended.

Mrs. Howe was one of the victims of a tax ferret, who alleged that she had sequestered her property from the assessor. When the treasurer tried to collect the full tax, the injunction suit was filed.

THEY'E CRACKING HEADS IN BELFAST

Riot Breaks Out at Celebration by Orangemen of Battle of the Boyne.

BELFAST, July 12.—Scores of heads were cracked with clubs, revolver shots were fired and much property damage was done here Saturday in riots which marked the celebration of the 222d anniversary of the battle of the Boyne which, fought July 1—old calendar—1690, resulted in the final overthrow of the monarch, James II.

Many were injured when Nationalists attempted to break up the parade of Orangemen, the feeling between the contending forces being made more bitter in view of the imminence of the enactment of the Irish home rule bill.

Fearing trouble the military authorities had taken stringent precautions for the preservation of order. Gen. Count Gleichen, the king's cousin, commander of the troops in Belfast, had his men under arms in the barracks. Strong detachments of local police and the royal Irish constabulary, much hated by Belfast Orangemen, camped all night at strategic points.

In the rioting early Saturday, the Nationalists and Unionists fought with clubs and hurled rocks and bottles. They fought for two hours, many were injured and windows in the neighborhood were smashed. Reported charges by the police dispersed the rioters.
