

SENATORS' WORK IS THE FEATURE OF PAST WEEK

Have Lost Only Two Games in Two Weeks and Are Figuring on Chance For Pennant. Giants Still Leading.

NEW YORK, July 28.—The approach of August days find interest in the major league baseball races down almost to the vanishing point, so far as the premier berths are concerned.

In the younger organization the situation is much the same, with the Athletics in a commanding position, and only Washington seriously refusing to concede Connie Mack's another chance at the major slice of world's series money.

The breaking up of the Pirate attack on the Giants' pennant aspirations was the big feature of the baseball week just past.

Senators Going Strong. Among other points of interest is the showing of the Senators, Griffith's lively crew has lost but two games in the last two weeks.

Washington's success is attributable in very great part to the sterling work of its great pitchers, Johnson and Boehling.

White Sox a Question. The case of Chicago, next down in the league list, is hard to fathom.

The Bostonians, after a poor road trip during which they made their quick change of managers, are playing better ball at home.

Chicago took an early lead but errors by Zimmerman, who returned to his regular position for the first time since his ankle was injured, coupled with hits by Clymer, Sweeney and Whaling, enabled Boston to tie the score.

Chicago again forged ahead when a pass to Leach, coupled with Phelan's double, Zimmerman's sacrifice fly and Saire's hot run scored three runs.

The Boston team scored two more on a base on balls, a triple, and Sweeney's sacrifice fly. They added another run in the ninth when a batting rally with pinch hitters scored Rudolph, who ran for Titus and forced Lavender to retire.

Chicago's winning run was made on Zimmerman's double, Saire's out and Mitchell's long fly. Catcher Archer of Chicago was hit on the finger by a foul tip and had to leave the game.

PICKS A BERTH FOR SOUTH BEND

According to a Local Fan Who Kept Posted on Baseball, the Central West Needs Reorganization Badly.

To a local fan who has given the reorganization of class B and C leagues in the middle west considerable attention, the "pipe" of Pres. Vost of Canton is really not so far fetched after all.

According to this fan an ideal short mileage circuit could be made up of nearly all Ohio cities, taking the best from this list: Youngstown, Akron, Canton, Columbus, Zanesville, Dayton and Springfield, with Erie in Pennsylvania and Wheeling in West Virginia strong possibilities.

For the next organization Terre Haute and perhaps Evansville could be added to Danville, Dayton, Decatur, Rook Island, Bloomington, Springfield and Peoria and thus make a more compact organization than the Three I has had in years and more especially if Terre Haute is added to the Illinois and Iowa towns.

To Fort Wayne and Grand Rapids now in the Central could be Kalamazoo, Jackson, Lansing, Battle Creek, Saginaw and Bay City in Michigan, with Gary or East Chicago and South Bend to make up a third class B organization from the three class B and one class C leagues until recently in existence.

The remaining cities in Michigan could be added to the Michigan State league and advance that organization one class, besides adding much strength to it.

The matter of mileage is a most important factor in any of these leagues according to the fan. It is not noticed so much when the weather is fine, but let it rain or snow on a few of the big days and the man who holds the bag will begin to notice it.

Salaries in all the class B leagues are too high. They are paying as much as the Pacific Coast league, where baseball is about the only outdoor diversion and where the games can be started later, which in themselves make these better drawing centers.

Speaking personally, $1,800 to $20,000 should be the limit in all class B leagues. This should include the managers, but if more is desired, say $1,500 to $1,700, exclusive of manager. Then get leagues with the cities close enough to get out the natural rivalry and success would be well insured.

With South Bend the center and with Gary or East Chicago and Fort Wayne fighting in the same league, a local team ought to pay. According to the fan a man who had a franchise in South Bend under these conditions would not have to beg for bidders if he wanted to dispose of his team.

CINCINNATI, July 28.—Brooklyn took both games of a double header from the locals here Sunday, the first by a score of 7 to 4 and the second 8 to 1.

MARQUARD WINS NINTH STRAIGHT

Rube Has Things Much His Own Way After Four Singles Send Over Two Runs in the Second Inning.

ST. LOUIS, July 28.—"Rube" Marquard won his ninth consecutive game Sunday afternoon when New York defeated St. Louis 2 to 1. The contest was called at the end of the seventh inning because of rain.

A double header had been scheduled Sunday for the afternoon but the rain left the diamond in such poor shape that the second game was called off after a wait of half an hour.

New York tallied its runs in the second inning on singles by Murray, Snodgrass, Burns and Shafer. Singles by Oaks, Whitehead and Cathers in the fifth saved St. Louis from a shut-out. Sunday's postponed game will be played off in a double header Tuesday.

DECISION ENDS CONTEST

In an argument resulting from a decision in the fifth inning, the Dodgers or White Eagles, walked off the diamond Sunday afternoon, and the West End Cubs claimed the game, 9 to 0.

The umpire, a Ledo man, decided in favor of a White Eagle runner when the player registered by a long slide home. The Ledo players could not see it that way, and after an argument, left the field. Up to the fifth inning the score was 3 to 1 in their favor.

LITTLE NAPOLEON OF BALL FIELD CAN SAY I TOLD YOU SO

He Forecasted That Pirates Would Be Factor in Race From Start—English Think They Know What Fans Are.

BY HAL SHERIDAN. NEW YORK, July 28.—The honorable J. McGraw, known as the "Little Napoleon", but whose real title is manager of the New York Giants, is about in a position to murmur "I told you so".

While the Pittsburgh Pirates were floundering in the second division and sending men to the hospital just as fast as they climbed into uniform, McGraw insisted that it would be the Pirates he would have to beat in the final dash for the pennant.

From April on through June the Pirates refused to respond to the call. The machine simply would not open up and show speed. It was damped by everyone, including humble Boston, and lowly Cincinnati, but early July saw the worn begin to turn. There wasn't any change in the material. The same parts were in use, but as the team began to patch itself together it began to kick up smoke. It jumped from the second to the first division a little more than a week, and it now has the stuff to whip up even faster through the dog days.

In the meantime, Brooklyn was dropping ten straight, which helped considerably, and the Pirates passed the stumbling Dodgers, who had apparently shot their bolt and are ready to give up the ghost.

The Giants had snatched off the lead from the Phillies before the Pirates got under way in their sprint toward daylight, and had an imposing lead established. The Cubs and Phillies have to beat out steam ahead if they maintain a position over Clark's crew.

Although McGraw believes—at least he says he believes—that it is the Pirates he will have to beat out for the flag, he doesn't admit having lost any sleep over it.

Perhaps it isn't clubby to be perpetually harping on and spoofing about English methods in sports in this weekly effusion, but J. Bull's son have been so prominent this season for what they have or have not done, that the English excuse. Here's the excuse. The English have found out what a baseball fan is. It took them a long time to do it, but they'll have to be forgiven for this. Those English cousins of ours are usually in the mental outfield when a joke is cracked out and they have to wait until the second bounce to get it.

Take a look at the paper, published weekly, that has arrived in this port, a "fan" is a "fan" of baseball. To the ordinary run of Americans, "fan" is distinctive. It means a baseball fan, but the English will not have it that way. We, over here, speak of a chicken fancier—no, we don't mean what you think; we mean a real one with feathers that looks well in a skillet—also horse fanciers. Perhaps the English would have us trip up and dub 'em chicken fans or horse fans! An explanatory note under the picture of two notables at a baseball game says they are "fans", and adds, "Fan, it may be noted, is short for 'fanciers' of baseball." Just fancy that, old top.

We are given another chance to spoof the boys across the pond, not to mention some of the boys on our own shores in the account of a recent cricket game. As a run getter and batter the wonderful Ty Cobb is a baseball compared to a phenom developed in England. Braund, of Somerset, in a recent game, batted for three hours and 45 minutes before he was put out. He scored 27 runs in that time. He's a cricket player. This may explain why they have militant suffragets in England.

RAIN STOPS THE GAME AT SPRINGBROOK PARK

Elliott Giants Have a Two Run Lead Over the Gergacz When the Rain Comes Down.

What promised to be an interesting game was stopped Sunday afternoon in the last half of the fourth inning when rain called a halt to the Gergacz-Elliott Giants game. The giants had the game by a score of two to nothing and had two of the opponents down in the last of the fourth when the game was called.

The Giants will tackle the Benton Harbor Negro team at Springbrook park Friday afternoon. Both teams have been playing good ball and a fast contest is promised.
