

SOCIAL AND OTHER INTERESTS OF WOMEN

Society

Following the meeting of the Business Women's Bible class at the First Presbyterian church Tuesday evening a "stunt party" was given by different groups in the gymnasium of the Y. W. C. A. A colored wedding with pickaninnies and congregations, staged by the girls of Wilson Bros, was generally accepted as the most finished of the acts. Studebakers presented an "Invisible Chorus," which received hearty applause.

Other "stunts" were the "Barnyard Chorus" by the women of the Vanderoof Medical Co.; pan band with soloist by Oliver employees, and a take off on the Bible class by Birdsell's employees. Vocal solos were given by Miss Edna Evans and Miss Gillie. The Ellsworth store and Stephenson's Underwear Co. were represented by young women, who gave solos. The officers served refreshments at the close of the program.

Miss Vesta Little was the honor guest at a picnic given Tuesday evening in Leeper park by 14 young women of the Y. W. C. A. After supper they presented her with a tennis racket, case, press and roll of tape. Miss Little will leave the association soon.

SAYS HUSBAND GOT ALL THE CLOTHING

Charging that her husband spends money lavishly to dress himself in the finest clothes but that he denies her enough to appear in anything more than shabby apparel, Mary Van Blatz has filed suit for separate maintenance from Frank Van Blatz in the circuit court.

They were married July 30, 1912, and separated July 5, 1913. During that time Van Blatz has had no less than 13 pairs of shoes, the wife declares. She says he told her he had bought a go-cart for their baby and couldn't afford to spend any more for her. She alleges that he spent much of his time with other women.

Mrs. Van Blatz asks that her husband be required to pay $10 a week for the support of herself and child. Van Blatz is a painter and paper hanger.

YOUR PERSONAL APPEARANCE

How to Take Care of Your Hair in Summer. BY MADAME MILLEFLEURS.

Almost the first thing a girl finds out after she returns from her vacation is that her hair is in bad order. If she has been at the seashore it is streaked and sun-burned and often she will find dandruff on her scalp and that the ends of the hair are split.

Unless you want to coarsen and streak your hair to make it brittle and unruly, don't go without a hat in the hot sun for any length of time, and don't let the salt water get to your hair if you go sea bathing.

During the hot weather the heads of most girls perspire very freely in summer and unless the hair is loosened at night thoroughly and aired and brushed and dried it will get "sour and jelly". Give your hair an airing every day and wash your hair about once every two weeks in summer, and if you find that it is becoming string and has an odor, rub the scalp up and down each strand of hair with alcohol.

Make a shampoo of castile soap and water and rub your head and hair all over with it. Rinse well, making sure that every bit of soap is out. Go through this operation three times and you will find your hair perfectly clean and odorous.

Scalp Massage. Before dressing the hair and when taking it down at night loosen it by giving the ends two or three light strokes, place the tips of the fingers of both hands at the juncture of the hair and the forehead and then work them with a circular motion gently but firmly toward an imaginary center at the top of the head. At each turn of the fingers let them work lightly on the surface, and then deeply, the first motion is for the hair follicles themselves, the next for moving the scalp on the head so as to make it soft, yielding and flexible.

Second movement—Place the tips of the fingers so that the forefinger of each hand will meet at the spot where the last message left off. This will bring the fingers of each hand over an ear at the juncture of the hair and skin. In the same manner as before, they should work over the hair roots with light and deep massage until the finger tips meet at the center at the top of the head.

Third movement—The fingers of each hand are placed so as to meet at the back of the neck where the hair begins, and describing the same motions as before, they work themselves upward to the center.

BRIDE FINDS $100,000 CHECK IN BOUQUET

Aurora Girl Weds College Sprinter and Gets Handsome Present.

CHICAGO, July 30.—With a check for $100,000 still pinned to a rose stem where she found it, Mrs. Archibald Richards, who was Miss Esther Stewart of Aurora, Ill., until Tuesday night, is off on her honeymoon.

The check was a gift from her grandfather, John Stewart, multi-millionaire lumber man.

Miss Stewart met Richards, a former champion college sprinter and captain of the University of Wisconsin track team, a year ago. He is the son of the general claim agent of the Chicago & Northwestern railroad.

Dr. W. G. Wegner and City Food Inspector Make Rounds of the Local Farms.

Dr. W. G. Wegner, county health officer, who accompanied by Charles Van Lake, city food inspector, has recently visited fairly all the dairy farms in the county, states that he finds conditions in the county more sanitary than ever before. He further states that he believes the milk supply of this county to be about the best in the state.

He found most of the dairy barns clean and airy and the dairymen taking every possible precaution toward sanitation. He adds, however, that an extra precaution it would be well for every consumer to heat the milk to a boiling point, thus destroying all bacteria and rendering it more digestible.

Evening gown of pale pink Duchesse silk. The bodice is simply made of two wide bands of white embroidered tulle enhanced on each shoulder and round the neck with similis. The small kimono sleeves, simply an apology for a sleeve, are finished by a bracelet of white tulle with a fly bow of the same material. At the waist, a high draped girde of pale pink Duchesse silk. A tunic of white net, gathered at the waist falls down in a point and is edged with a row of similis. The pink Duchesse silk draped skirt is slightly raised in the middle front and draped at back under a wide panel which falls from the waist over the tunic to finish in a long pointed train.

CAMPERS MAY HAVE SIMPLE DESSERTS

Cooking Expert Tells How to Arrange for Dainty Finish to Tent Dinner.

BY MRS. EMILY RIESENBERG.

The fact that you are camping need not deter you from the pleasure of having some wholesome sweets that every normal appetite craves. Many dainty desserts can be made with very little work, and if prepared in the morning a good part of the dinner problem is solved, as a nice dessert or a spicy sauce will compensate for many short comings of the camp fare. If the camp has been well provisioned you will have several cans of ladyfingers, spice cakes, dried fruit and shelled nuts to draw upon, and if you have some canned fruit or can procure the fresh fruits in season you can have a new dessert every day.

Plain Boiled Rice. Method—Have a large kettle of rapidly boiling water on the stove, wash one cup of rice and stir into water, keeping it boiling all the time; add one tablespoon of salt and boil until the kernels are tender if pressed with the fingers—about thirty minutes is required. When done drain; let some cold water run through then drain very dry and shake over fire so as to separate the kernels.

Rice With Raisins. Method—Pour some boiling water on a cup of raisins, cover and let stand a few minutes; drain and then beat them into as much boiled rice as you need, sweeten and season with a little cinnamon and serve plain or with cream or milk.

Rice Cakes. Ingredients—Two cups cold boiled rice, two eggs, four tablespoons milk, four tablespoons flour and pinch of salt. Method—Beat all ingredients together, then drop into pan with a little butter and bake like griddle cakes.

Light Custard. Ingredients—One and one-half cups milk, two tablespoons corn starch, one-quarter cup sugar, one egg and any flavoring desired. Method—Dissolve corn starch in part of milk; beat yolks and sugar smooth, heat rest of milk in a saucepan; when hot stir in the dissolved corn starch, stir constantly and as soon as it thickens pour in some of the beaten egg, pour this back into pan and heat hard for a few seconds; then remove from stove. If whole egg is used, separate the egg, whip the white with a fork and stirring in the custard after taking from the fire.

Custard Fruit Pudding. Method—Place sugared berries, sliced peaches or grated canned pineapple in saucers, then divide a cold custard evenly for number of dishes desired and pour over fruit. This is very nice if you can get cream to serve with it, or you may use the juice of canned fruit as sauce.

Summer Spice Pudding. Method—Take small ginger cookies and line bottom of pan with them, pour on some hot custard which has been previously prepared, then add another layer of cookies and pour the rest of custard over them. When cold this pudding is a good substitute for a baked pudding and requires much less labor to prepare.
