

SOCIAL AND OTHER INTERESTS OF WOMEN

Society

A pretty mid-summer wedding was solemnized at St. Patrick's Catholic church Tuesday morning at 8:30 o'clock. The bride, Miss Maude Miller, is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Isaac N. Miller, 127 E. Marion st. She was married to Fred H. Meifield, son of Mr. and Mrs. J. B. Meifield, of Frankfort, Ind. Rev. Matthew Schumacher, of Notre Dame university, performed the ceremony. They were attended by Miss Florence Paxton and Paul Meifield, a brother of the bridegroom. The bride wore a gown of white crepe metior, with trimmings of duchess lace and a full length tulle veil caught with white lilies. Her bouquet was of white bride's roses and valley lilies with a shower of the lilies. Miss Paxton wore pink crepe de chine with trimmings of pale grey crepe de chine and duchess lace. She carried an empire basket of Killarney roses and white asters and wore a picture hat with pink roses. Following the ceremony a breakfast was served at the bride's home for the relatives of the couple and a few intimate friends. Among those who were present at the wedding from out of the city were Mr. and Mrs. J. B. Meifield, Paul Meifield, Mr. and Mrs. E. F. Gruber, Mr. and Mrs. A. J. Thompson, Mr. and Mrs. B. C. Thompson, Miss Edith Thompson, Mr. and Mrs. Otis Miller, and Miss Edith Miller, all of Frankfort; Mrs. M. V. Burke, Miss Agnes Miller, Leroy Miller, of Crawfordsville; and Mrs. M. H. Burk and Miss Katherine Burk of Lafayette; the Misses Maude and Mabel Roach of Indianapolis; Mrs. W. L. Babbitt, Merlin Babbitt and John Babbitt, of Niles; Mr. and Mrs. Meifield left Tuesday for a wedding trip on the great lakes. They will be gone a month. They will be at home after Nov. 1 at Frankfort.

FASHIONABLE WOMEN WHO ARE ENJOYING THEMSELVES WITH THEIR SET AT NEWPORT

Mrs. Stuyvesant Fish, her daughter, Miss Janet Fish, and Mrs. William E. Glynn are among the fashionable who are participating in Newport life. Mrs. Fish is the social leader and one of the most charming hostesses at the watering place. The three women attend Trinity church at Newport during the summer.

LAYETTE NEEDS DOZEN DRESSES

Little Garments Can Be Fashioned From Inexpensive Materials and Simply Made.

Is there any happier occupation for a woman's fingers, heart and brain than the fashioning of tiny garments for a little guest not yet arrived? And you have softly answered—every woman of you—"No".

Yet, into the hours of content slip puzzling moments, especially those times of wondering just what does comprise a "layette" and how much it is really necessary for a moderately filled purse to spend in order to have a suitable and comfortable layette for the coming little one.

That word "comfortable" is most important, too, for the baby must have nothing to hinder its growth. Fortunately the layette must, of necessity, be simple for fussy and elaborate things but serve to make a child fretful and restless. The slips and dresses should not be longer than 27 inches when finished. Flannel skirts should be about 26 inches in length. No white skirts are worn unless it be a high day or holiday.

For an inexpensive layette, the slips are made of muslin, costing anywhere from 15 cents to 25 cents per yard. It takes two yards for a slip. The slips should be made by hand, with a few small tucks and some brieft-stitching front and back. Put a tiny swiss beading at the neck and sleeves and run through them a narrow linen tape to draw the neck and sleeves up. About 10 inches for the neck and seven inches for the wristbands are good measurements to allow. Whip a narrow lace edge to the heading, and the dress or slip is completed.

Tattling Decorates Slips. Fine tattling is sometimes used on baby slips. It is most effective, and there is often an aunt or grandmother who would consider it a privilege to make some. Some slips can be made with tiny sprays of hand embroidery between the tucks, while other slips can be made with a smelking in the front to form a yoke.

A dozen slips or dresses will be quite enough. It would be well to have one "best" dress, which can be used for state occasions—perhaps the christening. Make this of batiste, costing anywhere from 25 cents to 75 cents per yard. It is very wide, and one width will make a dress, if a seam is put down the back. However, if there is an objection to the seam, one and three-quarter yards will make any kind of dress. A pretty way to make the "best" dress would be to have a hand-embroidered yoke, round or square, joined to the dress with on-tredre, and the neck and sleeves finished with a narrow swiss beading and tiny edge the same as on the slips.

The "nighties" may be made of long cloth or muslin and over the same pattern as the slips. Gather the neck and sleeves into little bias folds and whip on to the folds a tiny lace edge. Fine "nighties" will be enough. The flannel skirts are made on muslin bodies, and it takes two widths of flannel, each 22 inches long, one and a quarter yards, for each skirt. These may be finished with an embroidered scallop or a two-inch hem, brieft-stitched in. If the hem is to be used, be sure to allow for it when buying the flannel. Scalloped skirts are desirable for the baby for the anytime and are not difficult to embroider. Draw the scallops with the air of a thimble or a spool and embroider in twisted silk. The silk can be bought in skeins or on five-cent spools. It takes two skeins for the skirt.

Needs Three Woolen Shirts. Almost without exception, no matter what the temperature or the time of year, the new baby wears high-necked long-sleeved woolen shirts. There will be enough for the layette. They cost about 75 cents apiece. The flannel bands should be twenty-four inches long and torn off the length of the goods—never off the width. They are six inches wide and are not hemmed, but nicked or "pinked", so that the edges will not ravel. Good flannel for this purpose can be purchased from 50 cents to $1.50 per yard. Four of these bands will be sufficient.

It is well to have about four dozen squares. These may be made of birdseye, which comes in different widths. Make a few small ones eighteen inches wide and the rest twenty-seven inches. The "squares" are made square, and their names would indicate, and may be hemmed by machine. Do not fail to both and press them before allowing them to come in contact with the baby's delicate skin.

There are ever so many little things that one can add—nightingales, sacques, bibs, kimono, etc. It is, however, better to wait and to make these after the coming of the little one, who is likely to receive many of these last-mentioned articles as gifts.

Next Monday evening the girls will hold a camp party at the Y. W. C. A. and the Camp Eberhart girls from Laporte, Michigan City and Three Rivers are expected to attend.

A GOOD THING COMES TO AN END. Probably the greatest money-saving treat that has ever been extended to the women of South Bend was the big Expansion Sale which Robertson's were compelled to hold. And it ends Wednesday. See page 4's big advt. —Advt.

DR. THOMSON'S EYE TALKS (TALK NO. 161.) If you see well at a distance but poorly close by, you need glasses. If you see well close by but poorly at a distance you need glasses. If threading a needle or reading fine print is difficult and tiresome you need glasses. If you have a headache or pain around the eyes after reading or sewing you need glasses. If the type blurs and runs together you need glasses. If the eyes burn and water or objects seem to swim before you you need glasses. If you feel drowsy after reading a few moments you need glasses. If you have any of these troubles I want to see you. If you will call at my parlors I will examine your eyes free of charge. If you do not need glasses I will tell you so. If I furnish you glasses I will guarantee a benefit. If you will wear them faithfully they will preserve your eyes.

FAVORITE RECIPES OF SOUTH BEND WOMEN

MRS. W. J. RICKEY. Scotch Short Bread. Mrs. W. J. Rickey has sent the News-Times a recipe for Scotch short bread from her home in Rockport, Heleensburg, Scotland. Mrs. Rickey added as a postscript to her letter that she is expecting a visit from the Misses Gertrude Brown and Arminta Clauer the middle of this month. They are in England now. Her recipe follows: One-half pound flour. One ounce sugar. Salt. Six ounces butter. Put the flour, sugar and a pinch of salt in a basin. Rub in the butter. Knead with the hand until it becomes a dough. Turn on a floured board. Roll out about one-half inch thick. Cut into rounds or squares. Place on a floured tin. Pinch them round the edges and prick the centers with a fork. Put in a moderate oven and cook slowly for about 30 to 45 minutes. The short bread is sometimes ornamented with candied peel or caraway comfits. No water or mointoning of any kind should be used or it will not be short. Average cost, eight pence. Time required, one hour.
