

SLIT SKIRTS AND POLITICS.

Martin H. Glynn, Editor, and Martin H. Glynn, Lieutenant Governor, Do a Fine Piece of Team Work While Sulzer Defies the Legislature.

Mrs. Martin Glynn and a view of the Glynn home near Albany, N. Y.

With an intimation that he should worry, Lieut. Gov. Glynn went about his regular work. This is the substance of an interview with Martin H. Glynn in reply to a strong minority report, backed up with armed guards which Gov. Sulzer gave the papers when it was proposed to let Lieut. Gov. Glynn sit on the job of running the state while the legislature was trying Sulzer under the impeachment resolutions.

shown and he'd be everlastingly dodged pleased if a way to change the slit skirts and other pleasing little foibles, including a way to turn last year's gingham apron into a panel effect. Gingham blouses would be forthcoming at the earliest possible moment, etc., etc. That is what Lieut. Gov. Martin Glynn was doing when Sulzer was pawing the air and Murphy and Fraxley were scattering advice and statements and threats to the four well-known winds. That being Mr. Martin Glynn's "regular business". All of which gives a little key to the character of the most important figure in the New York state politics today—eliminating the Sulzer idol.

HEAT DOES NOT DETER CHURCHMEN

Large Crowds Turn Out to Hear Substitute Pastors—Several Still Away on Vacations.

In spite of the extremely hot weather Sunday and the fact that a large number of people are spending their summer vacations, church services were well attended. Many of the pastors are still on their summer vacations. However, the congregations turned out in large numbers to hear the substitutes.

Among the pastor who are still away are Reverends C. A. Decker, C. A. Lippincott, J. L. Gardner, G. W. Henry, H. B. Hostetter, J. S. Burns and John O. Mosler. Their pulpits are being filled by visiting pastors from out of town as well as in some cases the laymen of the church.

Services Sunday night at the Lowell Heights M. E. church was held in the open air tabernacle, completed last week in which the short revival will be held, which begins Monday night. Rev. W. N. Dunn of Otterbein, Ind., will arrive Monday to open the services in the evening.

At the services at the tabernacle in the evening Rev. Arthur Schafer preached on the subject, "Repentance," urging the need of repentance to all who would be Christians. He said that repentance was not only being sorry for sinning but also it meant a desire to change from sin and be saved.

He said that it would bring happiness into one's life where troubles had existed with sin before. There will be services each night during the week and a male quartet will furnish music. Homer Rodeheaver will be present at the meetings Saturday.

Grace M. E. "Christ calls into his service men with every variety of endowments," said Rev. F. K. Dougherty in his evening sermon at the Grace M. E. church Sunday, when he talked on the subject, "The Talents," taken from Matt. 25:14-30.

"The primary lesson of the parable of the talents is that equal diligence in the unequal endowment will have an equal value set upon it. It teaches that to whom much is given of him much shall be required," continued he. "Faithfulness is the keyword of the parable. The poorly endowed who are faithful in their stewardship will be graciously rewarded, but they cannot plead this lack of ability as an excuse for unfaithfulness.

NO MUSIC ALLOWED IN CAPITAL SALOONS

Only One Man Disobeys Order at Indianapolis and His Place is Raided.

INDIANAPOLIS, Aug. 18.—Patrons of Indianapolis saloons sipped their wine, guzzled their beer or "chased" their whiskey only to the tinkling glasses Saturday. All music in the drinking parlors was put on the back burner by order from Supt. of Police Hyland during the day.

Only one saloonkeeper, John Donovan, had courage to disobey the order and shortly after midnight, the auto-cabbed patrol backed up to his place. Patrolmen entered the building from all entrances, huddled the 15 patrons of the place—men and women—out of the hall into the patrol and down to police station.

Supt. Hyland says he means that the order shall be enforced.

MEN, AGED 70, FIGHT ABOUT WOMAN OF 70

TERRE HAUTE, Ind., Aug. 18.—Martin Bennett, age 74, appeared in city court Friday to prosecute Joe Kennedy, age 72, whom he accused of making several knife wounds in his abdomen. The quarrel was caused by the alleged attentions of Kennedy toward Mrs. Gordon, age 70, housekeeper for Bennett. Kennedy has a bruised head, which, he said, was caused by the fist of Bennett. When the latter was taken to a hospital to have the knife wounds dressed he became impatient over the delay of surgeons and left the hospital to report in court.

FEUD LEADS TO KILLING

NASHVILLE, Tenn., Aug. 18.—A family feud of long standing culminated Saturday near Seale, Tenn., in the killing of J. W. A. Collins, aged 51, and Willis Johnson, 55, according to a dispatch received here tonight. It is alleged that Johnson shot and killed Collins and that the latter's son, Fred, shortly afterward killed Johnson. Young Collins was arrested.

THE 4 SAVED SAVED CASE

Dr. B. N. Alsworth, physician, Purcell, Miss., gives interesting details of the cyclone that devastated that section. We quote: I suppose you saw in the papers that we had "relieve" our little town about off the earth. Thank Providence my family and self came out alive, but my drug store was swept to the winds. We are picking up slowly. I found four bottles Fulton's Renal Compound unbroken and gave them to a lady whom the other physician had given up (Bright's Disease). She came to me as soon as she heard that I had returned to practice. I put her on the Renal Compound and she is now nearly well. But I need more. Send me two dozen. In haste, "B. N. ALSWORTH, M. D."

OLD ASSOCIATE OF FATHER SORIN DIES

Thomas E. A. Byerley, Pioneer of St. Joseph County and Assistant Builder of Little Log Church at Notre Dame.

In the death of Thomas E. A. Byerley of Roselawn on the Niles road Sunday evening, South Bend and St. Joseph county lost one of its oldest settlers, one associated with the pioneers of the county who labored during the days of the red men when this section of the state was a wilderness. One of the closest associates of Mr. Byerley during his early days in this country was the Very Reverend Edward Sorin, founder of the University of Notre Dame.

Mr. Byerley's death follows close on that of his brother-in-law, the late Patrick O'Brien, Mrs. O'Brien being the only surviving sister of Mr. Byerley. Mr. Byerley was one of the original company of men led by Father Sorin who built the first log church at Notre Dame back in 1842. Father Sorin, another Notre Dame pioneer, was also one of the little band of courageous men who introduced the first marks of civilization to St. Joseph county. When but 17 years of age Mr. Byerley accompanied Father Sorin to Dowagiac, Mich., an Indian settlement where he stood sponsor for a number of Indian children baptized by Father Sorin.

The forests of St. Joseph and Marshall counties were the hunting grounds of Mr. Byerley. In company with Peter Navarre, another pioneer of the county, he made long trips hunting game across the old Indian trails.

Born in Austria. Mr. Byerley was born in Trieste, Austria, in 1828, being 84 years of age. He was the son of Mr. and Mrs. Samuel Byerley, the latter a rich English ship merchant, who came to America in 1822 bringing with him his son Thomas. On Father Sorin's arrival in New York in 1841 Mr. Byerley resided in that city and there made the acquaintance of the adventurous missionary, receiving and entertaining him. Mr. Byerley at that time had recently become a convert to the Catholic church, while Mrs. Byerley had always been a Catholic. By a happy coincidence Mr. and Mrs. Byerley found themselves in the infant town of South Bend and close neighbors of the priest and his associates. Mr. Byerley disposed of his business in the east and brought the remains of his fortune to invest in this new country. They became the continued and life long friends and assistants of the community of Notre Dame.

The son Thomas received his education at Poughkeepsie, N. Y., and at Emmitsburg, Md. In 1854 he went from St. Joseph county to Chicago where he was employed as a book-keeper for two years. In 1860 he made the overland journey to Pike's Peak and in 1861 made the overland trip to Kansas. Since 1861 South Bend has been his home.

Was Twice Married. Mr. Byerley was twice married. In 1854 he was married to Miss Margaret Garrett of Chicago, who only survived a little over a year. On Feb. 4, 1856, he was married to Miss Anna Rooney of New York, who died four years ago. Nine children were born of whom two are living. They are Mrs. George Foster of S. St. Joseph st. and Samuel Byerley of Ridgewood, N. J. One of the deceased children, Thomas Byerley, jr., who died six years ago was for many years connected with the shipping interests of South Bend. Six children died in their infancy.

For many years Mr. Byerley was a member of Notre Dame church. During his residence in South Bend he was a member of St. Patrick's church. During the last few years he returned to the original parish of Notre Dame.

In his earlier days Mr. Byerley was a farmer and fruit grower. Retiring from farming he devoted his later years to the cultivation of flowers. During the past few years he has been living with his grandchildren, Mary and Philip Byerley.

WALKERTON. Miss Helen Rensberger, who has been attending school at Valparaiso, has returned home for few weeks' vacation.

Vivian Fitzgerald left this week for Saginaw, Mich., where he will be employed in a cut glass factory.

E. Shirley was in South Bend the latter part of the week.

George Glasenor, who has spent a three weeks' vacation in Iowa has returned home.

Mrs. Frank Savage of Babcock, Ind., is visiting relatives here.

The local ball team will play a game with a South Bend team Saturday, Aug. 23.

N. E. Bailey, who is employed in South Chicago, was here with his family Sunday.

Mrs. W. D. Decker and daughter, Ruth, spent the week with Mr. and Mrs. D. Kellor.

Frank Ream, who has been employed in Saginaw, has accepted a position in the local cut glass factory.

Miss Gail McDonald of Indianapolis is visiting her sisters, Mrs. M. DeNaut, Mrs. Will Frank of Plymouth, visited relatives here the latter part of the week.

Miss Elsie Glanders is visiting friends in Laporte.

IDEA OF UNIFORM LAWS IS GROWING

Wide Interest Being Manifested in Coming Conference at Montreal, Aug. 26—A. B. A. Also to Meet.

NEW YORK, Aug. 18.—Men of the United States are to meet in Montreal, Can., late this month and early next, in two legal conferences of great importance. The commissioners on uniform state laws will open a conference Aug. 26 and continue meeting through the week. The American Bar association will meet the first week in September. The reason for holding both of these meetings in Canada this year is to have them become a part of a series of celebrations which are being held by the two great English speaking nations to commemorate the centenary of peace which has existed between the United States and Great Britain since the signing of the treaty of Ghent, early in 1814, which closed the war of 1812. Lord Haldane, lord high chancellor of England, is coming to address the bar association meeting and the United States will be represented in addresses by ex-Pres. Taft and Chief Justice White.

Greater Interest in Uniform Laws. The conference on uniform laws preceding the bar association meeting is attracting more attention than has ever been the case since such conferences began in 1890. The necessity of greater harmony in the laws of the various states of the Union is one that has been deeply studied for years by many of the most eminent jurists in the country. The meetings on uniform state laws did not attract much attention the first ten years of their existence, but in the last five years a widespread interest has been shown.

Charles Thaddeus Terry, a practicing lawyer in New York city and a professor in Columbia university law school, who last year was elected president of the conference, tells in an interview in the Times the purposes and progress of the uniform law movement.

"If we are to be and to remain a nation," said he, "the rights of citizens must be clear and uniform throughout the various sections of this country, so far as those rights are of an interstate nature. Either this, or our system of government is a failure."

However, Mr. Terry, like other earnest workers for uniform laws, is opposed to bringing about such harmony through a great centralization of power in the federal government and vast extension of its functions. He advocates uniformity of state laws as the only antidote to a dangerous centralization of government.

FOR MAYOR

DIXON W. PLACE FOR "A Greater and Better South Bend"

Believing that the above motto represents the sentiment of thousands of voters of South Bend, and fully realizing the importance of making no mistake in our nomination for Mayor on the Citizens' ticket, I briefly submit to you for your careful consideration a few of the arguments used by my friends in trying to induce me to stand for the nomination.

First, that I was not a politician, not having taken any active part in politics for over 20 years. I have no political enemies to punish, or friends to reward. I have been and am now a Democrat on State and National Issues, but do not endorse the wide open policy as adopted by the leaders of my party in our City. I have not withdrawn from my Party and thus offended a large per cent of its membership. I am sure that thousands of Democrats feel as I do about the acts of our Party and will vote for me if I am given this nomination. I am not interested in any line of business that I can use my position as Mayor to exploit. Will not be interested in extending streets and sewers to enhance values, only as the same may be a benefit to our city and necessary for the public good.

If, after considering the above facts, the people deem it wise to give me the nomination, I shall take pleasure, if elected, in giving our city an absolutely Non-partisan administration.

This is the opportune time to redeem our fair city from what is known as the wide open policy, and I urge the people to rally to the cause. It is not possible for me to see all the voters before the primary. Council together and be sure to make no mistake in your selection of the candidate.

Very truly yours, DIXON W. PLACE.
