HUERTA HAS BUT FEW MORE HOURS TO MEET DEMANDS

Joint Session of Two Houses Called When Pres. Wilson Reads His Message on the Mexican Troubles.

DEPARTURE OF LIND BRINGS OUT REQUEST

Mexican Head is Given Twenty-four Hours in Which to Make Reply—Power of Ruler is Waning Rapidly.

WASHINGTON, Aug. 27.—The dilatory attitude of the Huerta government Tuesday gave administration officials hope that some concessions might be made to the American proposals for peace in Mexico, but indications pointed to a final ending of the negotiations Wednesday when Pres. Wilson is scheduled to read his message to both houses of congress, defining the policy which he thinks the United States should pursue toward its southern neighbor.

A 24 hour postponement of the presentation of the message which was to have been read Tuesday, was agreed to after a joint request from Frederico Gamboa, Mexico foreign minister, and John Lind, Pres. Wilson's personal representative in Mexico. It followed repeated efforts on the part of the Huerta officials to have the reading of the document deferred indefinitely. Mr. Lind left the Mexican capital early Tuesday for Vera Cruz, however, with the understanding that the United States would announce its policy Wednesday unless the Huerta government receded.

Mr. Lind had made certain supplementary suggestions to Senor Gamboa, the nature of which was not divulged, but administration officials declared these constituted no departure from the fundamentals of the American note. The original proposals were officially announced as follows: Original Proposals. Cessation of hostilities and a definite armistice. An early and free election. Huerta to bind himself not to be a candidate. Agreement by all parties to abide by the results of the election. Mr. Lind informed Senor Gamboa that he would stop in Vera Cruz and could be reached there in case there should be any reply to his last suggestions. For several days Gamboa and Lind have been fencing, the former attempting to secure a new basis of negotiations and the latter steadfastly declaring that under no circumstances would the United States yield any of its points or agree to any considerable prolongation of the negotiations unless Huerta would agree to reply to the American proposals. Officials disclaimed that Mr. Lind had gone to Vera Cruz to avoid any embarrassment in the Mexican capital, following the information there of Pres. Wilson's message.

It was said that Mr. Lind, having practically concluded his mission, went to Vera Cruz chiefly to impress upon the Huerta government and the course Wednesday noon was positively the last moment the United States would wait before proclaiming to the world its position it has taken toward the Huerta government and the course which it is ready to pursue for years necessary to uphold the principle of orderly and constitutional government in Latin America.

With the nature of the four proposals of the United States admitted, official discussion centered chiefly on the absence of any demand for the immediate retirement of Huerta, which had generally been supposed to be part of the American note. It was suggested by officials however, that this government could not logically ask Huerta to resign a position which it never recognized his as legally holding.

So far as the United States is concerned, Huerta is not the constitutionally chosen president of Mexico because of the irregularities attending his assumption of office. Not only was there no quorum in the Mexican congress when Madero's resignation was presented, according to official reports here, but the resignation was accomplished by duress.

Based on His Promise. The Washington government's insistence that Huerta eliminate himself from the presidential race if an election is held is based upon his own promise contained in official reports that he would not be a candidate. It is not conceded by officials here that a fair election could be held in Mexico with Huerta in control of the electoral machinery and underlying the American proposals has been the intimation that the Mexican congress by its constitutional right should soon designate a provisional president to conduct a free election.

Officials were not sanguine Tuesday bringing things to a definite point through the Lind negotiations, information, official and unofficial, indicates to them that the Huert government cannot last much longer. With foreign governments supporting the American policy, there is little hope, according to the official view here, for the Huerta government to obtain any funds abroad to pay its army or to meet running expenses.

The United States will preserve a policy of non-interference and non-recognition while developments take their course. Officials are emphatic however, in declaring they will insist on proper protection of foreigners and their interests, though they will urge foreigners to leave the trouble zone. This was a day of keen and unusual tension in official circles. The postponement of the message reading, with the possibility that an eleventh hour concession might be made developed a general feeling of anxiety for news from the Mexican capital. The only messages from Mr. Lind received up to a late hour Tuesday night, however, merely reported his departure for Vera Cruz.

President Wilson and his family attended a stock theater play, but the president kept in touch with the white house.

Secy. Bryan spent the evening at his home and no announcements of the situation were made at any of the government departments.

LIND GETS AND SENDS ANOTHER NOTE TO GAMBOA

No Change in the Situation is Expected to Result From the Further Exchange of Views on Subject.

MEXICO CITY, Aug. 27.—Pres. Wilson's personal representative, John Lind and Frederico Gamboa, the Mexican minister of foreign affairs, are again exchanging notes on the subject of the relations between the respective governments, notwithstanding that Mr. Lind has already left the capital and that Pres. Wilson's other agent, Wm. Bayard Hale, has planned to leave Wednesday.

Senor Gamboa's note, which he says is in reply to one he received from the American envoy, was sent to Mr. Lind at Vera Cruz Tuesday night. The Mexican foreign minister is reticent as to the character of the exchanges, but unofficially it is stated it will not alter the situation.

That Mr. Lind left the capital perhaps a day or two before the Huerta government wanted him to, is indicated by the arrival here of W. W. Canada, consul at Vera Cruz, on orders from the state department to meet and accompany Mr. Lind to Vera Cruz. The envoy had already left however, when Consul Canada reached Mexico City.

Refuses Private Car. Mr. Lind made the trip to Vera Cruz in an ordinary day coach, in the absence of the train from the private car which had been proffered by Pres. Huerta. Senor Gamboa was told that the officials at Washington appeared to believe that Mr. Lind's return to the Mexican capital was not improbable. Mr. Lind will be entirely welcome in Mexico, should he wish to return," replied the minister.

Though somewhat reassured by the press dispatches from Washington, indicating that the administration is still strongly opposed to intervention, there still prevails here intense anxiety on the part of the foreign residents as well as Mexicans. Trains for Vera Cruz Tuesday carried away many Americans and many more have planned to go Wednesday.

Suffragets to Be Bull Moosers

Republicans and Democrats Who Voted for Suffrage in Illinois Are Chagrined Over Revelation.

CHICAGO, Aug. 27.—Republican and democratic leaders who helped to get woman's suffrage through in Illinois expressed chagrin Wednesday when they learned that the three women who conducted the suffrage lobby at Springfield will help celebrate the anniversary of the founding of the progressive party.

Mrs. Grace Whittrout, Mrs. Antoinette Funk, the three successful lobbyists are on the program for the celebration and leaders predicting that 25,000 women will enroll as progressives at the picnic.

Old party leaders admit that the joke is on them. During the suffrage fight opponents of the bill argued that the three women lobbyists were progressives at that divorce and republicans should combine to defeat the measure. Suffrage advocates, however, flatly denied this, asserting that the women were allied with no party.

GAMINETTI READY TO BE CONVICTED BUT WON'T GIVE UP

Admits He Wronged Girl, But Says He Isn't White Slaver —Judge Scores Jurors Who Criticized Law.

SAN FRANCISCO, Cal., Aug. 27.—Though he will not plead guilty as rumored, Drew Caminetti expects to be convicted.

"But I am going to fight being branded a white slaver," he continued. "I sinned, it is true, but so have many others. I was caught. I didn't persuade Miss Norris to go to Reno for immoral purposes. She fled from Sacramento to escape scandal. She was a good girl. I wronged her, but I am not a white slaver."

Judge Van Leer, in the examination of jurors has scored two men who declared themselves prejudiced against the Mann federal white slave act on the ground that it was an interference with "personal liberty."

"The act does not relate to personal liberty at all except as to criminal acts," said the judge sternly. "There is no such thing as personal liberty to commit crime. The sooner people find this out the better." The Caminetti jury seemed likely to be dominated by millionaires. The first four jurors chosen are members of exclusive San Francisco and New York clubs, social leaders and men of affairs. They declared they believe in rigid enforcement of the Mann act, however.

The following jurors had been accepted when court opened: F. J. Carolyn, millionaire clubman of Burlingame and Newport, married. Fred S. Moody, head of the Moody Estate Realty corporation, married. E. C. Bradley, former general manager of the Pacific Telephone & Telegraph Co., married. Asa L. White, lumber capitalist, married. William Adams, manufacturer, married.

ABANDON WRIT TO BRING THAW IN COURT TODAY

Attorneys For Defendant Make Move Which They Claim Will Force Client to Remain in Jail for Sometime.

SHERBROOKE, Que., Aug. 27.—The New York state forces and associated counsel fighting for the return of Harry Thaw to Matteawan, announced early today that, in their opinion, the move of the defense to abandon the writ of habeas corpus could not be done without formal permission of the court and that in any event, Thaw would be forced into court even if the commitment on which he is held had to be quashed.

The announcement was made by Franklin Kennedy, deputy attorney general, returned from Ottawa and Montreal late. If the state forces can make good their threat, Thaw may be discharged today and turned over to the immigration authorities for deportation before night.

SHERBROOKE, Que., Aug. 27.—Harry K. Thaw's Canadian attorneys late Tuesday withdrew the writ of habeas corpus obtained last week in his behalf and the fugitive from Matteawan will not be arraigned in the superior court Wednesday morning as had been expected. The withdrawal of the writ may prolong the proceedings indefinitely.

Rumors had been bandied about all day that the writ might be withdrawn but it was not until Tuesday evening that the move was filed with the clerk of the court. At the same time a telegram was sent to Judge Arthur Glovensky at Montreal, who granted the writ, that such was counsel's desire. He was due here Wednesday to hear arguments on the application.

The next move in the Thaw case is now distinctly up to those desiring his deportation. Under the present commitment he might remain in the Sherbrooke jail indefinitely, declining to have a hearing before a district magistrate, or demanding a jury trial before the King's bench, criminal side, which does not sit until October. Briefly, Thaw's lawyers have, declining to let him pace his cell, meanwhile perfecting plans to defeat attempts to put him across the Canadian border.

"It is beyond me," said Wm. Travers Jerome. "The fine points of Canadian law involved are such that I would not feel justified in even guessing at the outcome. We have to get him in the end but this tangled mess should be straightened out first."

District Attorney Conger of Dutchess county, N. Y., was equally puzzled and reticent. Further to complicate matters counsel representing the state of New York are not sure that the commitment under which Thaw has chosen to remain in jail contains charges of violating any of the Dominion's laws. It is that of being a "fugitive from the Matteawan penitentiary, where he was confined on a criminal charge for life." Hector Terret, K. C., returned from New York state, said Tuesday night that he regarded the withdrawal of the writ on Thaw's behalf as tacit admission by his lawyers that the commitment was defective and to obtain a charge on which Thaw could be brought into court. "Then we might get out another commitment charging some other offense," he added. "We could bring him into court on that, surely. They would still remain, however, Thaw's right to choose trial either at once or before the King's bench is another matter."

Mr. Jerome and District Attorney Conger were at dinner when Thaw's counsel made known their decision. They had been hoping, however, to draw Thaw by duty, that Wednesday would see a sweeping away of some of the legal cobwebs and the beginning of a fight in the open, prefacing a hearing before the immigration authorities and Thaw's probable deportation to Vermont.

The news spread quickly through the hotel corridors. Sheriff Frank of Dutchess county, who is particularly anxious to get home expressed his great disgust. The handcuffs and leg irons he brought with him have proved only a burden and he has been roaming about down for a week waiting for something to turn up.

Thaw's lawyers, headed by J. N. Greenshield, K. C. of Montreal, were grimly jubilant. They had conferred all afternoon before reaching a decision and were mightily pleased at the apparent enigma they have created for the opposition. Thaw himself could not be seen, because of a new rule of the sheriff. Except when accompanied by some of his counsel, no one was to be permitted to enter his cell.

Mr. Jerome was asked Tuesday night if he had anything of particular interest to say to Americans with reference to the Thaw case, now that he was back in the country. He learned something of the Canadian attitude toward White's slayer.

"No, but I have something I'd like to say to the people of Canada," he exclaimed. "They seem to regard this man as a martyr. No one is persecuting him; no one wants him. New York state is trying to get Thaw back, not because New York wants Thaw back because the bad effect his freedom would have on the people. If Thaw were allowed to remain free everyone would say, 'Ha, the Thaw millions free him.' Already there are saying the Thaw millions got him out of Matteawan, and generally we hear the remark, 'A rich man can do anything, but what chance has a poor man got?'"

"Thaw's being allowed to go free would have a demoralizing effect on the whole country. Thaw, free would be a menace. That is why New York state wants Thaw."
