

TWO THOUSAND BILLION DOLLARS' WORTH OF COAL AWAITING DEVELOPMENT NORTH DAKOTA AND MONTANA; WILL UNCLE SAM SHOW THE WAY?

BY W. H. ALBURN.

Staff Correspondence.

WILLISTON, N. D., Aug. 27.—While we are eagerly looking forward to the government development of Alaska's vast coal deposits, it's mighty interesting as well as surprising to take a look at the coal beds in our own northwest which Uncle Sam has already started to develop.

This government owned and operated a coal mine at Williston that is an eye-opener. It reveals amazing possibilities for cheap fuel and power, and unexpected wealth for a great section that has yet thought little of mining and manufacture.

Uncle Sam is pecking at a nine-foot vein of lignite coal, and using it to run his irrigation project, incidentally selling surplus power to the city of Williston.

This particular mining property of Uncle Sam's is 1,000 acres in extent. The worked vein is the middle one of three veins, each from eight to 10 feet thick, all easily workable. And in this 1,000 acres Uncle Sam figures that he has enough coal to supply all possible needs of his irrigation project for 1,000 years!

That's only the beginning of big figures. For western North Dakota has 22,000 square miles of this same lignite coal. That's over 20,000,000 acres. Just compare that with the measly little patch that Uncle Sam says will supply him for 1,000 years.

And over the line, in Montana, there are 24,000 square miles more of the same deposits.

Prof. E. J. Babcock, dean of the North Dakota College of Mining and Engineering, estimates that his state can produce 500,000,000,000 (five hundred BILLION) tons of lignite, which, at $2 a ton, would be worth $1,000,000,000,000 (A THOUSAND BILLION DOLLARS). And Montana could do as well.

Most of the coal is in private ownership, but the government still retains large holdings.

This vast wealth has hardly been touched. The section is sparsely settled with cattle and sheep ranchers and dry farmers. And the peculiar quality of the coal has made it difficult to handle.

Lignite is a brownish-black coal, lighter in weight than bituminous, with less fuel value. When mined it has, roughly one-third water, one-third fixed carbon and one-third gas, not counting its eight or 10 percent of ashes. The water quickly evaporates, then the coal crumbles to slack. So it has been mined only for local consumption. The gas is usually lost in burning.

The problem here is, to get the total fuel value from the coal, and to make it available for shipment any distance.

Uncle Sam does the former very well. In his power plant boiler room he burns all of the gas (which others lose) by a scientific air-blast process. He produces power cheaply, and can do it more and more cheaply, as he uses his plant to fuller capacity.

Uncle Sam doesn't ship coal. But he transmits power. As a side issue, the plant is now furnishing 35,000 kilowatt hours of electricity a month to this city, at 1-2 cents per k. w. h. The city, retailing it at its old prices, is making a profit, and rates will go much lower.

Here's a striking example of the way city and nation may cooperate to develop agriculture and industry. Uncle Sam MIGHT supply power to many communities.

But how shall these vast coal deposits be made available for distant fuel users?

Prof. Babcock has shown the way. He takes a ton of lignite and separates the gas from the coal, getting 11,000 cubic feet of excellent gas and half a ton of "briquets."

These briquets have almost the fuel value of anthracite coal, and are easier to ship and use.

The process increases the value of the raw coal and makes it cheaply marketable in a great region that imports most of its fuel. And yet not one private operator has seized the opportunity.

Many residents are hoping that Uncle Sam will do some more developing right here in the northwest.

Here's a sample North Dakota lignite vein. The man is standing in a test coal pit in Uncle Sam's mine. The deposit is far higher than his head, and it's the upper one of three such veins, which extend horizontally for many miles.

PHILIPPINES ARE AHEAD OF THE U. S. Practical and Applied Hygiene is Much Farther Advanced in Islands, Says Speaker at Buffalo Meeting.

BUFFALO, N. Y., Aug. 27.—Practical and applied hygiene is much farther advanced in the Philippines than in the United States, according to Dr. Allan J. McLaughlin, surgeon of the United States public health service, who was one of the speakers at Tuesday's sessions of the Fourth International Congress on School Hygiene.

"In this country," said Dr. McLaughlin, "we are prone to overlook the enormous influence of school children upon the hygiene of the home. The children of poor, ill-educated parents are often the intermediary through which the simple gospel of hygiene and disease prevention reaches the parents. In the Philippines in many instances, it is only because of the children that the parents carry out the instruction of the health officer."

Open schools and open school rooms was the general topic of the day and it was practically the unanimous opinion of the delegates that children in rooms with windows wide open, even during the winter months, are immeasurably more healthful and make more rapid progress in their studies than under other conditions.

The delegates visited Niagara Falls in the afternoon.

WASHINGTON, Aug. 27.—Republican senators and representatives at a joint conference Tuesday night chose most of the members of the republican congressional committee, which will begin work soon on the congressional campaigns. Every state was accorded one representative, the choice of the state's delegation in the senate and in the house. Six senators were among those chosen tonight. A number of states were not ready to report and will announce selections later.

The full committee probably will meet within a fortnight and elect a chairman and other officers and perhaps consider campaign policies.

"MIKE FULA" NOT AS GOOD AS BASEBALL. SAN FRANCISCO, Aug. 27.—Franklin Dallat, who is the 11 year old son of an Iroquois hunter of northern Luzon, in the Philippines, arrived here on the Str. China in the care of Rev. E. A. Sibley, an Episcopal missionary, who has spent five years among the Luzon tribesmen and is educating the boy.

The Filipino lad and his guardian were singled out by interviewers when the vessel docked and the young man promptly remarked that he knew about the United States. He understood baseball, he said, though he called it "mika fula."

"So you know baseball?" one questioner remarked. "What do you call the umpire?"

"Tell him," Mr. Sibley prompted, when the youngster hesitated.

"Thief sometimes, but robber mostly," the boy answered.

MEN BREAK WINDOW AND STEAL JEWELRY. Levin's Pawn Shop is Robbed of Goods Valued at $150 at Early Hour Tuesday.

ELKHART, Ind., Aug. 27.—Two thieves smashed a plate glass in Jacob Levin's pawn shop at No. 434 S. Main st. in the heart of the business district at an early hour Tuesday morning, secured jewelry, estimated to be worth $150, and made good their escape. The glass was broken with a large stone.

Four gold bracelets, two trays, one containing a dozen and the other a half dozen rings; three watch chains and a number of lockets and stickpins were taken. Mr. Levin is unable to say just how many of the lockets and stickpins are missing.

Thomas Gidley was arrested in the Lake Shore yards at 6 o'clock by Officer Williams on suspicion, but after an investigation Chief Northrop is of opinion he is not the guilty man.

HIGH LIFE in Japan

The fine taste dominates

Genuine quality—is not gauged by the volume of production, by color of glass in the bottle, or by extravagant claims of superiority. Quality is indicated by the satisfaction realized in the taste of the finished product.

HIGH LIFE Beer, by virtue of the liberal use of fine materials, excellent brewing and proper aging in wood—is acknowledged to be the "finest tasting beer ever produced." Convince yourself—order a case today.

We use light bottles exclusively for this high grade beer—common beer comes in dark bottles

THE BROWN BOTTLE BUGABOO

Chicago, November 12, 1912

To our Clients: Please take note that we have recently given our opinion to one of our clients as to the relative merits of the white and the brown bottle for beer, as follows: "Referring to your recent request for our opinion on the relative merits of the white and the brown bottle for beer, we wish to say that the ONLY advantage of the brown bottle over the light bottle consists in the protection it affords against the influence of light WHERE BEERS ARE NOT OF SUCH QUALITY AS TO BE IMMUNE tained A HIGH DEGREE OF STABILITY, influence as prolonged chilling and prolonged storage at summer temperature, they also become less sensitive to the influence of light, so that with the usual precautions no bad effect need be feared. "FOR SUCH BEERS THE LIGHT BOTTLE IS PREFERABLY EMPLOYED because it can more readily be inspected before filling to insure thorough cleanliness, and because the finished package reveals requirements of the consumer as to color, clarity and freedom from sedimentation. OPEN SEASON FOR TYPHOID IS HERE

Warnings to Various Health Departments Issued by Dr. J. N. Hurty of the State Board of Health.

Typoid fever is more prevalent during September than in any month of the year and the state board of health is calling upon the health officers of cities, towns and counties to exercise all possible vigilance to prevent and to stop the spread of the disease and has sent to each the following list of instructions:

"Notify every physician in your jurisdiction to inform you at once when he diagnoses a case of typhoid fever.

"Investigate the origin of every case as to water and milk supply and possible contact with persons suffering from typhoid, and don't be satisfied until you have all the facts.

"Notify every milk man not to take up milk bottles from a house where there is a typhoid case and you yourself see that after the patient is well the bottles are sterilized.

"Investigate the water and milk supplies before the fever breaks out, not after a case is developed and a focus of infection established in the community.

"Tell your people that typhoid fever can only be transmitted by eating, or drinking the typhoid bacilli present in the excrement of a typhoid patient, that it is not due to bad drainage, swamps, stagnant pools or bad food."

"The last three epidemics the state board of health has investigated have all been spread through the milk supply, and originated in a case of typhoid at the dairy.

"Use of typhoid vaccine as a simple, safe, complete prevention. "Notify the state board of health the moment you fear the spread of typhoid beyond a single family and make use of the laboratories to prevent and control epidemics.

"Let your newspapers, officials and citizens know that every case of typhoid is a black mark against the sanitary conditions of the community, and costs more money than fire or flood.

"Yours very truly, J. N. HURTY, Secretary, State Board of Health."
