

CONSERVATORY OPENS EIGHTH YEAR IN SO. BEND

Many New Departments and Teachers Added to School of Music—Chautauqua Cellist to Teach.

Monday the South Bend Conservatory of Music embarks upon its eighth year of existence as an institution of musical learning. From a very small beginning the school has steadily advanced until it is now recognized as one of the leading musical schools in the country outside the large cities and college musical centers. Its permanency has thus been adequately established. The corps of instructors has remained in the main practically unchanged and has been added to or changed as demands for more teachers commanded or in filling places of two or three during that time who have found work elsewhere.

New Piano Department.
Some new departments are announced for this year, one of the most important being the establishment of a distinct piano department for beginners. Arrangements have been completed whereby Miss Ethel M. Flora, of Indianapolis will arrive this week to introduce the "Dunning System of Improved Music Study for Beginners," she holding a diploma and being authorized by Mrs. Dunning, the originator of the system to teach the principles. Mrs. Dunning is a pupil of Fraulein Prentner and Leschitzky, the renowned Vienna instructors.

Other additions to the faculty in the regular piano instruction will be Max Miranda, Miss Helen Guilfoyle, Miss Elizabeth Windie and Miss Olive Culp. Miss Guilfoyle is the daughter of D. L. Guilfoyle, W. LaSalle av. She graduated from the musical department of St. Mary's academy, class of 1911, in piano and has studied with Max Vaid in piano and with Harold Harder in organ at the conservatory, and during last year with Rudolph Reuter, in piano at the Conservatory Musical college.

Miss Elizabeth Windie has a 1913 teachers' certificate pupil under Mr. Wald. Miss Olive Culp has done her advanced piano work with Louis Elbel. Both these young ladies will take beginners.

Miranda Joins Faculty.
Max Miranda, since last March organist at St. Paul's M. E. Memorial church, joins the faculty of the piano and organ departments. He will also be the head of the theory, harmony and composition, and music history work. Mr. Miranda is a graduate of Northwestern university, Evanston, Ill., College of Liberal Arts, class of '09, with degree of bachelor of arts. He had three years' special work in Northwestern School of Music; pipe organ with Dean J. C. Lutkin, piano and composition with Prof. Arne Oldberg; musical history, complete three years' course with Victor Garwood, harmony, theory form and analysis, church and choir music with Dean Lutkin, harmony and ear-training with William A. White and voice culture with Prof. G. A. Grant-Schaefer.

In the dramatic department, Miss Marie Boles, late graduate of the Connock School of Oratory, Northwestern university, has been added. Miss Boles had previously to going to Northwestern studied for several years with the dramatic teachers of the conservatory here and had developed a fine reputation as a reader. At Northwestern she was privileged to be with Dr. Connock, personally. Besides coaching in reading, oratory and public speaking, Miss Boles will give class work in physical culture and fancy dancing. She will be one of the instructors of the branch studio of the conservatory being established at 215 E. Third st. Mishawaka.

If the demand is found to be great enough a department of cello will be added under Hans Dressel, who is located in Chicago, following the close of the Chautauqua season. Herr Dressel was the cellist with the Herzogen-Marx company. Private lessons on the cello and ensemble classes with pianists and violinists will be formed to play trios, duos, sonatas, etc.

To Teach Italian.
A department of Italian language will also be established under instruction of Benedetto Pasquini, LL. D., of Notre Dame university faculty. Mr. Pasquini was born in Bologna, Italy, and procured his higher education at the Royal Lyceum, Perugia, and the Royal University of Rome, from the latter attaining the degree of doctor of law. He has been but a short time in this country, coming directly to Notre Dame, but speaks English very well. He has served in the Italian army as lieutenant.

Mr. Wald will continue as head of the piano department, assisted by Miss Dora Hershenow, who will also continue with her teaching of harmony as well as piano, and Miss Valeria Bon Durant, the same as heretofore. Hal G. Van Aiken, who has been summering at his farm near Hudson, Mich., will return for work this week on Friday morning and enter with much new zeal into the year's work. He will conduct the conservatory orchestra and also violin ensemble classes which proved so popular last year.

In the vocal department, assisting Mr. Griffith, the director, will be Mr. Hunt, as last year and Miss Hazel Harris, added this year for some of the beginning work. Miss Harris graduated in the class of 1910, under Mr. Griffith and has since done some splendid work with Mrs. Genevieve Clark Wilson, of Chicago. Miss Jane Elizabeth White continuing in the dramatic department, completes the faculty list.

A most attractive course of artists' concerts has been arranged which will be announced soon. It will be of the highest class but popular enough in character to appeal to all who love music.

CAMINETTI BELIEVES HE'LL ESCAPE PENALTY

SAN FRANCISCO, Sept. 8.—F. Drew Caminetti believes he will escape the penalty of the Mann white slave law under which he and Maury I. Diggs were convicted in the United States district court. "I believe we shall have no trouble in getting this verdict reversed by the U. S. court of appeals," he said. "The only thing the jurors could find me guilty of was in leaving for Reno with Lola Novis. I was never guilty of no offense if I had not crossed the state line with her. It would seem that I am made a victim of this Mann law because of a matter of geography."

The story said to have been uncovered by men assigned to investigate Hayden's record as a result of his efforts to secure the appointment is as follows: Hayden loved secretly, married secretly, Miss Margaret O'Toole, an accomplished young woman, a fit mate for him, and
