MAKING THE OLD NAG HOP SOME!

OUR FELLER CITIZENS

By HI SIBLEY

Arabella has consented to have her identity revealed. Arabella is just an automobile. But she is such a radical departure from any other automobile that she deserves special mention—and if you saw her you would say she deserved sympathy, too.

In the first place, Arabella is an orphan. She has a few brothers and sisters, but still she is an orphan. Soon after she was brought into the world her creators heaved a sigh like an East Indian simoon and with a whisper called out "Hello there, Cap."

Gene Miller and son went to Hudson lake Saturday to try a little fishing. The membership in the Hudson Lake Anglers' Bund is swelling with startling rapidity.

W. E. Miller watched the motorcycle races from a strategic position on his front stoop and said he thoroughly enjoyed it.

Capt. Nicor sends his regards to the C. A. Club boys from Nashville, Tenn.

Victor Jones can smoke a cigar while riding a wheel with the same easy indifference that he smokes a corn cob riding on a sulky plow on his farm south of town.

Frank Strickler, captain of No. 6 hose company, was serenely strolling down the avenue this morning when a voice called out "Hello there, Cap."

Dr. Eastman says Cap. Shuey is threatening to force a new car on him. Cap. is one of the most effective little coxers on the market.

Milburn Studebaker was riding his wheel on wet asphalt pavements today without any tire chains.

Sherman Ellison makes a daily trip out to his new boulder front bungalow on Vista av. The bungalow will have an unsurpassed view of the St. Joe river and will be completed about Dec. 1.

Robert L. B. Milliken, pioneer, recalls the first county fair he ever saw here, which was held on the site now occupied by the old Methodist church.

The second fair was held on the flats in the rear of the old Peter Studebaker place on Washington av.; the third where the No. 6 hose house now stands and the fourth on the marsh near the Sinker plant.

Sliv Lantz has announced his engagement. Complete details later.

A. R. commanders of Michigan. Theo. Noel of this village will enter the newspaper men of southern Michigan at a banquet at the Oliver hotel in South Bend Saturday afternoon and evening, October 11.

Hon. O. W. Coolidge of Niles, will give an address, taking for his address, "The Local Press and Its Influence," and this will be followed by short talks from the other guests. Mr. Noel is planning to give his guests a fine time.

Charles Cannon, who spent the summer at the Edgar Stover home, has returned to his home in South Bend, where he will spend a week and then go to Denver, Col., to make his future home.

Rev. A. W. Littrell will begin special revival service at the Baptist church Sunday, October 5. He will be assisted by Mr. and Mrs. George T. Stephens of Portland, Oregon, and Mr. and Mrs. L. A. Wegner of Chicago. Mr. Stephens formerly worked with Billy Sunday.

Mr. and Mrs. Roy Rowe have gone to housekeeping in South Bend. Mr. Rowe has employment on one of the city lines.

TO PREVENT FIRES CLEAN-UP CITY IS SET FOR OCT. 9TH

Mayor Goetz, Fire Chief Grant, Supt. of Schools Montgomery and local fire insurance agents are co-operating in a combined effort to bring the fire casualties to a minimum in accordance with the proclamation issued by Gov. Ralston to make Oct. 9 Fire Prevention day.

Gov. Ralston issued a proclamation this week setting aside Oct. 9 as Fire Prevention day, and South Bend will observe it by taking extra precautions to prevent blazes.

Mayor Goetz urges emphatically that all rubbish be removed from alleys and buildings where there is any chance of a fire starting. The day will be set aside as a fall clean-up day.

Besides taking the usual precautions Fire Chief Grant has sent out a list of regulations to the school buildings of the city and instructions have been given out by school authorities to see that all children observe them.

All of the buildings of the city have been inspected by the fire department and orders have been given to have building concerns use every precaution to prevent blazes. Chimneys and flues two of the chief sources of fire, have been ordered carefully guarded by the fire department.

Schools to Celebrate. It is probable that the schools will observe Fire Prevention day in some sort of public exercises in accordance with the desires of state superintendent of schools, Chas. A. Greathouse.

The result that will come from drills, Greathouse says, will be far reaching and permanent.

Fire drills will no doubt be given and every effort made to place the children where they will understand protecting themselves should a fire break out. In no case of the schools, schools are compelled by law to have one drill each month, and in accordance with the section making the requirements, the following rules have been prepared by the state fire marshal, W. E. Longley.

Fire drills are practiced that children should be averted and the children marched out rapidly and without confusion.

Fire drills should aim at a quick dismissal, without going for coats or hats.

Fire drills should be had frequently, but at irregular and secret times.

See that all exits open outward. See that the exit facilities are sufficient and unobstructed.

Fire drills should be free from obstruction, ice and snow. Sprinkle with ashes and sand when slippery.

Use the fire escapes frequently, both for regular dismissals and for fire drills.

Observe the fire drill rules so far as practical in the regular dismissals.

A special bell for drill signals. Be sure the signal is distinctive.

At the sound of the fire signal, all work must cease instantly. Pupils will rise and march as directed, boys leading.

SAYS SCOUT BEHIND SCHOOLS BEHIND IN ARITHMETIC

Montgomery Urges Exhaustive Survey to Determine Needs Shown By Preliminary Investigation.

South Bend school pupils are approximately one year behind the standard for the country in arithmetic, at least. This is the conclusion drawn from a report Friday on the Courtis arithmetic tests which have been given in two of the sixth grades of the city. The tests are regarded as a fair gauge of the work throughout the curriculum.

Under the supervision of Supt. Montgomery the standard tests were given in the sixth grades of the Elder and Studebaker schools, representing a fair cross-section of the city. In May and then repeated in September. A comparison of the results of the September examinations serving as a gauge of the summer school progress, showed considerable advance among those students who attended the eight weeks' session.

At a meeting of the principals at which the reports of the examinations were made, Montgomery presented a plan whereby the supervising authorities are urged to take up some line of investigation with a view to strengthening the school system. Among the subjects which were suggested are:

Medical inspection. Vocational guidance, to furnish advice to vocational students regarding occupations to be chosen and to cooperate in securing positions. Retardation of pupils, its cause and remedies.

Survey by Experts. Mr. Montgomery also pointed out ways in which the school system would be improved if suggestions resulting from an educational survey by experts are made in this city. Poor lighting and ventilating conditions in many of the buildings give the most room for improvement on the physical side of the school system. A curriculum which in some instances, is "out of date" and "not meeting the requirements of modern times" is another of the defects which needs attention, according to the superintendent.

The arithmetic tests which showed the children a whole year below the standard on six examinations, indicated the inefficiency which the superintendent pointed out, should be attacked by a systematic study.

The results obtained were entirely based on the work in the Elder school, practically all of the largest class of the nation and from these results the standard has been obtained.

A chart of the results has been made, revealing that in some branches of arithmetic sixth graders had not passed the standard for the third grade. The class as a whole attained no higher than the fifth grade standard and individuals fell even as low as the second grade standard in some branches.

The results of the September examination showed a decrease in the standard among those who did not attend the summer school, these pupils falling a full year behind the standard in the spring. The summer school pupils, except in one instance, attained a considerably higher standard as a result of their work. The exception, which was a student of the school, officials could not account for.

The chart showed the summer school pupils fell below the others in ability to perform that operation.

The greatest advance to be revealed by the results of the summer school benefits, the results of the accurate indication of those benefits, in the opinion of the superintendent.

"What an educational survey would reveal in South Bend," was the general topic of Supt. Montgomery's talk at the first meeting of the principals.

Besides "poor lighting and ventilating in many buildings," which the superintendent is convinced is the cause of much of the backwardness in these points were brought out:

That the superintendent, the principals and the various superintendents of the schools should establish a more thorough supervision of the class room work of teachers.

That more professional work, in the line of reading and study, be required of teachers during the school year and that requirements for becoming eligible to teach be raised. "The time has passed when school teaching means coming to school in the morning at 8 o'clock and leaving at 3:30," said Montgomery.

That provision be made for mentally and physically deficient children. "At present there is not a place in the city where 'sub-normal' children can be given the attention they need, our one ungraded room had to be abandoned when the teacher was required to take charge of a room of pupils who could not speak a word of English," he explained.

"The 'sub-normal' pupils should be grouped by medical inspection and given special attention by teachers specially prepared for this class," he said.

That a greater effort be made to increase the evening school results. "We ought to have at least 1,000 enrolled in this year and our added facilities," said Montgomery.

The superintendent explained that his outline of defects was not actuated by a spirit of destructive criticism, but was made for the purpose of forming a basis on which a systematic plan for increasing the efficiency could be devised.

The subjects on which he urged a comprehensive study be undertaken, such as medical inspection, retardation, etc., cannot be finished in a few months, he declared, but lasting benefit might require even more than a year to devote to the investigation.

It is probable that a decision as to whether the principals shall take up such a study and if so, along what line, will probably be made at the next general meeting.

Many Chimney Fires. According to Greenan, between May 15 and Sept. 27 of this year, there were 181 fires caused by locomotive sparks, with total losses of $557,000; 281 by chimney sparks, with a loss of $115,000. The grand total from these two causes was $672,000.
