RELIGIOUS MANIA CAUSES KILLINGS

Liverpool Youth Runs Amuck and After Murdering Three Turns the Revolver on Himself.

LIVERPOOL, Oct. 9.—In a fit of religious mania early Wednesday a youthful church worker here, William McDonald, ran amuck with a loaded revolver and killed three of his fellow church workers. He then committed suicide.

McDonald paid a round of visits to the residences of his colleagues in the church work just after midnight and shot them down in turn, afterward battering their bodies with a bludgeon.

Apparently there were no witnesses of the series of tragedies. The empty revolver and the bludgeon were clasped in McDonald's hands when his body was discovered.

The four young people were active workers for a sect known as the "Church of Humanity." One of the victims was Miss Crompton, daughter of the late Rev. Henry Crompton, former pastor of the "Church of Humanity." She was the leader of the "Liverpool Positivists" and was McDonald's religious tutor. It was in her room that the maniac committed suicide after killing his instructor.

DAKOTA IS TAKING EASY WORK OUTS

VERMILION, Oct. 9.—With the Notre Dame game on Oct. 18 in view, and no contest this week, Coach Henderson is letting the Coyotes off with easy workouts at present, in order to permit Kings, Brooks, Harvey and Ferguson to recover from severe attacks of stomach cramps. All are on the road to recovery.

A short scrimmage was held Wednesday night in which Ed Hengel played brilliantly at end and fullback. Tom Coffey, who has been working regularly at half, was tried at quarter, and Manary and Horner took Brooks and Kings' places at guard, pending their recovery.

Arrangements have been made for a special train to Sioux Falls at the time of the Denver game, Oct. 25, and it is probable that most of the student body will make the trip.

OUR FELLER CITIZENS

Donald Dushane, formerly of this city and now superintendent of schools at Madison, Ind., has written a poem entitled "The Osteopath," which has won him considerable fame.

Frank Hauck, apropos the world series score yesterday, says that "nobody can ever tell what is going to happen." And after some of the predictions made prior to the game, that seems to be painfully true.

Fred Collmer, who purchased his Oldsmobile roadster at one of the Chicago shows and drove it home, calls to mind an amusing experience during that trip which occurred just the other side of Westville. There were two cars, Collmer's machine and a touring car in which we were riding. It had been raining ever since we left Chicago and even the best roads were in a bad condition, and as we approached Westville we encountered a despicable stretch that had recently been plowed up—preparatory to "improving" it. In attempting to avoid this the touring car skidded off the road and went up in a shallow ditch with the rear wheels hard against the fence, so Collmer, following, attempted to drive straight through the mire. It was quite too much for any car, however, and he was stalled hub deep in the thick of the mess.

There was nothing to do but get a team, so we went down the road after a farmer to help us out. We found one and he hemmed and hawed a while, and said one of his horses was lame, and he had a creek in his back himself, but finally he was persuaded to hitch on and give us a lift. He did, and it was but the work of a minute to yank the two cars up to solid ground.

Then Collmer said, "Well, how much do we owe you?"

"Oh, guess five dollars will let me out even."

"Five dollars? See here, now, that's a pretty exorbitant rate for five minutes' work with a team of horses."

"Oh, guess five dollars will let me out even."

I think three dollars a good pay for that sort of a job."

"Nope, gotta have five dollars." And then he gave a lot of reasons to explain why he would be losing money if he accepted any less.

Seeing that he was obdurate, Collmer said, "Well, tell me what I'll do. You give me a receipt for the five dollars, or take the five dollars without receipt, and we'll call it square."

But the farmer shied at the thought of giving a receipt. He wanted his five dollars, and yet he didn't want to put his name on paper; evidently he thought it might get him mixed up in some kind of a tangle, because he didn't know the Collmer was, or what he might try to do. So finally he agreed to take the three dollars, and call the matter settled.

Lyle Kelly, some years ago, conducted one of the first lemonade and candy stands in Chapin park. We remember distinctly of having given him a bouquet of wild flowers (not having any other legal tender) for a chocolate drop.

Edward Campbell, U. S. N., who has cruised nearly every sea in the world, learned to swim at the old swimming hole just off Riverside drive.

Gail Harrop had a thrilling experience when he was still in knee pants and very short ones at that. He was walking with an older lad off the "Three I" railroad bridge over the St. Joe when a freight train bore down on them before they had time to reach the shore. This bridge was not designed to accommodate freight trains and pedestrians at the same time, and the boys had to crawl out on the extreme end of a narrow, swaying stringer—a very ticklish position—until the train passed. It left an impression which Gail will never forget.

Joe Cannon, son of Dr. Cannon, an instructor at Purdue university, used to take long bicycle trips when he was in high school. With a party of his friends he rode down to St. Joe on June 19, 1901, and returned the next day, but a series of punctures nearly prevented him from attending his own graduating exercises that evening.

Plans were discussed to make the meetings of the association during the winter more of a social center than they have been in the past. In taking up the social part the association will not in any way neglect the useful work the organization was created to do. The next meeting will be held Tuesday, Oct. 21 at the school house.

Wonder what upset your stomach—which portion of the food did the damnable, do you? Well, don't bother. If your stomach is in a revolt; if sour, gassy and upset, and what you just ate has fermented into stubborn lumps; head dizzy and aches; belch gases and acids and eructate undigested food; breath foul; tongue coated—just take a little Pape's Diapepsin and in five minutes you wonder what became of the indigestion and distress.

Millions of men and women today get sick because they have a big stomach. A little Diapepsin occasionally keeps this delicate organ regulated and they eat their favorite foods without fear.

If your stomach doesn't take care of your liberal limit without rebellion; if your food is a damage instead of a help, remember the quickest, surest, most harmless relief is Pape's Diapepsin, which costs only fifty cents for a large case at drug stores. It's truly wonderful—it digests food and sets things straight, so gently and easily that it is really astonishing. Please, for your sake, don't go on and on with a weak, disordered stomach; it's so unnecessary.—Adv't.

A HAPPY CHILD IN JUST A FEW HOURS

If Cross, Feverish Constipated, Give "California Syrup of Figs."

Mothers can rest easy after giving "California Syrup of Figs", because in a few hours all the clogged-up waste, sour bile and fermenting food gently moves out of the bowels, and you have a well, playful child again. Children simply will not take the time from play to empty their bowels, and they become tightly packed, liver gets sluggish and stomach disordered. When cross, feverish, restless, see if tongue is coated, then give this delicious "fruit laxative". Children love it, and it cannot cause injury. No difference what ails your little one—if full of cold, or a sore throat, diarrhoea, stomach-ache, bad breath, remember, a gentle "inside cleansing" should always be the first treatment given. Full directions for babies, children of all ages and grown-ups are printed on each bottle. Beware of counterfeit fig syrups. Ask your druggist for a 50-cent bottle of "California Syrup of Figs", then look carefully and see that it is made by the "California Fig Syrup Company." We make no smaller size. Hand back with contempt any other fig syrup.—Adv't.
