

CONTESTS TODAY HAVE BEARING ON FOOTBALL TITLE

The Dartmouth-Carlisle Game Rivals Yale-Princeton Battle in Interest—Penn to Uphold Honor of East at Michigan.

NEW YORK, Nov. 15.—Football games which will have a decided bearing on the final ranking of eastern college eleven for the season are on Saturday in the gridiron world along the Atlantic coast. The battles also will sound taps for several teams. This is particularly true of both Princeton and Yale, while not called upon to be old Eli's guest in the ceremonies that will mark the passing of this famous football arena.

Tigers' Record Better.

That the orange and black has reasonable grounds for hopes of victory is shown by the record made by the team this autumn. Princeton has triumphed in every game except those against Dartmouth and Harvard, and maddly the two strongest eleven in the east. The Tiger has rolled up 178 points to Yale's 118 and defeated Holy Cross, a mutual opponent, 54 to nothing, against Yale's 10 to nothing. Yale, while not called upon to face such formidable opponents, has been defeated by Colgate 16 to 6 and held scoreless by Maine and Washington and Jefferson.

While the Yale attack appears weaker than that of the Tigers, her opponents have found it hard to penetrate the Eli line for a score. Colgate's 16 points mark the only successful change, while both Dartmouth and Princeton, there is no denying that from a sectional championship standpoint Bucknell scored touchdowns on Princeton, a feat, however, beyond the ability of Harvard on a wet field. If the late shifts and special drilling and Dartmouth, which chose their schedules with games against Yale and the Carlisle Indians respectively. While the Yale-Princeton game takes of the Yale team produce the desired result the Tigers are likely to find Yale strong on defense and possessing an attack not indicated by the records of previous games.

More Versatile Attack.

Princeton should show against the Eli's a more buffing and versatile attack and a defense that will not suffer when compared with the stand of the blues.

While Princeton and Yale are grappling at New Haven, Dartmouth and Carlisle will be engaged at the Polo grounds in this city. This game which is expected to be one of the most spectacular of the season if played upon a dry field, as seemed probable Friday night, should develop a remarkable exhibition of open football. Both the Indians and the Hanover team are extremely proficient in forward pass and trick plays, while well grounded in the fundamentals and tactics of close formation offense and defense. It is probable that the contest will be of the rapid scoring variety with advantage shifting first one way and then the other. The two teams are composed of fast, spirited, powerful charging linemen and backfield players and appear to be so evenly matched in general all round play that predictions regarding the outcome are but mere guesses.

Crimson Has Easy Game.

Harvard is not called upon to meet a particularly formidable foe in Brown and for that reason the leading crimson coaches and several of the star players will attend the Yale-Princeton game in order to secure a further line on the ability of the blues, which must be met hence at Cambridge.

One eastern team invades the west for the final inter-sectional contest of the season when Pennsylvania faces Michigan at Ann Arbor. It is the last opportunity for an eastern eleven to overstep the overwhelming victories in favor of western teams this autumn. Michigan has defeated both Syracuse and Cornell and Notre Dame has triumphed in games with the Army and Pennsylvania State. In the Quakers the Michigan combination will face a stronger team than any that has previously upheld eastern gridiron honors against the west and since Pennsylvania plays an open game similar to that in vogue at Ann Arbor the result will be awaited with interest.

Other games Saturday which promise to develop football of an interesting character include:

Army and Navy Play.

Lafayette and Cornell at Ithaca; Colgate and Syracuse at Syracuse; Williams and Amherst at Williams-town.

The Army has Villanova as its opponent, while the Navy will line up against Pennsylvania State at Annapolis. Another game which is attracting attention in the south is the University of Virginia vs. Georgetown university at Washington.

BRITISH GOLFERS SAIL.

NEW YORK, Nov. 14.—Harry Vardon and Edward Ray, British professional golfers, who, during the last three months have played matches throughout the United States have sailed for home.

WHAT ARE YOU GONNA DO WITH IT?—BY Goldberg.

GIANT ARMY MAN WANTS TO FIGHT

"Tiny" Vallencourt, Standing Six Feet Ten, Thinks He Could Stand Present Heavy-weight Scrappers on Heads.

TEXAS CITY, Tex., Nov. 15.—Down in Texas they have an army man named "Tiny" Vallencourt. He is six feet ten inches high and weighs 300 pounds. Having occasional cars of mules and horses it is frequently "Tiny's" wont to pick up as many as five bales of hay at a time and carry them to a point distant, depending largely on where the bales are to be put. Then again he is frequently annoyed by a balky mule that refuses to do his bidding and in a case like this "Tiny" picks up the mule body and soul and totes him to where the mule should have walked himself. It will be seen by this that Vallencourt is well favored of muscle and brawn and quite able to care for himself. Many are eager to vouch for his wonderful feats of strength and all are as one in agreeing that he should be quite a help to his folks when he grows up.

Wants to be Prize Fighter.

Vallencourt has recently confided to his dearest friends a secret wish to become a prizefighter. With his unusual stamina and abnormal physique Vallencourt figures that it would be an easy matter for him to rapidly put all other heavyweights under an anesthetic. Thus providing himself with the white hope belt, such fame and quite a few pesos. A little practice at the faint and counter stuff with a word or two on how to duck a lead and he would be fit to enter any ring and knock the most valiant adversary off the stool. Thus thinks Vallencourt.

There Have Been Others.

But one need not hark very far back into the faded records of antiquity to discover that there have been others with the same hunch. Everybody remembers that swarm of physical marvels that flooded the fight game when the wall went up for a home. Jeff couldn't do it, and the boys looked around with blood in their eyes for a white man big enough to retrieve the bedraggled bay leaves. The call brought out a bevy of brutes that looked able to kick elephants over. They're all gone and forgotten now, except maybe Carl Morris and he's yet to show the world much.

The dope shows that the good little man has it all over the poor big man. The big man will blink in a confused daze, while the little man is pecking him to show the world much.

Strength Alone Won't Win.

Perhaps Vallencourt will be able to learn the game and develop the speed of a wabbit. Maybe he will turn out to be the genuine thing. But if he plans to win by means of his strength alone he had better look over the records of white hopes before him.

KRAUSE TO BOOST CARR AS FEDERAL PRESIDENT

INDIANAPOLIS, Nov. 15.—When the Federal league club managers meet in Chicago, Saturday to elect a president, the candidacy of Charles C. Carr of this city, will be urged by J. Edward Krause, president of the local Federal league club.

Before leaving for Chicago Friday, President Krause said that Carr was qualified for the position in many respects. "On account of his central location," said Mr. Krause, "and the fact that he knows baseball from top to bottom and has the confidence of players as well as fans, I think he will make an ideal president for the league."

When Mr. Carr was manager of the Indianapolis American association club he won the pennant in 1908. He was manager of the Kansas City association team in 1912, but resigned before the close of last season.

GOOD FOOTBALL CARD FOR HIGH

Opponents for the second team in a football double header to be staged at Springbrook park this afternoon were switched at the eleventh hour. St. Joseph, Mich., being carded to take up against the scrubs. In place of Cassopolis. Attempts have been made for the past two days to get word from the Cassopolis school, but they were unsuccessful, and arrangements were closed with St. Joseph.

Whiteman Out of Game.

Whiteman, the star center, will not be in the line up Saturday, owing to the injury to his back while scrimmaging in preparation for the Hammond contest. Last year's pivot man, will take his place. This will put Cordier in at tackle. Akin has been suffering with a "charley horse" and was not out for the final drill Friday afternoon. He will be used today, however.

Lineups of Locals.

The seconds will send the following men to the game: Scheibhut, r. e.; McAlpine, r. t.; Egan, Sibrel, r. g.; Elbel, c.; Parks, Staples, l. g.; Hilderbrand, l. t.; Meyers, Fernandez, l. e.; Flanagan, g. b.; Bourant (Capt.), Williams, r. h. b.; Garfield, l. h. b.; Leisure, r. b.

Miller, Y. M. C. A., will referee. The first game will be called at 1:30 o'clock.

BALL PLAYERS REFUSE TO TAKE K. O. COUNT

NEW YORK, Nov. 15.—When a champion of the Queensberry rule is knocked out he is not expected to come back and ever look like the same fighter. Not so with the ball players, and especially the pitchers. Since Cy Falkenberg, the long, lean pitcher of the Cleveland club, proved that it is possible for a pitcher to come back to the big league and twist good ball after being in the minors, there has been many hurriers doing the same stunt.

WILSON TO SEE GAME.

WASHINGTON, Nov. 15.—Members of the Wilson family told their friends that they planned to see the Army-Navy football game in New York Nov. 24. The president has promised to go if he possibly can.

OLD BADE MYERS IS STILL LIVELY

DAYTON, O., Nov. 15.—They can talk all they want about these veteran players for the game; they can spend the length of career of Cy Young; dwell on the long service of George Van Haltren; and dilate on the years Jim O'Rourke has stuck in the game; but when they are figuring on these long careers they don't want to overlook the Hon. Bade Myers of Bellefontaine, O.

Not wishing to get into an argument with the former manager of the Old Soldiers no mention will be made of the date of birth of this wise baseball noodle. The fact that this date is not known also enters into consideration, but it should suffice to tell the interested that when Bade Myers was catching and playing first base for the Toledo team of 1896 he was old enough to vote, maybe he had had several votes by that time.

Well, Bade drifted along in the old Dayton club at Columbus this week in 1900, and always playing good ball on the field and at the bat. When the Western association quit the game Bade hung around the American association for a time and then branched out as a manager in the Central league, handling clubs at Ft. Wayne, Canton and later, Dayton.

Bade's League Blows Up.

At the end of the 1909 season Bade was succeeded here by Punch Knoll and drifted to Quincy, Ill., where he put in three successful seasons. Last year he was managing the Canton club of the Interstate league, and playing for best ball by Roy Montgomery, the former Zanesville manager.

There was a little reunion of former and present managers of the Dayton club at Columbus this week. Johnny New was the looking after the interests of the Vets, while Punch Knoll was representing the Evansville club. Bade Myers is not connected with any team right now and has no plans for next season, though he has had several offers. Bade is one of those wise lads, who salt their coin and it always takes a pretty liberal offer to get Bade's signature at the bottom of a contract.

At present he is representing the Sells Sporting Goods company of Canton and was kept busy during the meeting, showing his wares to ball players and club owners, who were on hand at Columbus.

SQUAD BEGINS WORK WITH SNAPPY DRILL

Despite the fact that many of the men were detained because of examinations, Coach Harper had a good squad out yesterday, the first practice since the Penn State game last Friday. No heavy work was done but game plays were run through a snappy signal drill. There will be no scrimmages or other hard work till the first part of next week.

Luke Kelly, a monogram man for four years at Notre Dame, who is now coaching Christian Brothers college, is confident of trimming the gold and blue on Nov. 22. The Notre Dame coaches realize that they will be up against a hard proposition at St. Louis and every effort will be made to get the gold and blue into the best of condition for this contest.

The stellar work of Dorais has not been passed unnoticed in the east. "Billy" Maurice, an old Pennsylvania gridiron star, writing in the Philadelphia Evening Bulletin says: "I will certainly pick Dorais of Notre Dame for the best player in the country."

The little Notre Dame general may not be the unanimous choice of other critics but the only reason for their overlooking him would be that they had not seen him in action.

Maurice refereed the Army game and was a spectator at the Notre Dame-Penn State battle so that he is qualified to speak with authority on this subject. At Penn State he saw both Miller and Dorais in action and was far more pleased with the work of Notre Dame's little quarterback than with that of the State leader.

Among Saturday's games are: Chicago vs. Minnesota at Minneapolis; Michigan vs. Pennsylvania, at Ann Arbor; Kansas vs. Lawrence at Lawrence; Northwestern vs. Indiana at Evans-ton; Purdue vs. Illinois at Urbana; Iowa vs. Ames at Iowa City; Case vs. Ohio State at Columbus; South Dakota vs. Mich. A. C. at Lansing; Missouri vs. Washington at St. Louis.

EXPECT SPEED AT "Y" THIS SEASON

Followers of Commercial Basketball League Predict Successful Year—Spiros Complete Lineup.

The fourth annual season of the Y. M. C. A. Commercial basketball league will be the fastest and most successful since the inception of the organization, according to followers of the league. At the second practice of the year last night nearly 50 candidates for membership in the league reported and showed splendid early season form. Physical Director J. B. Miller announced last night the following firms would support teams, which will contest for the A. H. Heller trophy:

C. K. Clauer, A. H. Heller, Chard & Tompsett, Samuel Spiros & Co., South Bend Floral Co. and Schilling. The Spiros are the new members in the league, filling the vacancy left by the withdrawal of C. Lee.

Many New Faces.

Many new faces will be on the "Y" floor this year, but there are enough veterans of past seasons in line to form the nucleus of a crack quintet. Among the old hands who will be seen is Ordo Barrett, who dropped out for a year. Barrett is a clever player and good leader and his return promises to strengthen the league. Several former college stars worked out last night.

Tentative arrangements have been made for a workout next Wednesday night. Next Friday night the selection of captains will be announced and the leaders will choose teams. The five will then be given an opportunity to work together as the final practice is billed for Wednesday night, Nov. 27. The first game will be played Friday night.

The contests will be staged under the rules which has governed them heretofore, all the teams to meet in three games every Friday night for 10 weeks, beginning Nov. 29. If the plans of last year are followed, the galaxy will be thrown open to the public, admission free.

K. OF P. BILLIARD TOURNAY.

Results in the K. of P. pool and billiard tournament last night were: Pool—Mike Kinscherf, 50, defeated Albert Slick, 50, 50 to 37.

Billiards—Carl Swanson, 50, defeated H. W. Underwood, 50, 50 to 32. Golden Mann, 50, forfeited game to John Dehaven, 50, for non-appearance.

IDEAL WEATHER FOR TIGER AND OLD ELI CLASH

Princeton and Yale Are Ready For Historic Gridiron Battle at New Haven Today—Betting Odds Favor Visitors.

NEW HAVEN, Conn., Nov. 15.—Fair weather and a fast field are all that is needed to make the Yale-Princeton football game to be played here Saturday memorable in the already long list of gridiron contests between these ancient universities, athletic rivals. In every other respect the contest promises to be a record breaker and as though appreciating the responsibilities, the local weather man holds out a preliminary promise of ideal football conditions for the game. Tonight a stiff November wind was rapidly drying out the turf deadened by the forenoon rain.

Inspired by the prospects of a thrilling battle on Yale field Saturday afternoon, the advance guard of the thousands of spectators who will witness the struggle is already on the ground. Hotel accommodations were scarce tonight as tickets for the game and extreme measures were taken to care for those who descended on New Haven without bothering to reserve quarters in advance.

College Colors Dazzle.

Even the prospect of a night spent in a stiff backed chair or the inhospitable surface of a billiard table failed to kill the enthusiasm of the real football spectators, however, and they flaunted their college colors bravely. The blue of Yale and the orange and black of Princeton dazzled the eye. From button hole, window and doorway the hues of the two competing universities fluttered.

The wisest seen, however, would fail to find an omen of victory in this panorama of color, for among the flags, buttons, arm bands and other decorative effects there was missing a preponderance of the orange and black to lead to the belief that either Yale or Princeton was an overwhelming favorite. This same sentiment was reflected in the wagering. Although Princeton was quoted Friday night as a ten to seven choice to defeat Yale, there was little evidence of a great outpouring of Tiger currency, setting on the outcome was comparatively light and most of the wagers made during the afternoon and early evening were of the freak variety, having to do with the method of scoring, total points and similar bets.

Players in Seclusion.

The players who will figure in the struggle took no part either in the pre-game celebrating, reunions or the innumerable discussions regarding the contest. The Yale eleven and substitutes held a short signal drill early in the afternoon and after the regular training dinner spent the evening at the Yale infirmary away from the excitement. The Princeton squad more than 30 strong, was quartered at the Country club near Greenwich, and will not arrive in New Haven until 11:30 Saturday forenoon.

The line-up as announced by the coaches Friday night follows:

SHOW ACCOMPLISHMENTS IN FOREIGN COUNTRIES

With 200 members of the association present and 50 members participating in an excellent program, the "Pageant of Foreign Associations" given Friday evening at the Y. W. C. A. was a decided success.

The work in China, Japan, India and South America was represented by different groups of girls in costume. They were introduced in a prologue given by Miss Winifred Whaley, representing the Spirit of the association. The different groups followed in their various acts, each having an American secretary, suggesting that the work of the foreign associations has all emanated from America. The epilogue was a tableau in which the foreign girls were represented as appealing to the Spirit of the association for help. The Spirit answered in an ensemble chorus.
