

CONDITIONS ARE WORSE THAN IN OTHER CITIES

Dr. W. F. King Announces Figures of Medical Inspection of City Schools at Closing Session of Conference.

The result of the medical inspection in the schools of the city, made during the past few days by the local physicians and a dentist under the guidance of Dr. W. F. King, of the state medical board, were announced at the closing session of the health conference at the high school auditorium last night.

The results of the inspections in the various schools chosen were announced as follows: Colfax school—Total number inspected, 57; inflamed eyes, 12; decayed teeth, 34; throat trouble, 41; enlarged tonsils, 49; enlarged glands, 6; adenoids, 7, and total number of teeth decayed, 107.

Oliver school—Total number inspected, 49; inflamed eyes, 9; throat infections, 42; enlarged tonsils, 27; decayed teeth, 47, and total number of decayed teeth, 451.

Jefferson school—Total number inspected, 37; inflamed eyes, 8; throat infections, 35; enlarged tonsils, 23; adenoids, 22; decayed teeth, 33; enlarged glands, 17, and total number of bad teeth, 263.

Summary—Total inspections, 143; eye troubles, 29; throat infections, 123; enlarged tonsils, 96; adenoids, 59; bad teeth, 114, and total number of bad teeth, 827.

Comments on Figures. Dr. King commented briefly on these figures. He laid special stress on the figures showing the number of decayed teeth per pupil examined. Dr. King objected to the use of the term "medical inspection" in the schools and preferred the term "health supervision." The results in South Bend, he said, were not very different from conditions found in other schools the speaker asserted.

In closing his address, Dr. King stated that he would, on behalf of the state medical board, most strongly urge on South Bend a systematic and regular course of "health supervision" and in this he was strongly supported by the other speakers.

Dr. Hyman Cohen of Chicago, an active health worker in the western metropolis, followed Dr. King and closed the conference with an address on "The People's Health."

Dr. Cohen went back to the days of primeval man in beginning his talk. He traced the development of the human species through three great ages. The first was where man walked on all fours and was too busy in the struggle to live to think of health; the second where man had some progress and where personal hygiene began to make its appearance; and the third where the public health movement arose. Dr. Cohen showed that the movement had an economic basis and was bound to survive. This digression from his main theme was made to prove that the movement in which he is so prominent is not a fad but a lasting reality.

Tells of Causes. Dr. Cohen devoted himself mostly to analyzing the causes of disease and death, dividing them into five main classes, and then taking up each class in turn and giving some practical and basic advice as to the methods of either overcoming or preventing such conditions.

Dr. Cohen divided the human ills, as far as they relate to bodily illness and death into five classes as follows: Infant mortality, tuberculosis, sanitation, diseases, social diseases and diseases due to violence. The children born of diseased parents and of insufficient strength and vitality to survive.

The other half of the deaths of children during the first year are needless aid can be obviated in a large measure. A number of rules for the care of the child, one of the principal of which is that it be given careful, common sense and constant care by the mother, were expounded by the speaker.

Dr. Cohen also made the prediction that the average age of human life,

Renew Your Strength

Every day you must gather new strength and vigor or else sickness will soon overtake you. To this end keep the digestion normal, the liver and bowels active, by the use of according to biological laws, was 100 to 125 years. The length of human life has been appreciably increased within the past 50 years, the doctor asserted, and he believed that within 100 years the expectation of life will have risen to at least 90 years.

REPORT ON LINCOLN HIGHWAY IS FILED

Engineer and Viewers Finish Work on West Part of Roadway—Want the Work to be Finished in Eight Months.

The report of Henderson McClellan, M. M. Mix and F. G. Erhart, the engineer and two viewers appointed to look over the Lincoln highway west, filed their report with County Auditor Sedgewick Wednesday afternoon.

The report on the Lincoln highway east will be filed later in the month and both will come up at the meeting of the county board April 27. The county board will then order an election and the voters will be given a chance to express their wish on the construction of the road. The election will be held late in May.

The report of the engineer and viewers as filed shows that the road will be 100 feet wide, 30 feet of this to be graded and 18 feet of concrete. The length of the highway from the city limits at Michigan st. to the county line to the west is 65,750 feet of which 2,280 in New Carlisle, is paved with brick.

The work on this road will involve 117,034 cubic yards of grading, 128,713 square yards of concrete and the building of one culvert. The report recommends that work start 20 days after the contract is to be let and be finished within eight months. Other regulations are laid down for the use of the road during construction and the safeguarding of the public, all subject to the Indiana state laws.

NEW HAVEN OFFICERS ASKING FOR CLEMENCY

Must Come to Washington and Produce Books or Indictments Will Be Returned—Folk Says Final Word.

WASHINGTON, April 15.—Officials of the New Haven system who refused last week to testify before the interstate commerce commission, Wednesday begged for clemency. They will be given no quarter. Unless the men voluntarily come to Washington before Thursday and open the books of the Billard company, a subsidiary of the New Haven, indictments will be returned against them.

Former Gov. Folk of Missouri, who is now chief counsel for the commission, Wednesday received a long telegram from Homer S. Cummings, attorney for the four men against whom indictments will be returned Thursday. Mr. Cummings asks that the case against his clients be not pressed at this time and that they be given time to consider.

When the telegram reached Washington, Mr. Folk had just concluded a consultation with Dist. Atty. Wilson and made arrangements for a hearing before the grand jury of the District of Columbia Thursday morning at 10 o'clock.

Subpoenas were issued to compel witnesses to appear and testify before the grand jury that on last Friday the New Haven men refused to answer specific questions propounded by counsel of the interstate commerce commission.

The witnesses who were subpoenaed to appear Thursday are Commissioner McClellan, before whom the New Haven case was being tried when the men refused to answer questions; A. H. May, treasurer of the New Haven Railroad, and a stenographer who recorded the proceedings.

The four men who refused to answer the commission's questions are Samuel Hemmingway, president of the Second National bank of New Haven; H. V. Whitney, president of the Merchants National bank of New Haven, and connected with the Billard company; E. E. Field, a New Haven business man, also said to be a director in the Billard's company, and Samuel Moorhouse, a lawyer of New Haven.

Late Wednesday Mr. Folk sent an answer to the telegram to Homer S. Cummings, saying that the arrangements were already completed for the hearing before the grand jury Thursday morning and the case could not be postponed.

LAST OF THE FOUR GUNMEN IS BURIED

Crowd of Curious Stand Around During Services for "Dago Frank" Circled.

NEW YORK, April 16.—Men and women of the underworld, neighborhood shopkeepers and scores of the morbid curious stood in a cold drizzling rain Wednesday afternoon on the steep winding hill opposite the home of Mrs. Mary Croft while funeral services were being conducted for "Dago Frank" Cirofici, the last of the gunmen.

Nearly 100 persons tramped behind the white hearse and the six carriages to St. Raymond's cemetery, Westchester, where the kangster was buried. There could not have been a more elaborate display in a last tribute to a soldier who had died with honor in leading his men in battle.
