BY NIXOLA GREELEY-SMITH. (Staff Special.)

New York.—Mrs. Havelock Ellis, one of the foremost feminists of the world, has just arrived in the United States to deliver a series of lectures on the woman movement which will take her ultimately through the south and west.

Mrs. Ellis, author of "Kits and Women," "Three Modern Seers" and "The Imperishable Wing," is very incidentally the wife of the famous investigator of "The Psychology of Sex." She has been married to Havelock Ellis for 23 years and the union of these celebrated persons is regarded by those who know them as the strongest possible argument for the permanence of romantic love.

An interesting detail of their domestic life is that Mrs. Ellis has a cottage of her own in Cornwall while Mr. Ellis maintains a flat for himself in London, so that the most devoted married couple on earth do not really live together in the sense that most married persons do.

"There are weeks when we do not even see each other," Mrs. Ellis confided to me. "I cannot imagine that two persons can live together 365 days of the year for a lifetime without becoming horribly bored. If I had never been separated from my husband I feel sure that I could not have written the romantic love letter, really a wild letter, that I sent him this morning just before you came."

"What do you consider the most important demand of the woman movement?" I asked her.

"The economic independence of women," she replied. "Until love is freed from the obligation of support no man can know that he is loved for himself, no woman can be sure of the disinterestedness of her affections. I believe, of course, that every man should support his child up to the age of 21."

"But love must be freed from commercialism. And in order to do this we shall have to try many experiments. One of the experiments I propose I call a novitiate of marriage. I don't use the expression novitiate as equivalent to trial marriage. If two people were to inhabit the same house, the man living with the girl's family for only a year, it would be impossible to conceal small habits, peculiarities and moods which some times play as great havoc with marriage as vice itself. Such an experiment, a novitiate for marriage, would tend to diminish the evil effects of the sex-spell, the magnetic attraction between a man and a woman which hypnotizes their reason."

APRIL FIRE LOSSES IN INDIANA DECREASE STATE MARSHAL REPORTS

April fire losses in Indiana decreased 35 per cent over those reported in March. There were but five fires which caused losses of more than $10,000, and these were responsible for more than 50 per cent of the total losses for the month.

The largest loss on account of fire during April was that of the Preble Manufacturing Co., at Hammond, where the loss was $73,500.

Total losses for the month of April are estimated at $484,252, of which amount $331,835 was on buildings and $132,417 on contents. About 565 fires occurred during the month, while in March there were 793 fires, causing a loss of $654,123. Fires in adjoining buildings were the causes of most of the conflagrations.

Fires reported in Indiana which caused the heaviest losses were: St. Joseph college, Rensselaer, $65,000; W. S. Rounds Mfg. Co., Davies county, $11,000; L. Dryfuss theater, Lafayette, $2,500; Preble Mfg. Co., Hammond, $73,500; Winona summer resort, $63,328.

SNAP JUDGMENT IS SELDOM CORRECT ONE

Man Must Live Before He Really Appreciates His Blessings, Says Minister.

"We should not take stock of our lives in the days of darkness, but should wait until we are of mature age and judgment and can look back at them and see them in their true light," said Rev. C. A. Lippincott at the First Presbyterian church Sunday morning. His sermon was on the topic "Looking Backward."

The pastor took the life of Jacob to illustrate his points. He referred to the times in the early life of Jacob when he was afflicted with sorrows, and threatened with calamity. It was a difficult situation, and his judgment at that time was that all the detrimental things were against him.

ARMY ENGINEERS ARE DUE IN CITY SOON

Men Are Making Survey of the Proposed Canal From Fort Wayne.

Army engineers are slowly working their way up the St. Joseph river from Fort Wayne on the survey of the proposed Lake Erie to Lake Michigan canal. A corps of these experts left Fort Wayne last week and is expected to reach South Bend any time. A corps scheduled to start from Michigan City west early in the week was for some reason delayed and according to report has not yet begun its part of the task.

Richard Ethel, chairman of the local committee, stated last night that he had received a letter from Col. John Millis of Newport, R. I., senior member of the survey committee, that he would be in Washington perhaps this week to confer with Indiana senators and Representative Barnhart regarding the project. He also stated that if opportunity offered that he would take up the matter with Secretary of War Garrison.

ARRAIGNED FOR SPEEDING. Blaise Koszewski, the colored paper boy who keeps the stand at the corner of Michigan and Washington sts., will be on trial Tuesday morning charged with speeding his motorcycle. He was arraigned in city court Monday and pleaded not guilty. The boy appeared without bail by order of the police and the judge released him on his promise to be on hand Tuesday.

Are Wrinkles More Common?

Because life is more complex—because women are interested in so many more things today than they used to be—because dividing a day among household duties, politics, clubs, charities, social business, and personal care is a strenuous thing—and strenuous life makes marks upon the face, the woman of today who wants to look right has long since started to aid Nature in its uneven fight and many of the wisest and busiest have decided upon this economical vegetable jelly cream as the simplest wrinkle remover—am skin stimulator. It protects the surface of the skin and brings the blood to the surface where it performs its upbuilding work. Just get from your druggist an ounce of almoizin, put it in a fruit jar, and add half a pint of water and two tablespoonsful of glycerine. Let this mixture stand for several hours, stirring occasionally during this time. Before retiring apply rather thickly over wrinkled or flabby surface and allow it to dry. It will harden rapidly and when applied, you will note a slight tightening of the skin. In the morning remove with hot water and note the immediate effect which is lasting. Advt.

And, Now It's the Wireless Umbrella

In the Lycoming Wireless Umbrella, sold exclusively at this store, we have a vast improvement over the old style Umbrella, the ribs of which insist on breaking and poking through the cover.

The average Umbrella has ribs strung on a wire at the top—and there's nothing to prevent them from rusting. Once rusted, the ribs break and poke a hole through the cover before it's scarcely worn.

The Lycoming Wireless Ball-and-Socket Joint Overcomes This Trouble Perfectly

The ribs fit into this socket—doing away entirely with stringing them on a wire—consequently preventing them from rusting and breaking at the top.

Every Lycoming Wireless Umbrella is guaranteed. If one ever breaks at the top and pokes a hole through the cover, we'll replace it free of charge.

An expert demonstrator from the factory is here this week giving a demonstration of these long-wearing Umbrellas. In connection with this exhibition we have a large new shipment of Lycoming Wireless Umbrellas for men and women.

They have covers of American Taffeta, Gloria Silk or Piece Dyed Taffeta, Union Taffeta Silk, Taffeta and fine Silk Serge. The assortment of handles includes Green, Ebony and Mission finish; plain, carved and mounted styles, also the serviceable Boxwood, Horn and Stag handles.

And they're not a bit higher priced than the old makes that don't wear nearly so long. There are good, substantial ones at $1.00, $1.50, $2.00, $3.00 and $5.00—all with the patented socket that gives them extra wearing life.

Stop at the window and see this interesting demonstration. You'll soon make up your mind to end umbrella troubles by owning one or two of the Lycoming Wireless make.
