DRAWN JURY TO HEAR MME. CAILLAUX CASE

First Steps in Famous Murder Trial Taken—Proceedings to Begin Monday.

PARIS, July 17.—The first steps in the trial of Mme. Henri Caillaux, wife of Joseph Caillaux, ex-minister of finance, on the charge of murdering Gaston Calmette, editor of Le Figaro, were taken Thursday when Pres. Alibanel of the Seine Assizes, made a drawing of the jury which will hear the evidence.

The trial itself will be called on Monday and it is expected that the court's proceedings will be the most dramatic in the history of French jurisprudence since the trial of Capt. Dreyfus. Thirty-seven veniremen answered the summons served upon them Thursday. After a speech of welcome touching on the case they were to hear, Pres. Alibanel ordered that the two men necessary to fill the jury box be selected immediately.

With the opening of the trial a legal battle will be immediately under way to save the life of the woman. Every effort is being made by the prosecution to gather evidence showing that the shooting of Calmette was premeditated. On the other hand, Mme. Caillaux is endeavoring to show that the shooting was entirely the result of an impulse of the moment.

Le Figaro Thursday published a letter which it alleges shows premeditation on the part of Mme. Caillaux. This note was written at 4 o'clock on the afternoon of the shooting. It was handed to a maid with instructions that she should give it to M. Caillaux upon his return from the senate.

The note in part stated: "You said to me that you would smash the face of Calmette, but France and the republic have need of you and you must not charge yourself with our quarrel. It is for me to act. If this is handed to you it will mean that I have acted."

The killing of Calmette was unintentional, it will be maintained, as Mme. Caillaux went to his office with the idea of obtaining letters of a personal nature which Calmette was supposed to have in his possession, and if necessary merely to frighten him.

The shooting followed the threat of publication in Le Figaro of an intimate note from Caillaux and supposedly addressed to the present Mme. Caillaux before her marriage to the cabinet minister. Le Figaro has always waged a bitter campaign against Caillaux.

The funeral of Mrs. Fred Demier, who was fatally burned by the explosion of a kerosene lamp last week, was held Monday forenoon at the U. B. church. Rev. Mrs. Alice Noble preaching the sermon. Many beautiful floral tributes were given by her co-workers in the Sunday school and Missionary society, of which she was for a long time a member and worker. She leaves a husband and two little adopted daughters.

The congregation at the Lutheran church was thrown into a state that bordered on collapse Sunday forenoon just at the conclusion of the morning worship. Rev. William Roessler had pronounced the benediction when the congregation rose in their seats preparatory to starting home. Mrs. Roessler sprang to her feet, reeled backward and fell lifeless into her seat. Mrs. Roessler had not complained of any illness. The cause of her death is attributed to the excessive heat which prevailed Sunday. Mrs. Roessler was about 50 years of age and leaves besides her husband four sons and two daughters. Brief funeral services were held in the church Tuesday afternoon which the remains were taken to Springfield, Ill., Wednesday for burial. Rev. Roessler and children have the heartfelt sympathy of the city in so sudden a bereavement.
