

DETECTIVES TAKE DIPS AT STATIONS Watch at Interurban Depots Brings Many Suspects to be Examined at Station.

As a result of the incessant watch kept over both the downtown interurban stations for pickpockets, three men were landed by Detectives William Cassidy at the Northern Indiana station Saturday afternoon. The three were noted "dips" and after taken to the police station and the local records examining they were sent out of town. It was found that this city had nothing against the men although it was thought they are wanted in other cities. The Saturday haul of dips is not the first the local department has made since the recent series of crimes in the city. It was said in the police department Monday morning that scarcely a day passed that at least one was not halted at one of the stations and brought to the station and examined.

GREAT BRITAIN LEDGES SUPPORT TO FRANCE

(CONTINUED FROM PAGE ONE) The government had given no promise of anything other than diplomatic support. Explaining the failure to secure peace, Sir Edward said: "It is not possible to secure the peace of Europe as there has been little time, and furthermore, there was a disposition in some quarters to force matters rapidly to an issue." The foreign secretary said that England did not constitute anything in its previous diplomatic relations with other powers in this matter as restricting its freedom to decide what its attitude should be now. Following Sir Edward's speech John Redmond, leader of the Irish nationalists, made a patriotic address in which he said all Irish would arm themselves and would unite to defend their own coast. Premier to Be Heard. The house of commons then adjourned until 7 p. m. when Premier Asquith probably will make a statement. The following forecast of the statement that Premier Asquith will make today by an official who spoke authoritatively: Premier Asquith will announce in parliament that Germany has already committed what constitutes acts of war against Great Britain by seizing her powers in this matter as restricting its freedom to decide what its attitude should be now.

GOD REVEALS SELF IN WORKS OF NATURE

Rev. H. B. Hostetter Says Life About Us Has Many Comparisons to God's Work. The many revelations of God in the works of nature was the theme of the morning sermon at the Lincoln church Sunday. His text was taken from Hosea XIV:5. "I will be the dew unto Israel." This text was also taken to mean a call to the field of nature. Dew, said the speaker, is the symbol of God, first in the manner of its coming, always gently and quietly. While man is noisy, God usually works unostentatiously, with the possible exception of a few cyclone convulsions, which do not happen in the ordinary life of a man. The second resemblance is in its cleansing influence as it takes away dust and grime of earthly things. Its third likeness is its refreshing influence, as it invigorates and revives the withering grass on which it falls. As the dew falls at night so often do the riches of God's love make themselves manifest in the night season of adversity and bereavement. Dew forms only when the sky is cloudless and calm, not when it is windy and cloudy, so must the sky of our lives be clear of the clouds of sin and free from the winds of selfish ambition and worldly strife. If the drop of dew is held a certain way it will reveal the glory of the sun and the dome of the heavens, and if the spiritual dome is used right, or held right, it will reveal the goodness and the glories of God. The subject of the evening sermon was "Jesus, the Light of the World." A meeting of the trustees and deacons will be held Tuesday night at 7:30 o'clock.

CONGRESS BEWAILS OUR WEAK MERCHANT MARINE

Passes Weeks Bill Providing for Use of Naval Vessels During War. BULLETIN, Aug. 3.—Spurred on by speeches detailing the plight of the United States on account of the almost lack of merchant marine, the senate today passed the Weeks' bill providing for the use of a number of naval vessels to carry mail, passengers and freight. The bill originally providing only for service between North and South America, but in view of the present European disturbance the senate thought it best not to limit the auxiliary service and the naval vessels will be allowed to include European ports in their itinerary.

WILSON ASKS PEOPLE TO HOLD THEIR HEADS

(CONTINUED FROM PAGE ONE) The president stated, He said the country owed it to the world to give Europe our surplus of food stuffs. Talks to Reporters. Pres. Wilson spoke as follows concerning the war situation: "Gentlemen, before you question me I want to say this: "I believe it is really unnecessary, but I always want to tell you what is in my mind. It is necessary, it is manifestly necessary in the present state of affairs on the other side of the waters that you should be extremely careful not to add to the excitement in any way. Europe is in a highly excited state of mind, but the excitement ought not to spread to this country. So far as we are concerned, there is no cause for excitement. There is great inconvenience for the time being in the money market and in our exchanges, and temporarily in our crops. But America is prepared to meet the financial situation and to straighten everything out without any material difficulties. The only thing that can possibly prevent it is unreasonable apprehension and excitement. "If I might make a suggestion to you, gentlemen, therefore, I would urge you not to give currency to any unverified rumors or to anything that would tend to create or add to excitement. I think that you will agree that we must all at the present moment act together. Americans in seeing that America does not suffer any unnecessary distress from what is going on in the world at large. The situation in Europe is perhaps the greatest in its possibilities that has arisen in modern times, but it need not affect the United States unfavorably in the long run. Not that the United States has anything to take advantage of but to alleviate the suffering due to the war. "The question of divesting coastwise ships, increasing sailing vessels to the Atlantic trade, has been discussed the president said, but no decision has been reached. The president continued that probably many of the coastwise ships, such as the fruit carrying vessels, would prove suitable for European traffic. Will Proclaim Neutrality. A proclamation of neutrality will be issued by the United States in the near future, the president told his callers. The president stated that the organization of the federal reserve board would help the domestic situation. He added that Secy. McAdoo had sent word from New York today that the banking situation there was encouraging. He also told his callers that McAdoo was doing all he could to help American tourists in Europe to get back home, but that no definite steps had been taken. The strike situation in the western states was made doubly grave by the war crisis, the president stated, and he had every reason to believe the railroad managers and their employees would act in a patriotic manner. The war situation will not effect the date of the adjournment of congress, the president told his callers.

HIGHWAY AND CHURCH QUESTION TAKEN UP

Board of Commissioners is Expected to Take Some Action on Matters Monday. Neither the matter of the purchase of the old First M. E. church property at the corner of Jefferson Blvd. and Main st., nor the Lincoln highway proposition was considered by the board of county commissioners at the Monday morning session, although it was thought that these questions would be discussed and probably some action taken during the afternoon. Representatives of the Lincoln Highway association were present at the commissioners' court in the afternoon to present their side of the case. They are urging that the board open bids on the contracting for the road, asserting that the election in favor of the highway leaves no alternative but to call for estimation by C. D. Frank, engineer for the highway association, and M. L. Williams represented the association before the commissioners. Twenty-four liquor licenses were renewed by the board at the morning session, practically the entire forenoon being taken up with this work. The licenses renewed are as follows: Albert G. BIRTHS IN JULY TRIPLE NUMBER OF DEATHS

South Bend Health Board Report Shows Good Conditions in City. There were nearly three times more births in the city in July than there were deaths, according to the monthly report of the board of health. The actual figures state that there were 51 deaths and 159 births. Five of the deaths were from tuberculosis and five were from accidents. These two causes named claimed the largest number of deaths. There were 32 contagious diseases reported to the department, eight of which had to be quarantined. Cases of diphtheria and scarlet fever were the most violent reported. There were four of the former and six of the latter. Out of 152 groceries inspected by the department, only one was found to be in poor sanitary condition. Forty-nine were found to be in good condition and 108 were fair. Sixty-two meat markets were examined, of which 25 were reported good and 36 fair. The department received 52 complaints of weeds, garbage and rubbish which required looking after. Cash sanitary officers, William Lichtenberger and Philip Rostiser, were kept busy taking care of such reports which came into the office, the majority of them from the outskirts of the city. The V. M. C. A. kitchen and restaurant was investigated and reported to be in excellent sanitary condition. Weeds and garbage in public places formed a large part of the work taken up by the sanitary officer through the month. In almost every case, however, the orders of the board were followed and the weeds or garbage removed.

MYSTERY PICTURES. "The Million Dollar Mystery," episode No. 6, will be the attraction at the Surprise theater today. The opening scene finds the countess and Braine discussing their repeated failures and outlining another plot against Florence. The countess invites Florence, together with a lot of other people, to go on a coaching party, and Miss Jones to go with them to serve the lunch. Jim Norton passes the party, suspects a plot, and turns and follows them. He gets Jones to take him on as an extra waiter. One of the conspirators, disguised as a foreign nobleman, invites Florence to go with him after luncheon on a tour of inspection of the magnificent old home and she consents. The story runs on in this series, but as yet the conspirator's plans have come to naught. It is said that this series of pictures is creating a great deal of interest among the picture fans. "The Girl of the Seasons" will Muriel Ostriche and Boyd Marshall and other Princess players is a true heart story interwoven with thrills and compellingly interesting. Tomorrow will bring an Imp three-act drama entitled "When the World Was Silent." The work of Leah Baird and William Shay is really very fine. "The Universal Animated Weekly" will also be an attraction. THE AUDITORIUM. Guy Coombs and Anna Nilsson, two famous Kalem stars, portray the leading roles. Grim, a self-made man, falls in love with Valeria Prescott, an orphaned heiress. Hume, a ne'er-do-well, desires to marry the girl for her money. The girl favors Hume until the failure of her bank, which wipes out her fortune, reveals his true character. She consents to be Grim's wife out of pique. Later comes a revulsion of feeling, that causes her to tell Grim she hates him. Too proud to plead, the man leaves for the west on business. Hume, discovered to have robbed one of his friends, is ordered to return the money within twenty-four hours. Late that night, the man appears before Valeria and begs her for money. Grim returns at that moment and orders the man from the house. The following morning, Grim's husband intends to divorce her. The man leaves on a hunting trip. The Little house looks bright and clean for the coming season. The Frisco quartet, late a feature with "The Tenderfoot" company, offered an original program of popular ballads and later medleys that met with much favor. Culbert and Dahlberg, clever singers and dancers, made a bright spot on the bill with their novel specialty. Miss Dahlberg has a charming personality and wore handsome gowns. Jack Lewis kept the crowds laughing with German dialect stories and new parodies.
