COCOANUT OIL FINE FOR WASHING HAIR

If you want to keep your hair in good condition, the less soap you use the better.

Most soaps and prepared shampoos contain too much alkali. This dries the scalp, makes the hair brittle, and is very harmful.

You can get mulsified cocoanut oil at most any drug store. It is very cheap, and a few ounces is enough to last everyone in the family for months.

WILL HOLD GLASS BANQUET AT HIGH

School Authorities Step in and Spoil Plan of Juniors and Seniors—Building Is Good Enough.

Seniors and juniors of the high school, who anticipated eating the annual junior-senior banquet at the Oliver hotel, next Friday night, will be disappointed.

Prof. F. L. Sims, who made the announcement, said in justification of his act, that when the board of education voted a new building, it was with the understanding that all school affairs should be held in the building.

The classes voted that if 100 paid in their money before Wednesday afternoon at the school, the banquet would be held, and that those who did not sign up before Thursday morning would be prevented from attending.

The classes voted unanimously that none but seniors and juniors would be admitted to the affair.

This action was necessary owing to the fact that at high school doors, no matter what class or organization, there are more or less outsiders and underclassmen that attend, and this affair is planned exclusively for the seniors and juniors.

Arguments on a restraining order were heard Monday afternoon before Judge Funk in the divorce case of Henry W. Hellmann against Rosie Hellmann.

The suit was brought in the superior court on April 12 and on April 18 Judge Ford issued an order restraining the defendant from interfering with the renters in the Hellmann house, 104 N. Hill st., and restraining the petitioner from disposing of the property.

A change of venue was at once taken and the hearing on the restraining order is being tried out again before Judge Funk who announced Monday that he would decide the issue Wednesday.

The petitioner is represented by Jellison & Jellison and the defendant by G. A. Farabaugh.

It is alleged by the petitioner that when the divorce proceedings were started his wife returned at once from Seattle, Wash., where she had been for several months, and proceeded to order the roomers out of the house on Hill st., on the grounds that she was the owner of the property.

It is said also that when the husband objected then his son, Victor Hellmann, took his mother's part and proceeded to take charge of the premises.

When the son interfered, it is said, the father had him arrested for trespass and secured a conviction in the city court. Following this act the son had in vain procured a writ of habeas corpus from the justice of the peace. The father was found to be sane.

J. Thornton.

MUST STAND TRIAL. Court Holds Stirling Plea of Insanity Not Sufficient.

Judge Funk in the circuit court on Monday afternoon ruled that the plea of insanity entered by Clarence Stirling, charged with embezzlement, was not sufficient to relieve him of a criminal action.

Stirling was formerly a salesman for the Davies Shirt Co. and it is said that he appropriated a large amount of money from the company. His wife, after his indictment, sought to prove, before a commission in Justice Peak's court, that he was insane, but the commission held that the action was apparently an attempt to free him from the court.

If the Sphinx could tell you of the discovery of beer

H. E. Barnard, A State Food Commissioner said

"The person who opens a bottle of beer is assured absolutely that what he has before him is a product absolutely free from germs and perfectly clean."

It would describe the crude methods and the mysterious brewing of "barley wine" by the Egyptians 5,000 years ago.

There is no mystery about modern brewing. We are glad to have you examine the quality of our barley and hops, to see every process of our brewing, to know the extreme cleanliness that is one of the features of our brewery.
