FAIRMONT, Va., July 17.—Three men were arrested here today charged with plotting to dynamite the residence of former U. S. Sen. Clarence W. Watson, and three of his relatives, who are heads of the Consolidated Coal Co., which is shipping lump coal to the British and French governments. PRESIDENT TO DISCUSS NOTE WITH CABINET may be left gradually to work itself out.

The case of the Nebraska was discussed at the Lansing-von Bernstorff conference. Germany's admission of blame in this instance and her offer to make reparation has somewhat lessened the tension but there is still harbored the fact in the minds of the officials that the Kaiser's government practically ignored the demand of Pres't Wilson for a disavowal of the Lusitania tragedy and reparation therefor.

Recognize Justice.

However Germany's apparent effort to avoid a repetition of the Lusitania case and her recent caution in conducting submarine warfare is construed at least recognizing in practice the justice of the American position.

What disposition will be made of the virtual request by Germany that the United States attempt to mediate the differences between England and Germany regarding the use of the seas is problematical. The president is yet to intimate his views on this proposal which von Bernstorff is understood to have urged upon Sec'y Lansing.

The ambassador it is believed proceeds upon the theory that the United States having complained against England's blockade which interferes with her commerce, she should reciprocally Germany's retaliatory submarine warfare this country may properly offer itself as a mediator and hope for an adjustment of both controversies.

WAR STOCKS GO UP TWO TO TEN POINTS

Speculation in These Shares Makes Itself Felt in Other Industrial Issues.

By Broadan' Wall.

NEW YORK, July 17.—War stocks were the star performers in the stock market Friday, their advances ranging from two to almost 10 points. Brokers reported a further expansion in the buying of war shares which had a sympathetic influence on the balance of the industrials. The rails were inclined to heaviness throughout the session under leadership of Southern Pacific, which lost more than a point. Brokers declare the public is anxiously awaiting the time when the interstate commerce commission's decision is rendered in the western rate case. With the eastern roads making a better showing, a favorable decision in the western case would revive speculation in the securities of our arteries of commerce.

At the opening there was general strength, gains running from a fraction to a full point. Southern Pacific, however, was an exception, and opened down 5-8.

Crucible Steel was the undisputed leader throughout the session, more than 100,000 shares changing hands at a steady rise in quotations until at the end of the session it had risen 10 points.

Quite a few war stocks made a new high record, notable among them being Bethlehem Steel, which is rumored to be earning at the rate of 100 per cent on the contract. American Can, a common, which is said to have so much war order business that it does not intend to take any more after the large contract now being negotiated for is clinched. Baldwin continued to rise and American Car and Foundry showed a burst of activity.

Allis-Chalmers common was half a point higher, but the preferred was much lower.

BRIDGEPORT, Conn., July 17.—By a unanimous vote of nearly 16,000 machinists in this city, it was decided a strike be called against the Remington Arms and Remington U. M. The executive committee of machinists was authorized to declare a strike for an 8-hour schedule instead of the present 10 hours. The factories in Bridgeport and elsewhere in Connecticut now engaged in the manufacture of accessories for the Remington Arms or Remington U. M. C. companies.

WEALTHY WOMAN FOUND MURDERED

Mrs. Frances L. Harrison Believed to Be Wife of Indianapolis Business Man.

LOS ANGELES, Calif., July 17.—Mrs. Frances L. Harrison, wealthy money lender and believed to have been the wife of Theodore F. Harrison, an Indianapolis business man, was found murdered in her bungalow Friday at 2171 W. 29th st., a fashionable residential section of this city. Mrs. Harrison was established the woman was slain on the night of July 8.

In Mrs. Harrison's effects were found letters from Theodore Harrison, 408 American Central Life building, Indianapolis; a letter from C. O. Wilson, care the Auburn Automobile Co., 2559 Farnum st., Omaha, Neb., and a letter signed "your boy and girl" from the P. L. Company, 1623 Farnum st., Omaha, Neb., which is evidently a son or a nephew of the dead woman.

Search is being made for Dick Allison, also known as Richard Whittington, who lived in the bungalow with Mrs. Harrison and was known in the neighborhood as her husband. Allison, a handsome man of 38 or 40, passed the night of July 8 in the bungalow and was seen to leave early the following morning carrying two suit cases.

Mystery About Allison.

There are many mystifying features to the case. Little can be learned of Allison. He apparently had no occupation and Mrs. Harrison frequently quarreled with him, because, she charged, he made no effort to support himself.

The body was found in bed. Mrs. Harrison wore a night robe and had apparently retired for the night. The murderer is believed to have chloroformed her, for a folded towel lay across the face and two bottles, from which poison is believed to have been scratched, were found under the bed.

Although Mrs. Harrison possessed valuable jewelry, only a few trinkets were found. It is learned that she cashed a check for $55 on the afternoon of July 8. No money was found. Bank books showed large amounts of money on deposit here and in San Francisco, where she conducted her money raising operations. A list containing the names of persons owing her money in San Francisco was also found. She had loaned a total of $63,000 there.

LIVED IN OMAHA.

She has two daughters living in Omaha, Mrs. C. O. Wilson and Mrs. W. T. House. Wilson is manager of the Auburn Automobile company, and House is manager of a loan company.

NEW WHEAT DAMP AND OF LOW GRADE

Grain Much Damaged by Being Forced to Stand in Water Soaked Fields.

By Joseph F. Pritchard.

CHICAGO, July 17.—The new wheat received here Friday was mainly damp and unfit for either milling or shipping. There is very little contract wheat coming forward and the anxiety of the July shorts continues. It is hard to estimate the open interest in wheat, but on account of the heavy liquidation by longs and the covering by shorts some time ago, it is believed the outstanding interest is only moderate. High grade cash wheat was very firm, while the lower descriptions were greatly depressed. Those in a position to know best say that considerable wheat has already been threshed and will come forward within the next week.

THREE HURT IN ELKHART ACCIDENT

ELKHART, Ind., July 17.—Mr. and Mrs. Asher Abel and five children, Hilda, Jennie, Bessie, Russell and William, three months old, narrowly escaped serious injury Thursday night when the surrey in which they were riding was struck on Indiana av. by an automobile driven by Walter Voder of Dunlaps. William, the infant, and Hilda escaped without injury. Jennie, 11 years old, suffered a dislocation of the left elbow and a scalp wound.

Unlighted lamps on the automobile caused the accident. The lights had gone out about half a mile down the road from where the buggy was struck and the darkness hid the rig from view. Both vehicles were going toward Elkhart, the machine striking the surrey in the rear. The impact frightened the horse, which ran away, throwing the occupants to the road. EXPERTS GLA PLAN IS WRONG

Hold Battleship Cannot Be Eliminated to Make Way For Submarine and Aeroplane.

NEW YORK, July 17.—Shipbuilders and naval experts do not agree with the statements made by Joseph Daniels, secretary of the navy, that the main defense of the United States in the future will be the aeroplane and the submarine. Mr. Daniels made the assertion at the home of Thomas A. Edison Thursday night and in some quarters it was regarded that the secretary had in mind the gradual elimination of the battleship as a serious consideration in naval warfare.

William Cramp & Sons, the Philadelphia shipbuilders who have constructed many great fighting ships for the United States, believe that the secretary of the navy is wrong in his assertion that America's undersea and overseas forces must be depended upon as the chief defense of the nation.

"The battleship is the unit of the navy," it was stated Friday. "Every other kind of craft is subsidiary to it. It is true that the submarine and the aeroplane are a menace to the battleship, but always will the latter type of craft bear the brunt of battle. It cannot be eliminated.

Present War No Test.

"Of course Mr. Daniels has a perfect right to express his opinion, but it is not believed that he voices the opinion of the people of the nation. Furthermore, Mr. Daniels cannot guide his opinion by any test of the present war, for there has been no test of the modern battleship. England's fleet is busy blockading the German fleet and the German fleet has not seen fit to come out and give battle.
