CHARLIE EBBETTS SMILES JOYFULLY AT HIS DODGERS

Brooklyn Boys Have Been Going Big This Season and Now Are in Second Place.

By Frank G. Menke.
NEW YORK, July 22.—If conventional didn't act as a bar, Charlie Ebbetts would be rushing forward these days, embracing each and every one of his pop-eyed Dodgers, and kissing them fervently upon the forehead and Adam's apple for those Dodgers certainly have gladdened the heart and fattened the pocket book of the said Mr. Ebbetts.

Charles and companions engaged in promoting National league baseball in the wilds of Brooklyn, experienced a very lean year in 1914 and there was the prospect that 1915 would be even more so. But the Dodgers have surprised everybody—themselves mostly—by playing wonderful baseball and keeping within hailing distance of first place almost since the season began.

Just a week or so ago the Dodgers played five home games that brought out a total attendance of over 50,000 fans. That meant at least $20,000 for the coffers of Charlie Ebbetts—an amount bigger than Charles realized for any 10 home games last year. "And the end ain't yet," asserts the enthusiastic, confident Ebbetts. "My boys are just hitting their stride. They'll hear watching right along. Of course, I don't want to predict that they'll win the pennant but I do want to say that I've got a nifty little ball park for staging world series games."

When a certain New Yorker learned that Howard Drew, the crack negro sprinter, had harpooned a job as Pullman dining car waiter on the Pacific coast, he said: "I guess it must have been Drew that waited on me when I came back from the fair."

"How's that?" asked a bystander. "Well, the fellow who waited on me acted as if he was waiting to hear the crack of a pistol before starting."

One of the strangest features of Honus Wagner's hitting career is that he poked out more than 200 hits per season. In 1900 and again in 1908 he got 201 safeties. Fandom assumed that because Wagner batted .300 or better over a 17-year period and amassed a grand clubbing average of .331 for all of these 17 years, that he had often made more than 200 hits per season, but the records show to the contrary.

Al Orth, the umpiring person, seems to be unduly worried about Grover Alexander, the pitching wonder of the Phillies. "Alexander throws such a speedy ball that eventually it will hurt his arm," says Orth. "No pitcher can last very long if he puts all of his arm power in a ball, the way that Alexander does."

However, Alexander seems to be shooting Orth's argument to pieces right now. Alexander batted into his league baseball quite a few spells ago. Ever since then he has been throwing a bullet ball. If such a delivery is to hurt the Alexander wing, it would seem that Alex's wing would have started backwards about three years ago.

Instead of starting backward, however, Alexander's arm seems better and stronger this year than ever before. The speed of the Phillie phenomenon never was so great as it is now and his arm is in such shape that he could pitch every third day and not feel the strain.

Such a poor lot of horses were running at the Ascot (Los Angeles) track recently that the public turned away in disgust. Jostling remarks came from all sides, but the climax came one day when a junk man drove into the track with a load of tin cans and began unloading them in front of the stable.

The irate track officials rushed up to him and asked the whys and wherefores of his action.

"A fellow gave me $5 and told me to bring a load of tin cans and unload them here," explained the junk dealer. "He said the cans were to be food for the goats that are stabled here."

Flying Fairy, once the "Queen of the Turf," is to be retired by her owner, Capt. E. B. Cassatt. The wonderful race horse has seen her best days. Early in her career she was able to carry up to 150 pounds and beat some of the best horses in the game. But the old speed is gone.

Just a short time ago, after suffering numerous defeats by some fast steeple horses, Flying Fairy was sent against an ordinary lot of animals and asked to carry only 100 pounds. And Flying Fairy was beaten.

"That defeat has decided me upon the retirement of Flying Fairy," said Cassatt.

WILL GET SHAKE-UP

Weeghman Plans Changes For Chicago Whale Club.

CHICAGO, July 22.—Pres't Weeghman of the Chicago Federal league club is planning a big shake-up for his club. The Whales owner needs a first baseman. He said today he would make a bid for the services of Vic Sailer of the Chicago Cubs, and Stuffy McInnis of the Philadelphia Athletics. Weeghman said he would get a couple of major league stars to strengthen his team regardless of cost.

SINGERS WILL TRY TO RETRIEVE LOSS

Champs Meet Olivers Saturday in Game That Should be a Regular Battle Royal.

Singer park should be the Mecca for a considerable crowd of baseball bugs Saturday afternoon, for at that time and place the two leaders in the factory league will meet in the proverbial battle royal. Singers and Olivers are slated to appear against each other and although the result of this game will have nothing to do with the ownership of first place, it may mean quite a lot by the end of the season.

Singers now have a substantial lead, having won eight games and lost one, while Olivers have won four and lost five. Capt. Touhey's Olivers handed the only defeat of the season to Singers and this in one of the best games ever seen in the factory league on the Oliver side with the possible exception of the Ball Band-Singer game last Saturday at Springbrook which was taken by the Champs by the count of one to nothing.

The Oliver crew got away to a bad start this year and lost five straight games before the team was on its feet. Since that time the Playboys have been going at a fast clip and have taken the last four contests. Another win from the Singers on the part of the climbing Olivers would tighten up the race a little, although it will take some fancy playing by all of the clubs in the circuit to pull the Champs out of first position, a place they have held for three seasons.

Moore probably will be the Oliver selection for the mound, for it was he who did the big work against Singers in the last game between the two. He let his former teammates down with four scattered raps and fanned 10 of the boys. He walked four. In all probability Martin will work for Singers in an effort to retrieve the defeat of July 3. Up to that Martin had won a majority of the Singer games.

Studebakers were scheduled to meet the Ball Bands at Springbrook park, but the contest was postponed, owing to the Studebaker picnic at Paw Paw lake. The Mishawakas are tied with Olivers for second and a win for them and a loss for Olivers would have shoved them into second without dispute. Studebakers also would have an incentive to win, for they are now occupying the cellar.

SIGN U.M.P.S.

CHICAGO, July 22.—The name of John Mullen was affixed today to a contract for his services as umpire for the Federal league.

Pres't Gilmore's action in signing the former international league and American association umpire was taken to mean that one or two of his present staff will be let out. Mullen started this season as an umpire in the Western league.

FOUR GOLFERS IN BATTLE FOR THE HONOR OF CHAMP

By Jack Neville.
CLEVELAND, Ohio, July 22.—Four golfers remain to fight for the western amateur championship. They are D. E. Sawyer of Wheaton, Chicago; Chick Evans of Edgewater, Chicago; H. P. Bingham of Mayfield, Cleveland, and James Standish, Jr. of Detroit Country club, Detroit. From a match standpoint, today's games were the least interesting of the week's play.

Chick Evans won from Guy A. Miller by a score of 10 up and 2 to play. The winner was practically decided when the first few holes were played. Evans was playing in his true western form today, leaving little to be improved upon. His driving is lengthening out apparently a few yards as each round of the tournament passes into history. So it looks as if the record of winning the western championship four times, set up by Chandler Egan, is likely to be duplicated. If Chick pulls through the present tournament it will be his fourth win and second consecutive victory. The one man to stop him seems to be Ned Sawyer, who very easily disposed of me today by a score in double figures, 10 up and 9 to play. When I am defeated, I have a habit of losing by a very decisive figure, and it certainly was one-sided today.

The first nine holes of the match were a struggle, but at the ninth and from there on it was comparatively even. I happened to strike Ned Sawyer on one of his brilliant streaks. He was out in 34, which is three under a par. He had 18 holes total, totaling 72 and he was 10 up at the noon session. My card read 83, a poor score for championship golf.

The afternoon round, or rather half a round, was an even contest. Sawyer was out in 38, giving me a few possible chances, but I could not decrease his lead.

James Standish, Jr. defeated E. Hoover Bankard of Midouhan by a score of 6 and 4. The Detroit golfer had the match fairly well in hand all the way. He was 2 up at the first 18 holes, and in the afternoon played just inside. Bankard picking up a hole here and there. His 18 holes totaled 72 and he was 10 up at the noon session. My card read 83, a poor score for championship golf.

The afternoon round, or rather half a round, was an even contest. Sawyer was out in 38, giving me a few possible chances, but I could not decrease his lead.

H. B. Bingham and Dewitt Balch had the closest match of the day and that was not thrilling. Bingham, the one Cleveland representative remaining, won by a margin of 4 and 3 to play. He meets tomorrow, and is not conceded a very bright chance.

The match between Sawyer and Evans tomorrow should produce the best golf of the tournament, as both are playing at the top of their games. Evans has defeated Sawyer five times by a score of 2 and 1. Sawyer nearly always seems to bring out Chick's best game. It would not be surprising if Sawyer turned the tables tomorrow, as a review of his scoring for the last four rounds will show. He has played a 72, 74, 72, 72, which is an average of just a stroke and a half above the record of the course.

BERT BRODER SIGNS WITH MOON'S DEFENDERS

Former Hoosier Returns to City and Takes Berth With Independents Who Play Niles Sunday.

South Bend's chances for winning the second game of the series from Niles went soaring Friday when Bert Broder, the idol of the Southern Michigan fans, and for two years the mainstay of Ed Smith's team, signed with Mr. Moon's Independents. Bert will hold down one of the gardens in all probability.

It was learned Friday that one of Niles' most valuable men would be absent from the battle Sunday, Eddie Diem has gone to Buffalo, N. Y., where he has accepted a berth on an independent team. Diem's departure will apparently weaken the chances of Niles, but "Goat" Anderson says he will place in Diem's position a new man on whom he has had his eye for quite a while.

That the name of Broder will make the line-up of the Benders look much more formidable than it did last Sunday goes without saying. Bert led Niles' team last year in batting and this year as well as all other times plugs the pill for enough safeties to keep his average around the .300 mark.

Walter House is another valuable man who will appear in the game with the Benders Sunday, for the first time. That House will play with the Independents Benders was announced some time ago as probable, but now there is no question about it. Fisher, the gifted slab artist, who has hitherto been laid up this season with a bad ankle, is still a possibility as a twirler for the Benders, but just who will mount the slab for the South Bend boys is as yet not definitely determined.

Tires That Fell Looked Like Goodyears at the Start

Don't trust looks in buying tires. Great tires and skimpy tires, in plain treads, look about alike. The vast differences are hidden.

The Goodyear extras on our output this year will cost us $1,635,000. That's for five great features used by no one else, and for other features commonly employed. Yet you cannot see them.

In addition, it costs us $1,000,000 to make our All-Weather tread double-thick. That means deep, enduring grips. Yet dozens of regular treads, with shallow designs, pass for anti-slides.

Snap Judgment Don't buy a tire on somebody's snap judgment. He may have had rare luck. Better trust the seasoned judgment of motorists in general. Goodyear tires outsell any other after 15 years. And this year their goodrepute is adding 50% to our users.

Goodyear values are impossible without the Goodyear output. Despite our extras, our price reductions in two years have totaled 45%. This year's price reduction saves our users about $5,000,000.

Every Goodyear extra means more mileage on the average. It means less trouble, less expense to you, else we would omit it. But you cannot get those features without buying Goodyear tires. Five of them are found in Goodyears. Any dealer will supply you.
