BUSINESS CONDITIONS MOST SATISFACTORY

Monthly Report by Mishawaka
Trust and Savings Co. Reviews Situation.

The monthly business letter issued by the Mishawaka Trust & Savings Co. came off the press Thursday and deals with the general business conditions throughout the country. The outlook for crops, it states, is satisfactory beyond all criticism, and factories, mines, fisheries and other sources of new wealth are contributing actively to the upbuilding of the country's resources. Among other things the report says:

"Statistics are proverbially dry, but the figures issued by the department of agriculture estimating the condition of the crops on July 1 read more like romance than plain fact. Particularly at the present time, when so much of the wealth of the world is being destroyed, it is gratifying to realize that this country is contributing actively to replace what is being lost. The estimate for wheat is placed at 953,000,000 bushels, with a strong likelihood of this being increased to reach the billion mark. Corn, our greatest crop, should yield 2,814,000,000 bushels as compared with 2,672,804,000 bushels harvested last year. Other crops—oats, barley, rye, potatoes, tobacco—all show relatively the same wonderful figures. Furthermore, we now know that the 1914 cotton crop was the largest ever produced, amounting to 16,134,950 pounds and exceeding by 412,329 bales the previous record crop of 1911.

"One of the interesting results of the war is the transformation that has taken place in American shipbuilding. A year ago there were hardly half a dozen ships being built in this country with an aggregate tonnage of between 450,000 and 500,000 tons. American shipyards on both coasts as well as on the great lakes are booked more than a year ahead and with a little sensible legislation there is no reason why the great industry of shipbuilding should not once more take its place among our great industrial resources.

"In estimating the addition to the wealth of this country caused by the war, tourist traffic is frequently alluded to, though one seldom sees any actual figures on the subject. Careful estimates indicate that from the beginning of spring until the end of September this country will save for itself in tourist expenses no less than $200,000,000. Steamship agencies and others who have to do with Americans traveling abroad, report that under normal conditions at least 600,000 people would have left this country for Europe and that each of these people would have spent an average of $500, figuring on a decidedly conservative basis. The result of the cutting off of this immense foreign travel is being felt throughout the United States at every seashore, lake side and mountain resort. Some of the money will naturally remain unspent on holiday travel but it will find its way into the banks or into the hands of tradesmen. Unquestionably, automobile makers will profit immensely from the loss of many a European trip. All through the nation this saved money will circulate and the so-called "invisible balance of trade" against us will be reduced materially by the keeping at home of all this tourist money.

"Our balance of trade continues to pile up rapidly and by this time is well up to the billion dollar mark. The foreign exchange markets are strongly in our favor, gold keeps on moving in this direction and merchandise exports are placing the country in a position of strength never before occupied in relation to foreign trade."

MAYOR GAYLOR REVOKES KRONWITTER LICENSE

South Wells st. Saloon Must Close Doors at 11 O'clock
Saturday Night.

At the hour before midnight Saturday next, the lights will be snuffed out, the blinds drawn, keg connections broken and the west end, and, incidentally, Mishawaka, will be minus one saloon. This was the decision of Mayor Gaylor Thursday following the trial of John Kronwitter, owner of a barroom on S. Wells st., and charged by the chief of police of four violations of the state liquor laws on four different dates. Mayor Gaylor made a brief statement before announcing his decision, stating that a general warning had been issued at a called meeting of all the saloonkeepers of the city in the council chambers at the beginning of the present administration, that no liquor violations would be permitted inside the boundaries during the four years.

Thursday's case was the second to come before the mayor since taking office. The first case was that of De Meester, also located on S. Wells st., and was disposed of by a 60-day suspension of license during which the saloon was closed. De Meester is now operating.

Monday, August 9, will afford all shoppers an unprecedented opportunity of saving money. Watch the Dollar Day advertisements in this page.
