CHILD STEALING CHARGE AGAINST OLIVER BROWN

Man Who Kidnaped Donald Edsall Is Sent to the Circuit Court.

The man who kidnaped Donald Edsall from Mishawaka Thursday night appeared before Judge Feig in the city court Friday morning and gave his name as Oliver Brown. He is apparently about 25 years old. He told the court that he had been working on a mint farm. As the circumstances connected with the kidnaping of the boy were most suspicious the judge bound Brown over to the circuit court under a bond of $500 on a charge of child stealing. He was taken to the county jail during the forenoon.

When searched at the police station the prisoner had a long piece of rope in his possession and this fact is considered of much importance by the authorities. When the boy's father and Detective Weaver were on the way to hunt Brown, they stopped the car coming back to Mishawaka on which he and the boy had been passengers. From the conductor they learned that the couple had gotten off at station six, and at this point the searchers left the car. No sooner had they alighted than they found the man and boy standing near the platform. Brown was arrested and brought back to Mishawaka in the early hours of the morning, while the boy was restored to his parents.

It seems, according to the boy's father, that Brown promised Donald a baseball suit if he would leave the

FRED WADNER RETIRES AS MEMBER OF BOARD

School Trustees Reorganize—Have Accomplished Much During Year.

The re-organization of the Mishawaka school board of trustees took place at a meeting of the board Thursday night in the offices of Supt. J. F. Nuner, in the high school building. Fred Wadner, who has served as a member of the board for several years, retired and the vacancy is filled by the appointment of George C. Shobe, fourth st. encountered young Edsall. It is not known what proposition he made the boy, but in any case he took him along to the interurban car station, half a block away, and inquired of the ticket clerk as to the time the next car was due for Elkhart. He was told 9:30. The two then walked around the front of the station until the car arrived when they boarded it without purchasing tickets.

A suspicious feature of the case is that the kidnaper is said to have had two accomplices who kept watch on Main st. near Fourth, until the car drove in sight when they also boarded it as it was about to pull out.

When he learned that the Edsall boy had been taken away by strangers, Neice ran to the home of Edsall and informed his parents of what had happened. The boy's father was in bed, but immediately dressed and came down to the police station. Detective John M. Weaver of the local force was assigned the case and in company with the boy's father left on the 10:20 car for Elkhart with the hope of getting a clue to the boy.

AGED RESIDENT OF MISHAWAKA IS DEAD

Arthur Householder Had Lived Here Since 1871—Served as Constable.

Arthur E. Householder, one of this city for the past 40 years, died Friday morning at 3:30 o'clock at the home of his son, Claude Householder, of 617 N. Sarah st., after a several weeks' illness of complications.

Mr. Householder was born in Pemberville, Wood county, Ohio, Aug. 22, 1837, and would have been 78 years of age had he lived this month through. Mr. Householder came to Mishawaka in 1871. For several years he served as constable and about 13 years ago he was seriously wounded while attempting to arrest a man named Apperson near the Hen Island dam. Apperson was later arrested and sent to the penitentiary.

He was a civil war veteran and enlisted the first time in November, 1861, as a private in the 72d Ohio infantry. He was wounded in the battle of Shiloh in the spring of the following year. In the fall of '62 he re-enlisted under an assumed name in the 10th Ohio cavalry and was twice rewarded for bravery.

He was married to Margaret Smyser in Mishawaka in 1875.

He is survived by one son, Claude, at whose home he died, one step-son, William Smyser, who resides in Michigan, and one brother, Adam Householder of Johnson county, Kansas. One sister, Mrs. Enos E. Long, died about three months ago.

The funeral will be held from the residence Sunday afternoon at 2:30 o'clock. Burial will be in the city cemetery.

ENTHUSIASM GROWS AS DOLLAR DAY APPROACHES

Monday Next Will be Biggest Shopping Event Ever Celebrated in City.

The near approach of Dollar day which comes Monday next, is creating no end of enthusiasm among the shoppers and bargain hunters throughout the city. Those live and enterprising merchants who will observe the occasion are now busily at work going over their stocks and selecting such articles as will appeal to those with a dollar to spend to good advantage. This will not be a sale at which old and shop-worn goods will be offered to the public, as the store keepers realize that the best way to get the good will and patronage of the public is to give them the best in values there is to be had, so as to insure further patronage. A careful study of the advertisements through the eight-page Mishawaka section of The News-Times, Sunday morning, will well prepare those in search of genuine bargains, and will enable them to study over the items offered at one dollar, and make their selections before coming down town Monday morning. Sunday's paper, which practically goes into every home in Mishawaka and River Park, will lay before its readers a complete list of what may be expected from those merchants who will celebrate the day, and will contain more advertisements than has ever appeared in any newspaper in this city. This issue of The News-Times will also have many interesting local features which will make it well worth sending away to friends, or keeping it for a ready reference of Mishawaka's advertisers.

FORMER RESIDENTS OF CITY SAFE IN ERIE

Word has been received in this city stating that Mr. and Mrs. Ray Colburn passed through the flood at Erie, Pa., safely.

Mr. and Mrs. Colburn were on State street when the flood came and experienced many difficulties in making their escape. They write that "the loss of life as a result of the flood is about 35, the property loss and damage confirms early estimates of between $3,000,000 and $5,000,000. Hurried surveys of the effect of the flood on manufacturing plants in its path have shown a total of more than a million dollars to that industry alone."

MORE TRAFFIC RULES NEEDED, SAYS BOARD

Similar to those when the ordinance was drawn. We must have more men." Chief Kerr advocated the arrest and prosecution of every violator of the traffic ordinance, however slight his violation might be.

"Reports have come to this board and to the press of the city that South Bend is famed over the state for the fact that every autoist who comes here is arrested," he said. "That is true, but it is likewise true of other large cities of the state. South Bend started the custom of arresting every violator of its traffic ordinance, regardless of his position or his real estate. It is a measure in the nature of an abating the practice of autoists from other states coming here with improper licenses."

"However, we are not alone in this land. Fort Wayne and Elkhart, for example, in a satisfactory manner, as has Laporte and Indianapolis. In the latter city the law is even more strict than it is here, and the arrests are proportionately made. The state is awakening to the fact that traffic regulation, especially where it concerns motor vehicles, is a problem, and one that is growing with each year of laxity."

"In Laporte for several miles into the country, the city has policed its macadamized roads. A rigid speed limit has been set and violators are prosecuted to the full extent of the law."

The chief admitted that the local force was much too small to compete with the problem adequately.

Mr. Cole suggested that a license fee be collected from the driver of every motor vehicle, and the proceeds used to appoint two more men to the police department. This move has been suggested in Detroit at a late meeting of the Safety First federation, and has been received with favor by officials in that city.

Wants Low Speed Limit.
Mr. Cole also suggested that persons under the age of 18 years be restrained from operating motor vehicles, and also to prevent girls and women from driving cars in the central business district. He suggested that a speed limit of 25 miles an hour, governing automobiles turning from one street into another.
