

TELEPHONES WILL BE POLICE AID

Description of Criminals to be Sent Broadcast as Soon as Deed is Committed.

NEW YORK, Aug. 27. — Police Commissioner Woods and the local telephone company have just cooked up a brilliant little scheme to net criminals who get away from the scene of their crime but whose identity or personal appearance is known a few minutes after the crime is committed.

To show how the system will work, take the case of the recent murder of a wealthy Flatbush woman. She was beaten to death by a man servant who stole her jewelry and left the house with two packages. A few seconds later a woman friend of the victim, on her way to the house, noticed the escaping murderer but did not guess his frightful deed.

Upon the arrival at her friend's home she found the dead body and a few minutes later all the facts, with a full description of the fugitive were in the hands of the police.

Now, under the new system, the police would immediately give the description to the telephone company and the telephone company would do the rest. Through its wonderful network of lines it would notify every chief of police, sheriff, constable and railroad station agent within a radius of 100 miles of the point where the crime was committed.

The fleeing murderer would not dare to board a trolley car or an elevated train, he would fear to use the subway or the steam railroads—for everywhere he would know exact details of his looks and clothes had gone before him.

He could only lurk near the scene of the crime or get as far away as his legs could carry him. He might use a horse or automobile, but he would not dare to cross a ferry or an important bridge. He would have to hide in the neighborhood of his crime and here the people would be interested in the case and undoubtedly suspect him.

As it turned out in the Flatbush murder, the police without the cooperation of the telephone company took two hours to notify important points. In these precious two hours, the fugitive slipped through the cordon. He made his way to Philadelphia by train—something he would have only the ghost of a chance of accomplishing now.

Skyscraper Jail For Women. Father Kniekerbocker is interested in hearing that Uncle Sam is going in for skyscraper post offices to save money. Father Knick owns several fine buildings and believes in them. He is just about to erect another, a 16 story building in W. Thirtieth st., which will be a combination "de luxe" for women and court house.

From a distance the new jail will be a thing of beauty. The architect's sketch shows its graceful lines, in the Renaissance style, while the facade will be of brick, limestone and terra cotta.

The jail will be in the upper part of the building, and the court rooms will occupy the second and third floors. There is to be a chamber on the fifteenth floor and a hospital ward and kitchen on the top floor. Every floor from the sixth to the fourteenth will have an open air loggia. There will be two dining rooms. The cost is $365,000.

Sunday "Dead" in New York. A leading hotel man informs me that Sunday from the best has grown to be the worst day in the week for big New York hoteliers. This is true not only in summer, but throughout the year.

"There are at least three causes," he said. "First, the automobiles; second, the spread of the chicken that one end of the week should be for play for all except idiots; and third, the love of golf."

"In the old days business travelers loafed around the hotel Sunday, not doing much of anything except perhaps play cards, but keeping their expenditure in the hotel."

"Today these commercial travelers arrange a trip out of town, but probably some friend invites him to a trip in an automobile."

"Ten or 20 years ago, too, there was a big crowd staying in New York over Sundays which looked forward to hearing the famous clergymen of the city preach. This moving force is sadly diminished. In summer, too, the clergyman is away for longer periods than in the old days—perhaps he plays golf. I don't know."

"Indeed Sunday for the city American has become just as much of a holiday as it is in Paris and Buenos Ayres, even if we don't tolerate cock fights and horse races yet."

THREE MEN DROWNED

Carnival Boat Swamps on Charles River After Review.

WALTHAM, Mass., Aug. 27.—Three men were drowned Thursday night as the result of the swamping of a float which had taken part in a carnival on the Charles river, two hours after it had passed in review before the state executives who are attending the annual conference of governors in Boston.

The lives of 20 other persons were imperiled in the accident to his float and in the capsizing of another.

Soap Is Bad For the Hair

Soap should be used very sparingly, if at all, if you want to keep your hair looking its best. Most soaps and prepared shampoos contain too much alkali. This dries the scalp, makes the hair brittle, and ruins it.

The best thing for steady use is just ordinary mulsumed coconut oil (which is pure and greaseless), and is better than soap or anything else you can use.

Fairly Good Tires vs. Extra Good Tires. A Mountain Lies Between Them. These are facts you should know. Any "fairly good" tire lacks at least five features found in Good-year only. And it probably lacks some others. It lacks them because we control them, or because of their extra cost.

These exclusive features, plus other extras rarely found in tires, cost us this year $1,635,000. Just this year's improvements—added rubber and added size—will cost us $500,000. In addition to all these, it costs us $1,000,000 on this year's output.

Remember these things when you next buy tires. The Good-year place—the top place in Tiredom—is not an accident. It has come through giving extras which you need, and savings you should share. Let Good-years show you their supremacy. Make a comparison this summer.
