

MOOSE TO HAVE FINE NEW HOME AT ELKHART

Improvements Totalling $15,000 to be Made on Old Opera House.

ELKHART, Sept. 25.—As the result of negotiations consummated today between the trustees of the John Cook estate and the Elkhart lodge of Moose the building at 125-127 S. Main st.—the former Brodriek opera house—will be remodeled, and the Moose will have a fine new lodge home on the second and third floors.

The specifications as prepared by A. H. Ellwood & Son call for improvements costing nearly $15,000 and include in addition to the lodge quarters an entire new front of brown faced brick, with stone trimmings. The store room floors will be lowered to the level of the sidewalk and given modern reinforced concrete floors. Be- cause external balconies will be built on both the second and third floors.

The plans as approved by the lodge building committee last night call for a reading room, card room, billiard room and spacious lounge room on the second floor. A large auditorium, 46x65 feet, retiring rooms and apartments for the Junior Order of Moose will be located on the third floor, also space will be reserved on this floor for shower baths.

The second floor will be finished in red oak and the third floor in white enamel. The hallway and store entrances will be of ornamental tiling and all ceilings will be wainscotted. George C. Kistner, who was awarded the contract for the erection of the building, said Friday that work would be started on the improvement within a few days. The Moose lodge has been assured that it can occupy the new quarters shortly after Nov. 1. The lodge's present quarters over 323-325 S. Main st. will be occupied by the carpet, rug and drapery departments of the Ziesel Bros.' big store.

The lodge building committee is composed of the officers as follows: Supreme deputy, C. A. Lee; president, George L. Wisler; dictator, P. L. Metzger; vice-dictator, Guy H. Earle; prelate, Joseph Bandel; secretary, E. M. T. Nallinger; treasurer, B. I. Bixler; trustees, C. W. Parritt, J. S. Fischer, Thos. H. Hough, J. H. Howard, Wilbert Hackman; outer guard, Harry Levine.

Mrs. Susan M. Kendrick, 89 years old, 908 Strong av., is dead. Death was caused by paralysis, of which she had suffered three strokes. The patient had been unconscious for two weeks with the exception of a few minutes last Friday.

Funeral services will be held at the home at 2 o'clock Sunday. Burial will be in Grace Lawn cemetery.

Mrs. Kendrick was born in Hoosick, Herkimer county, New York, on Feb. 2, 1826. Before coming to Elkhart in 1889, Mrs. Kendrick had lived at Keene, N. H., and Watertown, S. D. She descended from New England stock, her grandfather, Rev. Edmund Foster, being known as one of the "fighting parsons" of the revolutionary war. On the morning of the battle of Lexington he dismissed his congregation, seized his musket and, calling his parishioners to follow him, hurried to the scene of the battle.

Mrs. Kendrick's husband, Charles H. Kendrick, who died here on March 11, 1894, was for half a century in the employ of the New York Central Railroad Co. He was born on March 24, 1823.

A son, Edmund N. Kendrick and wife, and two daughters, Helen and Ruth Kendrick, all of this city, are the only immediate survivors of Mrs. Kendrick.

Jesse A. Berlin died at his home, 318 S. Riverside dr., Thursday. Death was due to a complication of diseases. Mr. Berlin, who had been unable to lie down for weeks, died in a chair just after having addressed a few incoherent words to his mother.

Funeral services, conducted by Rev. Dr. John C. White of Trinity Methodist church, will be held at the home at 2:30 o'clock Sunday. Burial will be in Grace Lawn cemetery.

Mr. Berlin, who was born at Bluffton, Feb. 2, 1836, had lived in Elkhart 19 years, coming here from Ligonier.

Surviving Mr. Berlin are his wife, Jennie Berlin; a son, Lawrence K. Berlin; a daughter, Lulu Desa Berlin; his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Leo Berlin, and two brothers, C. C. Berlin of this city and V. V. Berlin of Clintonville, Wis.

The 29th annual meeting of the Elkhart county organization of the Woman's Christian Temperance union adjourned Friday afternoon with the election of the following officers:

President, Mrs. Nora Nowells of Millersburg, re-elected for the third time.

Vice-president, Mrs. Pearl Shady of Elkhart.

Corresponding secretary, Mrs. Iva Wood Parker of Elkhart.

Recording secretary, Mrs. Mark Morris of Elkhart.

Treasurer, Mrs. Milton Wertz of Elkhart.

Resolutions were adopted urging an eight-hour working day for women and a more strict censorship of moving picture shows.

Simon P. Withers of Danville, Ill., formerly an Elkhart resident while employed as a Lake Shore engineer, died at the home of a sister, Mrs. E. C. Arms of Sioux Falls. News of the death was received by his sister, Mrs. Adam M. Smith of 1014 South

Wow! Sends 8 Sticks Dynamite By Parcel Post

NEW YORK, Sept. 25.—Eight sticks of dynamite were found in the mail here Friday after having travelled by parcel post all the way from California. They had met with frequent bumps and had been slid through the big mail chute at Grand Central station. Inspector of Combustibles Owen Egan says that all that prevented an explosion was the fact that the sticks were securely tied in canvas bags and paper.

BRITISH LINER SUNK BY GERMAN SUBMARINE

Part of Crew of Chancelor Reported Missing Including American Marconi Operator.

LONDON, Sept. 25.—The Harrison liner Chancelor, a British ship, has been sunk by a German submarine. Part of the crew is reported missing, among them G. W. King of New Orleans, an American, who was assistant Marconi operator on the liner.

The captain and 22 members of the crew have been landed at Queens- town and 11 others at Kinsail.

After a 78-mile race the captain saw that escape was impossible and stopped his ship. He and the crew were given 10 minutes to take to the boats. The ship was then sent to the bottom.

The men in the small boats suffered terribly. A cold wind and lashing rain swept them all night and they had nothing to eat or drink until picked up by rescue vessels this morning. Other rescue vessels are searching for the missing men.

SAYS OVER 450,000 ARMENIANS PUT TO DEATH

Representative in Paris Writes Massacres of Abdul Hamid Insignificant in Comparison.

NEW YORK, Sept. 25.—More than 450,000 Armenians have been put to death and 600,000 rendered homeless or exiled by the Turks, according to information given out here Friday by Dr. M. Simbad Gabriel, president of the Armenian General Progressive association of the United States.

Dr. Gabriel gave out copies of letters received from Nubar Pasha, diplomatic representative in Paris of the Katholikos, or head of the Armenian church, in which the figures were given.

"The great massacres of Abdul Hamid seem insignificant compared to the recent atrocities," wrote Nubar Pasha. "What has occurred within a few months in Cilicia and Armenia is almost unbelievable."

Theaters

AT THE OLIVER.

The last performances of the splendid comedy drama, "The Call of the Pines," will be given by the Oliver Drama players at the Oliver theater today, a matinee at 2:30 at which the children are especially invited, and again at night. The play can be honestly recommended as one that will entirely please the average theatergoer, as it contains a bit of everything to do this—a strong story, good comedy, pretty scenery, and just a touch of polite melodrama. The players are all of them seen to advantage in the parts entrusted to them and a conscientious production of a good play is the result.

Starting at the matinee Sunday and continuing for the first half of the week, the Olivers will make a pretentious offering in George Broadhurst's vital and vivid drama, "Today," seen here last winter at the Oliver at $2 prices. Those who saw the play at that time will remember it as a play of thrills with a terrific climax—in fact, it was one of the big sensations of the last theatrical season at the Oliver. It is not a white slave drama; it is not a redlight drama; nor is it a drama of the underworld; but it is a play of thrills with a theme of national importance—the folly of the present day craze for keeping up appearances and the attendant dangers. To what extent women will go to maintain the pace set by others of their sex is graphically and truthfully portrayed by this wonderful play.

Seat reservations for the four night performances of "Today" are very heavy and those wanting good seats are advised to order them early. Matinees will be given Sunday and Tuesday afternoons.

THE AUDITORIUM.

Auditorium offerings for today are, "The Offending Kiss," a two part Vitagraph drama; "The Wanderer," a Biograph re-issue directed by David W. Griffith and featuring the stellar player, Henry P. Walthall; "The Quarrel," a Vitagraph comedy; the Sells weekly and "The Fire Escape," a comedy with Lillian Walker in the lead. On Sunday's bill is "The Whirlpool," a three act Essanay full of emotional climaxes and intense situations. A neglected wife thinks she is engaging in a harmless friendship only to wake up to the terrible consequences of her action. "Nearly a Bride," a Kalem comedy; "Cartoons on the Beach," an Edison comedy, and "Nerve of Steel," featuring Helen Holmes, are also on the bill.

AT THE COLONIAL. "Cora" is the title of B. A. Rolfe's latest pictorial production recently released through the Metro Pictures corporation and which will be seen at the Colonial today.

"The title role is acted by Emily Stevens, a niece of Mrs. Fiske, who has played with her aunt for a period of eight years. Miss Stevens shows on the screen her temperamental inheritance and is seen in a variety of scenes and situations which exploit her as an emotional and dramatic actress of power. The screen play is an intensely interesting elaboration of the play of the same name by Fred De Gresnac. Miss Stevens was last seen as star of the stage play "Today."

Mental and physical suffering play more than an incidental part in the unfolding of the story of the screen drama, "Cora," recently released by B. A. Rolfe through the Metro Pictures corporation, in which Emily Stevens is seen in the title role, "Cora" will be disclosed for the first time here at the Colonial today. It is in five parts and 209 scenes. Miss Stevens is a niece of Mrs. Fiske and an actress of unusual discernment, good looks, sympathetic interpretation and emotional and dramatic strength.

"Cora" is a five-act drama founded on the play of the same name by B. A. Rolfe and released through the Metro Pictures corporation. It will be the feature picture at the Colonial today. The title role is enacted by Emily Stevens, who has supported many of the foremost American and English stars, and herself was a star in the recent production in New York of the sensational play "Today." This being a "name" play, the title, therefore, gives no intimation of the story, which, however, tells of the trials and tribulations of a young girl reduced to poverty, who rises above them through sheer force of character and talent, to a position of prominence in the operative world. Her progress is made not without much that appeals to the emotions and sentiments of picture fans, by reason of the existence of a life fraught with innumerable difficulties.

AT THE INDIANA.

Beverly Bayne, Essanay's popular leading lady, is featured at the Indiana today in a delightful drama, "Eyes That See Not," given in three parts. Wally Van and Nita Frazer are in a Vitagraph comedy, "Cutey Fortune Hunting," and there is a good Edison drama, "The Bedouin's Sacrifice."

Tomorrow, Vera Fuller Mellish, the Broadway favorite, has the leading part in a three-reel Kalem, "The Bondwoman." G. M. Anderson is in "Broncho Billy's Protege" and funny Billy Reeves will keep the audience in a roar of laughter in "Billy's Debut." Monday the feature is "His Father's Rifle," a three reel Selig subject.

AT THE ORPHEUM.

The bill that finishes the week at the Orpheum tonight is well arranged and furnishes first class entertainment. Charley Grapewin and Anna Chase present one of the comedy hits of the season in a lively sketch of home life called, "Poughkeepsie." Both players are capable and there is plenty of material for laughs in the sketch. Michael Emmett and a comely girl sing Irish songs in an appropriate setting. Frank Terry an English comedian offers a varied program of songs and recitations. The Four Entertainers are good singers and the Riads close the show with a novelty ring and juggling act.

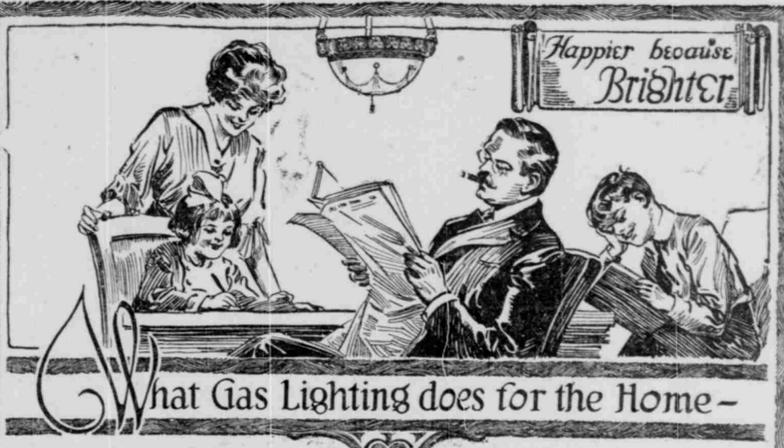

On Sunday Adelaide Herrmann, the famous illusionist, heads the new bill with an elaborate full stage magical act.

AT THE LASALLE.

Edmund Breeze in "The Master Mind" is the feature picture at the LaSalle today. Mr. Breeze will be remembered as a sterling dramatic actor who has appeared in such successful productions as "The Lion and the Mouse," "The Third Degree" and "The Master Mind." It is a film version of this latter play that he will be seen in today. The original cast and a fine scenic production add to the interest of this modern mystery play.

On Sunday Florence LaBadie returns as the charming heroine of "Mons. Leque," a standard detective play and a famous character of French fiction. William Morris, a notable actor also has a prominent part.
