ASSIGN WORK FOR GOOD WILL WEEK

District Workers Highly Enthusiastic in Demand for Canvassing Cards.

Final arrangements for the canvassing of the city during Good Will week were made Thursday night at a well attended and enthusiastic meeting of the members of the Federation for Social Service. The captains with five or more members of each of the 25 committees which will canvass the city were present at this meeting. The territory to be canvassed was apportioned among these committees.

Expect Big Results.

It was the general opinion among those present at the meeting that the results from Good Will week this year would be considerably greater than last year when the first canvass was made.

Because of the fact several of the men who were to have spoken from the Good Will publicity wagons Thursday night were members of committees and found it necessary to be present at the meeting, the number of street meetings scheduled was cut down. One auto, however, made stops at Colfax and Michigan, Madison and Michigan, and Wayne and Michigan. The inclement weather interfered somewhat with the attendance at these meetings, but nevertheless they were better attended than the meetings of the two previous nights. The speakers were J. Q. Ames, Edward Towney and J. B. Wright. Capt. Brooks of the Salvation Army furnished the music.

Two autos will be sent out tonight and Saturday night. A whirlwind finish to the publicity campaign will be made Sunday when a large number of speakers in two autos will be kept busy both afternoon and evening. Stops will be made at various corners several times and not only the downtown district but the east, south and west sides will be visited.

STOPS ANY COLD IN A FEW HOURS

"Pape's Cold Compound" opens clogged nose and head and ends grippe.

Relief comes instantly. A dose taken every two hours until three doses are taken will end grippe misery and break up a severe cold either in the head, chest, body or limbs.

It promptly opens clogged-up nostrils and air passages in nose running, relieves sick headache, dullness, feverishness, sore throat, sneezing, soreness and stiffness.

Don't stay stuffed-up! Quit blowing and snuffing! Ease your throbbing head! Nothing like in the world gives such prompt relief as "Pape's Cold Compound," which costs only 25 cents at any drug store. It acts without assistance, tastes nice, causes no inconvenience. Be sure you get the genuine. —Adv.

Good Will Week—Why It's Needed

Helping Hand is Lent Needy of City by Associated Charities.

The statistics of the report of the Associated Charities have a lesson to teach. They lead you to realize that there is a hurtful kind of benevolence as well as a helpful kind.

Anything which prevents self-help where self-help is possible is not helpful but hurtful. Anything which makes it profitable and pleasant for a person able to work to abstain from working is not helpful but hurtful.

The only real help is the help that helps people help themselves. Our customary "hand-outs" from beggars and hobos are not helpful but the reverse of helpful. Do you see that such "hand-outs" encourage beggary and hoboism?

What is the right way to help? To provide us with the answer to this question is the purpose of the Associated Charities. The prime object of the Associated Charities is not to give money or food or clothes or fuel to needy people. The prime object is to illuminate the minds of those who are in need and also the minds of those who are able and willing to relieve the need. The object is to teach the right way of doing things and to caution against the wrong way. Is not this a worthy object and a necessary one?

The lines of work are essentially educational and include: The investigation of family and community conditions and needs; the registration of the facts learned in investigation, and of the services rendered; education—informing the public of the things learned in investigation and chronicled in the records; the enlisting and training volunteer personal service; the securing of cooperation of all agencies and individuals caring for the poor; and the South Bend provident fund.

Getting at facts and then after getting at the facts, bringing home those facts to the public; imparting, through personal service, higher ideas and ideals to those who, from lack of such ideas and ideals, are down in the depths; inculcating through the Provident fund, habits of thrift. This provident fund is doing much for the generation that is now having its school days. Leaving aside all higher moral considerations, who can estimate the money value alone of that which has been imparted when habits of thrift have been imparted.

Many public meetings have been held. Do you realize that these public meetings mean? Perhaps you do not. Perhaps you are one of the 65,000 people—more or less—living in South Bend who never pay any attention to these public meetings, who are never present at these meetings and never stop to give them as much as a thought. You are missing something of great value.

These public meetings are necessary in order to create public opinion. Public opinion is necessary in order to have the law enacted and enforced, not to mention the moral outlook needed in order that child labor and bad housing and bad schooling and bad factory conditions and bad government and bad dieting and bad sanitation might be abolished and the other bad things which are the cause of ignorance, poverty and crime.

The treasurer's report gives only a scant idea of the disbursements of the Associated Charities. The enormous gains which the future will reap if we properly enlighten the public opinion of today on something that the treasurer's report can not take into account. Not 3,000 but 3,000,000 dollars is the amount disbursed to the extent that the public opinion which the Associated Charities seeks to foster can be brought to maturity and effectiveness.

The council meetings, to which everyone is welcome, have a similar educational purpose. They are a kind of social clinic. There are presented in the council meetings, actual cases requiring assistance. That is where one learns from demonstration how much good can be acquired by attending a council session.

The extension courses approach the same questions in a large, abstract and scientific way, somewhat in the manner of sociology classes at college. If every citizen of South Bend belonged to the extension course, the day when poverty and degradation will be at an end would be brought many generations nearer. The trouble with us is our ignorance and darkness in social matters. Join an extension course and acquire knowledge and light.

As already stated the Associated Charities exists primarily to furnish sympathetic and constructive help. The relief furnished by the Associated Charities is only a temporary expedient to assuage the pang of suffering while the needy person is being gotten ready to help himself or is waiting for action by one of the allied organizations that does have the function of providing relief.

A partial list has been published of those who have availed themselves of the advice that the Associated Charities can give. Why not add yourself to this list? And why not enroll yourself in the company of active personal service volunteers? One word of counsel and sympathy often does more good than whole purses of coin.

Last year a comparatively few in South Bend contributed to the Federation for Social Service, of which the Associated Charities is a part. There ought to be in South Bend a total of 20,000 people contributing this year. Do not refrain from giving because you cannot give much. If every one in South Bend who does not give at all were to give only 25c, the fund would be increased enormously. Besides this, the giving is itself a discipline and education for the giver. It brings you into touch with what is doing. It will enable those to get hold of you who can show you opportunities for rendering service the value of which is greater than that of money.
