Mrs. Mary Miller Quilhot will attempt to recover the property out of which she charges she has been swindled by her husband John H. Quilhot, South Bend's former vice investigator, by filing suit in circuit court. The papers through which Mrs. Quilhot will attempt to recover are now being prepared by her attorneys, Ore and Geyer.

Investigation is on. Further than this information that the prosecutor and his assistants were investigating the case with reference to starting criminal action against Quilhot was given out Monday.

At the present time Mrs. Quilhot is living with her sister, Mrs. D. H. Westbury, 222 W. Lasalle av., where she is being protected. Mrs. Franklin, who planned the trip from Battle Creek to South Bend, remains with Mrs. Quilhot to protect from any attempts that her husband might make to see her.

CANVASS FOR $40,000 IS IN FULL SWING

Many times the publicity auto addressed exceedingly small audiences, but their work was always augmented by the distribution of pamphlets to the passersby. The success of this nightly publicity work was due largely to W. J. Wright, who gave practically all his time to its management. The auto trucks used during the week were furnished by the Reis Co. and the Heller Furniture Co.

It had been expected to make two trips with the publicity autos Sunday morning, but the weather prevented the night trips. During the afternoon three stops were made at Jefferson Blvd. and Michigan st. Other stops were at Chapin and Division sts., Division and Arnold, Washington and Walnut, LaSalle and Erie, and Wayne and Michigan. D. D. Nemeth addressed the crowd at Chapin and Division in the Hungarian language. The largest crowd was at Division and Arnold, but inasmuch as this was composed mainly of children, it was not taken into account in the canvass.

The 32 teams are under the charge of the following persons: J. Q. Ames, F. E. Barnes, W. A. Bertsch, G. U. Ingham, Capt. Nehemiah Brooks, John Campbell, E. P. Cass, W. O. Davies, H. W. Eldredge, Miss A. Farand, Mrs. A. F. Gammack, L. E. Greenan, David L. Guilfoyle, Mrs. David L. Guilfoyle, William Happ, L. J. Hardy, Frank E. Hering, Victor Jones, Mrs. O. E. Julian, Mrs. E. G. Ketting, Lenn J. Oare, Dr. L. L. Perry, Frank L. R. Slaughter, Perry Stanley, Mrs. R. B. Stogsdall, Herman Toulka, Mrs. D. M. E. Talbot and W. Wright, Mrs. E. Faibot and the trustees of the Federation of Social Service.

The purpose of making all the solicitations for charity in one week is to prevent the annoyance of frequent calls for money. The work of the South Bend's philanthropists is far from over. This method also saves time, expense and trouble in the matter of publicity. It also secures the participation of a large possible number of people, thus saving the few from excessive burdens, and in addition, fosters progressive methods.

The Federation of Social Service is a union of the 12 leading philanthropic associations of the city. The supervision is by a board of 15 members, which five are elected by the constituent organizations and are appointed by the Chamber of Commerce to represent the city's business men, and five are elected to represent contributors in general.

Payments for the support of these organizations may be made to the solicitors or a pledge of monthly or quarterly payments may be made. Contributors may designate which organization they may wish to contribute to, or they may leave the work of the Federation to the solicitors.

COURT DISMISSES CASE Grocery Clerk is Found Not Guilty of Provoke.

Mathias Battinger, employed at the Baumgartner grocery on W. Washington av., was not guilty of provocation when he asked "Vela Prokay" what she had done with a certain pig he alleges she took from him at the grocery in which he is a clerk. This is the opinion of City Judge Warner, who heard the case against Battinger Monday morning. Attorneys for the defendant say they will secure a warrant charging the Prokay girl with theft.

GOSHEN MAN MAY FACE SERIOUS CHARGE

Woman Who Went to Elkhart to Accept Job Causes His Arrest. ELKHART, Ind., Nov. 15.—Louis Michelsen of Goshen advertised in various newspapers for a wife. Elsie Sauerberg of Chicago advertised for a position as domestic. Now she is in jail here accused of beating a boarder and Michelsen has been arrested on a statutory charge and may be charged with white slavery also.

Elsie told the police who took her from a Chicago train here at 10:30 o'clock Saturday night that she had long her position as seamstress in Chicago recently and that the social service bureau of the Chicago civic club had advertised for a position for her. Michelsen who had been advertising for a bride, came to Goshen, Nov. 6. Now she tells the police Michelsen instructed her to pose in a boarding house in Goshen as his cousin and that there were improper relations between the two. Upon her reflection of his second advance she said Michelsen gave her $5 to pay her fare to Chicago. But the boarding house mistress asked the Elkhart police to apprehend the woman for attempted fraud. When they took her off the train she told her story and the sheriff arrested Michelsen.

DEAL STOPPED BY LATE J. P. MORGAN

Mellen Offered Half the Capital Stock of Company by C. W. Morse. NEW YORK, Nov. 15.—Charles W. Morse, when he was backing the New Haven railroad in the South steamship business, offered Charles S. Mellen one-half the capital stock of the Metropolitan Steamship Co. which Morse proposed to reorganize, if the New Haven would abandon its Boston and Merchants' line, which competed with the Metropolitan in the New England dry goods trade.

This was testified by Mellen the first thing today when the New Haven conspiracy trial was resumed before Federal Judge Hunt. Mellen said the late J. P. Morgan stopped the deal. The New Haven steamship warfare on Charles W. Morse after Theodore Roosevelt discouraged Mellen from selling out the railroad's sound line interests to Morse again was the angle pursued by the government.

BANK CLEARINGS AWAKE BIG GAINS

Principal Cities Over Country Show Increase of 67 Percent Over Last Year. By Henry Clews. NEW YORK, Nov. 15.—Bank clearings last week at principal cities aggregated $4,500,000,000, or 67 per cent more than a year ago. This is an astonishing gain. The ratio of increase was 108 per cent at New York, 39 per cent at Boston, 35 per cent at Philadelphia, 25 per cent at Chicago, 47 per cent at St. Louis and 57 per cent at New Orleans.

So much for bank clearings as evidence of trade revival. What about railroads? In the first week of October 32 roads reported earnings of $14,300,000; an increase of $2,100,000, or over 17 per cent. Previous to October, the railroads had been reporting more or less serious losses, but these diminished sharply during September and turned into steadily increasing gains in October. The latest returns are even more encouraging, many of the big trunk lines both east and west showing very handsome recoveries, particularly such roads as Burlington, New York Central, Pennsylvania, Canadian Pacific and others.

The iron trade continues to furnish examples of unprecedented activity. Since the first of September orders for over 1,000,000 tons of rails have been placed, about 550 locomotives and more than 45,000 cars. This only represents the new orders, while in the steel trade as some of the railroads are building considerable equipment on their own account, and the steel companies have received large orders for outside construction work, not to mention munition orders. The report of unfilled tonnage issued by the United States Steel corporation, which is running nearly 100 per cent capacity, surpassed all expectations; showing an increase of $7,000,000 compared with the amount of business on the books in the previous month. Prices for steel are steadily advancing, and this industry is now enjoying a general prosperity which in some respects surpasses all others on record.

The facts just cited prove industrial revival, based as stated in our previous articles upon "big crops" of orders, many of them being spread to various branches of trade. The textile industries show a healthy tone, interior merchants having been often caught with comparatively empty shelves, which are now being replenished. Labor is well employed and generally at good wages. On the Stock Exchange speculation slowed down somewhat; the rapid advance of the last few weeks having induced moderate realizing and a temporary reaction. More or less foreign selling was detected at the higher prices, and the decline was further accelerated by operations of a local bear, which the weaker share market in the war industries, from which attention has been wisely diverted to the more substantial railroad and industrial securities. Liquidation, however, is not to be feared, as the central powers have not exerted an unsettling effect. The continued withdrawal of ocean tonnage for war purposes is having a tendency to restrain exports, the result being less pressure of commercial bills and increased firmness in foreign exchange. The situation of the latter was favorably affected by the successful negotiations for establishing $700,000,000 more with New York banks.

End of Rise Not Yet. As for the future of the market, while reactions such as those witnessed during the last few days are probably necessary, the forward movement does not seem to have reached its climax. Of course, there will be an end to the present rise, but that end is not yet in sight. The emphasis of big crops has by no means spent its force; and anything but a downward movement, except unfavorable developments growing out of the war. Another very powerful factor is the inflationary effect of the new federal reserve system, both of which have laid the basis for a tremendous expansion of credit. The allies are bound to continue coming here for a large portion of their supplies, and having less merchandise to send in payment, they must continue to ship gold as freely as possible, buying on credit what they cannot pay for in merchandise. Of course, this imposes a heavy strain upon the allies which cannot last indefinitely; but their resources do not yet appear to be overstrained. Still, it is probable that there will be some big work to do in financial reorganization, and the ability of our financial leaders will be taxed quite as severely as the old abuses have been practically eliminated, and this form of political en-
