DIVORCED COUPLE ARE MARRIED AGAIN

Another Chapter Written in Romance Which Began 35 Years Ago.

Another chapter in a romance which started 35 years ago was opened Thursday morning when Alice K. O'Bier, 417 Wood st., and Samuel K. O'Bier, a former husband, were married. On Dec. 18 last, Mrs. O'Bier was granted a divorce by Judge Ford in the superior court, from the man to whom she was married today. They are now settled in the house at 417 Wood st., the same home from which, but a few weeks ago, Mr. O'Bier was restrained from entering by an order of the court.

The first chapter of the romance was written 35 years ago when the two were sweethearts and the girl's father refused to permit his daughter to marry the man of her choice. A few years after that the girl married Dr. R. H. Calvert, but the marriage proved an unhappy one and a divorce was the result. Finally, 13 years after her divorce from Dr. Calvert, Mrs. Calvert was married to her girlhood sweetheart, Samuel O'Bier.

Last winter Mrs. O'Bier petitioned the court for another divorce, alleging that her husband had failed to provide for her and that he was an habitual drunkard. She said that she feared him and that when she had refused to receive him in her home after a month's absence on his part, he had broken into the house and threatened her. An order was secured restraining the husband from again entering the house.

CLOTHING FOUND ON RIVER BANK

Note Signed "Anna W." is Discovered Near Leeper Park Boat House.

Early Thursday morning a woman's dress and hat were found upon the river bank near the north police boat house at Leeper park and upon a tree nearby was tied the following note:

"To whosoever finds this: I am tired of life. Don't try to be sorry. Because I deserve this. May kind Heaven forgive me. Anna W."

The bottom of the slip of paper was torn off, leaving but part of what was apparently an address, the letters being either "sar ave" or "son ave."

The clothing was found by a young man who turned them over to Detectives Diver and Dietl who were dragging the river nearby in an effort to locate the body of five-year-old Howard Cromer, who drowned Wednesday. Chief Kuespert was notified and late this afternoon an investigation was being made in an effort to solve the mystery.

There was nothing by which the clothing could be identified. The dress is of black calico with prints of white flowers and the hat is a simple, round, black affair. The dress was made to fit a woman of rather slender build of about 5 feet four inches in height.

Chief Kuespert was working upon the clue revealed in the portion of the address given on the slip. The woman may have lived on Vassar or Harrison av., both of which are within the adjacent vicinity of the river. Inquiries were made in this section of the city in an effort to solve the mystery.

The dress and hat with the note were not on the river bank Wednesday afternoon in the alleged scene of the police department as several officers passed over the same spot late in the day in their search for the body of the Cromer boy.

Search is being made through the directory for women with names corresponding to the "Anna W." which was signed to the note and inquiries are being made at each place in an effort to learn if any one is missing. There has been no report brought to the police department regarding disappearances of the same nature recently and the problem is proving a difficult one to solve.

It then mentions the recent speech of Camille Huysman, Belgian deputy for Brussels, at Arnhem, Holland, in which he said it was useless for Belgium to continue fighting, since it had already been proved impossible to defeat Germany.

The Zeitung also states that letters written by Belgian soldiers contained signs that they are weary of the war.

PLEADS FOR ARMY OF QUARTER OF MILLION

Continuing, Mrs. Mohr said that she received many beatings from her husband because of her attempts to keep Miss Emily Burger away from him. She asserted that Dr. Mohr was addicted to the use of liquor and drugs and while under their influence was dangerous.

She did not deny writing letters to Healis, Dr. Mohr's negro chauffeur, while she was visiting the doctor's relatives in McEwensville, Pa., explaining that she wanted to know what the doctor was doing, that he was her husband and she was interested in what he did. She asserted that her correspondence with Healis was not carried on in pursuance of an impending plot to kill the doctor.

Several times in her story, the widow emphasized her undying affection for the doctor and two or three times affirmed that she had wanted to become reconciled to him.

Denies Furnishing Money. She denies furnishing the defendant Brown with money for a motorcycle in May, 1915, in furtherance of the alleged plot against her husband.

She did not have enough money for herself and two children to get along on," she said.

Mr. Cushing, who made the opening argument indicated that the defense would be comparatively brief. He said that it would be shown that Mrs. Mohr never had any murderous intent against her husband and never conceived any plan to kill him, but that on the contrary she loved him and hoped for a reconciliation some day.

BERLIN, Jan. 27 (by wireless to St. Paul).—The Hamburger Fremdenblatt reports that one of the bombs dropped by the German air squadron when it raided Dover on Monday fell on a deposit of mines which exploded and caused enormous devastation in the neighborhood. Thirty-nine persons including one officer and twenty-four soldiers, the newspaper says, were killed.

According to the Fremdenblatt account the explosion did not take place until 15 minutes after the bomb had landed so that the soldiers at first believed the missile was harmless.

Railroad cars, filled with provisions and several cottages are reported to have been destroyed.

One transport anchored in the harbor was damaged by the explosion and sank immediately.

Twenty severely wounded persons were transported to a London hospital.

The British aeroplanes, the newspaper says, were not ready in time for defense.

Mrs. Mohr made the assertion that Dr. Mohr wanted her to "get out and shift for herself," and that he urged her to go west and get a divorce but that she refused. Dr. Mohr threatened to kill her because she would not give him her jewelry as testimony.

She also said that the doctor coerced her into leaving her property to him and that up to 1912 all his earnings had been put in her name.

Those who sold early and depressed values were driven to cover at losses later in the day.

There was further talk of some of the foreign countries cancelling wheat at the seaboard, but this was generally discredited at Chicago.
