Mrs. George Mayr, 302 Riverside dr., entertained with a 4 o'clock tea this afternoon at her home to more than 50 guests. Yellow Jonquils and yellow tulips were used in decorating. Assisting the hostess were Mrs. Gilbert E. Elliott and Mrs. F. E. Hering, while Mrs. C. E. Varier and Miss Mary May White poured. Mrs. Richmond Nichols of Chicago and Miss Charlotte White received the guests. Besides Mrs. Nichols, Miss Neta Grund of Chicago, who is a guest of Mrs. S. Reynolds, was present from away.

Attired in the most old fashioned gowns obtainable, members of the Diamond Thimble club and their husbands met at the home of Mr. and Mrs. C. Moomaw, 739 Diamond av., Wednesday evening and enjoyed an old time party. The affair was in the nature of a Washington party and decorations were appropriate to the occasion. Those dressed in the most interesting costumes were Mrs. Frank Keller, who wore her mother's wedding gown of 54 years ago, and Mr. and Mrs. George Kreighbaum, who were dressed as Hollanders. The evening was spent with victrola selections and contests at which Floyd Reese won the favor. Toward the close of the evening small hatchets used as place cards seated the 29 guests at a table where a three-course supper was served by the hostess. The next regular meeting of the club will be held March 1.

Mrs. F. W. Miller, 506 Pennsylvania av., entertained a number of friends Wednesday afternoon in compliment to Mrs. Harry Ganser, Donald st., who left in the evening for Cairo, Ill., to make her home. The affair was a complete surprise to the honored guest and the afternoon was spent in social diversions. At the close refreshments were served to 20.

The February meeting of the Colfax Avenue W. C. T. U. was held on Wednesday afternoon at the home of Mrs. Mary Collins, 725 Cottage Grove av., with an attendance of nine members and two guests. The program on "Purity" was led by Mrs. Claude Nash who with Mrs. W. M. Weld had the subject of "Devils, Disease and Divorces." Mrs. Wilbur Hammond had a paper on "Moving Pictures" followed by a round table discussion. Plans were made for the county W. C. T. U. to be held some time in March. During the social hour light refreshments were served. The union will meet March 22, with Mrs. William D. Bulla, 1917 Portage av.

Several young people met at the home of Miss Grace Bernhardt, 405 N. Studebaker st., Tuesday afternoon for the purpose of organizing a club which will be known as the N. W. F. club. The election of officers resulted as follows: President, Miss Helene Chard, vice president, Miss Grace Bernhardt; secretary, Miss Wilma Burner; treasurer, Miss Margaret Fulmer; and reporter, Miss Irma Gour. The club spent an enjoyable afternoon and refreshments were served during the social hour. The next meeting will be in two weeks at Miss Burner, 733 Cottage Grove av.

Mr. and Mrs. John E. Cotter, 1059 Riverside dr., will entertain with a 6:30 o'clock dinner party at the Oliver hotel Friday evening complimentary to Mr. and Mrs. A. Colbers, 304 E. Washington av., who expect to move to Toronto, Ont., on March 1. Mr. and Mrs. F. H. Wellington, 829 Ashland av., entertained in their honor Tuesday evening at a George Washington party. The evening was spent informally with games and contests, at which Mr. and Mrs. Cotter won the favors. Refreshments marked the close.

A meeting of the department of history of the Progress club was held at the club Wednesday afternoon. The department has decided to take Latin-America as the subject for next year's study. Mrs. Chester R. Montgomery presented a paper of interest on "Election Laws of Indiana," and chapter 17 Corporation, from the text book, was read. The next meeting will be on March 8. Mrs. L. S. Fleckenscher will give a paper on "Prevention of Crime and Treatment of Criminals" at that time.

A meeting of the W. C. Sunshine club was held Wednesday afternoon at the home of Mrs. Frank McDonald, 815 Dayton st. The guests were entertained with contests at which Mrs. Edward Baske, Mrs. George W. Amick and Mrs. Nimitz won the honors. A luncheon of two courses marked the afternoon's close. On Mar. 3, Mrs. Amick, 812 Leland av., will be hostess to members of the club.

The freshmen legal lights of Notre Dame university gave a banquet at the Hotel Mishawaka last evening. This is the first affair given by the "freshies" this year, but the lawyers' division of the class is trying to set the precedent for the remainder of the class. Besides the program, sets and speeches the music was furnished by the Collegian's orchestra.

Mrs. C. H. Welch, 1150 S. Lafayette st., had members of her pediatric class as guests Wednesday afternoon. Three tables were filled at cards at

ONION CAKES.

Roll out pieces of raised bread dough on a floured board, about one-half inch thick and the size of a saucer. Mince a small onion in the center of each piece of dough, sprinkle with salt and prick with a fork. Place in a warm place to rise about one hour. Flour slightly, and bake until slightly browned on the edges. Serve hot or cold.

TOMATO OMELET.

Heat one cup of strained tomato pulp in a saucepan. Add one tablespoon of minced onion and thicken with one tablespoon each of flour and butter. When smooth and thick, season with salt and pepper. Beat three eggs, add three tablespoons of milk, season with salt and pepper and pour into the sauce. Cook, stirring constantly, until the eggs are firm and serve on buttered toast.

FIG RICE PUDDING.

To one quart of milk, add one-third cup of well washed rice, one-half cup of chopped figs, one tablespoon of butter, one teaspoon of lemon extract, one tablespoon of sugar, and one-fourth teaspoon of salt. Bake in a slow oven until creamy and thick, stirring occasionally.

PRUNE TURNOVERS.

Wash and pit one pound of large prunes. Add one-fourth cup of seedless raisins and chop fine in a food chopper. Add enough strained honey to make a smooth, stiff mixture. Roll out pieces of raised bread dough, half an inch thick and about the size of a saucer. Place two tablespoons of the prune mixture on each piece of dough, fold over, press the edges tightly together and place in buttered pans to rise about one hour. Then add a tablespoon of butter to each pan and bake in a hot oven half an hour until nicely browned. Cover the tops with strained honey and serve hot or cold.

BANANA CREAM.

Rub five large bananas smooth with five tablespoons of white sugar; beat one-half pint of cream to a stiff froth, add the fruit and a tablespoon of lemon juice. Mix and add half an ounce of gelatine previously dissolved in enough rich milk to cover it; whisk all together gently and mold. Use with cream and sugar.

MEAT AND CORN PUDDING.

To one and one-fourth cups of chopped cooked meat, add one cup of canned corn, two well beaten eggs, one-fourth cup each of fine stale bread crumbs and milk, one teaspoon of butter, one-half level teaspoon of salt and a dash of pepper. Mix well and bake in a hot oven until firm. Serve hot with tomato sauce.

Tea Table Talks

MONEY CAN'T BUY THE BEST THINGS IN LIFE.

The lights from the yellow silk candle shades on the table, the orchestra playing low music in the distance, all added to the air of luxury and rest, that most of the guests at the hotel were seeking. As one is apt to do when dining in a hotel, I glanced around at some of our neighbors, among whom were three millionaires, multi-millionaires. One had just sold something for $18,000,000—another had made $58,000,000 in the last year. We gazed at them curiously, interested in the King Midas's of modern times. We even drew a little envious sigh as we wished we could have earned that many cents. Then we were brought back to real life by the not new remark, "But money can't buy the best things in life."

No, as has been said many times, millions cannot buy real health. Millions cannot buy real love, either. Some of the most lovable people in the world are the very wealthy. A woman once said to me, "we seldom know whether we are loved for ourselves or for what we can give, or do for others. We cannot always tell what is real friendship or what is imitation."

Those three millionaires who sat near us were all seeking health, and rest. They were worn out by responsibilities, demands on their time and strength. What can the extra millions buy for one? There is a limit to diamonds, automobiles, dinners, beautiful homes, opera boxes, etc., that one could wish for. There seems to be a limit even to their gifts to charity.

All the money in the world cannot pay for lost digestion, broken health. Millions cannot remove deformities, although at times their owners would willingly give them for a good healthy appetite, good nutrition, and a good night's sleep. We cannot buy the happiness of a real sacrifice made for some one else. You can't buy the satisfaction, the joy, the thrill of the real musical lover. I said to a friend, who was contrasting the life of some of her wealthy friends with her own life of eking out an existence: "Would you exchange your love of the beautiful, your keen enjoyment of living, with those friends whose enjoyment in life consists chiefly in spending money, and who give away their opera box, every time a Wagner opera is given; who go late and leave early even in the midst of one of Caruso's most wonderful songs; who are like the women I know who confessed to me that she really did not care for the opera, because there was not plot in it?"

Oh, many of the very best things in life money can't buy. You may fool yourself by buying the shell but you have missed the very kernel of life.

ALL STYLES OF HATS AT FRALICK OPENING

Transparent Hat Seems to be Favorite—Pastel Shades Predominate.

While many of the spring hats will be high and narrow as fashion writers have been predicting since early winter, an equal number will be low and broad, judging from the display made at the Fralick opening Thursday. One of the highest hats shown was a Castle model in black, the height being achieved with fine upstanding feathers. Equally stunning, however, was a wide-brimmed sailor, an imported model, in black maline. The edge of the brim was hemstitched in gold and at a fetching angle on the low crown a black paradise feather was caught.

The transparent hat seems to be a favorite, some of them being barely a framework with the airiest coverings of maline or lacy horse hair braids. Gray and Galt rose and chamoisee (terstwhile citroa) are the best colors for street wear and are seen to some extent in dress hats. Pastel shades predominate, however, for dress and many and tempting are the dainty bonnets of chiffon, maline and flowers from which maline may choose. Fralick's are also showing a most attractive line of spring needlework designs, notable among them being patches for old colonial quilts.

THE GREAT HARRY COLLINS AT ELLSWORTH'S STYLE SHOW OF MODEL GOWNS AND SUITS.

The story is quickly told. When it became definitely settled that the great Harry Collins, New York's foremost creator of art in dress, called by many the "Paul Poiret of America" was coming to South Bend with his marvelous collection of Gowns a buzz of excitement went through the Ellsworth store.

What is he going to do? Will he give a public showing of his gowns? Are they for sale? What is the idea of the exhibition?

These and similar other eager questions were put in upon our department heads and the management.

We answer these questions by the following simple statement of facts: Harry Collins with his mannikins will be at The Ellsworth Store Monday and Tuesday.

Monday will be a special exhibition by appointment only, an opportunity being offered you to place orders for such of these gowns as you may desire to possess.

Tuesday our spring opening and style show will be put on showing fashionable South Bend the creations that have made all New York talk.

MODELS TO DISPLAY LATEST IN GOWNS

Harry Collins, America's Famous Designer, to be at Ellsworth's.

Harry Collins, the Paul Poiret of America, will himself visit South Bend next week. He will be accompanied by five or six mannikins, and more than 100 of his fashion creations which will be shown Monday and Tuesday at the Ellsworth store opening.

All day Monday there will be private "audiences" with the premier fashion creator and all day Tuesday will be a fashion "parade," beginning about 10 o'clock in the morning and lasting the remainder of the day and possibly into the evening. Both the first and second floors of the store will be utilized probably for this purpose, as an effort will be made to accommodate just as many feminine spectators as possible.

Many of the gowns have already arrived and Mr. Collins and his mannikins will arrive Sunday. Mr. Collins is world famous as a designer of gowns. He has achieved above all other American designers the art of combining successfully French originality and American conservatism.

South Bend is one of but four cities in which he will stop in the west. The others are Chicago, St. Louis and Detroit.

ONLY MONEY IS MISSING

Thieves Rob Home on Leland Av., Wednesday Night.

Silverware was left untouched by thieves who entered the residence of C. H. Van Kirk, 816 Leland av., Thursday morning and stole $2.50 in cash. The money was taken from a pocketbook which had been left on the kitchen table by Mrs. Van Kirk. Drawers in tables and desks on the first floor were ransacked, but the robbers took nothing but the money. It is supposed the thieves entered the house through a window that had been left unlocked by a maid.
