CONTRACTS LET BY HEATING CO.

Pipes Will Be Placed From Power Plant to Oliver Hotel.

It was announced Friday that a tentative contract had been entered into by the St. Joseph Heating Co., a subsidiary corporation of the Indiana & Michigan Electric Co., and the American District Steam Co., of Lockport, N. Y., to install steam pipes from the Indiana & Michigan plant on E. Colfax av., to the Oliver hotel.

In addition to the above the mains will be extended southerly on Michigan st., from Colfax av., to Wayne st., early in the spring previous to the repaving of Michigan st., and also from the corner of Michigan and Washington sts., westerly to Main st., providing a sufficient number of contracts be secured to justify the heating company in putting in the investment.

Early next week a representative of the heating company, who is one of the engineers of the American District Steam Co., will solicit the business men on Michigan and Washington sts., in an endeavor to close up contracts for steam heating. The heating company desired to cooperate with the city and if it is put in heating pipes on Michigan st. it desires not only to put in its mains, but all service before the repaving of the street.

CASE IS ADJUDGED UNTIL NEXT TERM

Part of Evidence Introduced in Suit to Test Validity of Will.

By tacit agreement of counsel the action of Mrs. Laura Everett and others against Thomas Marr to contest the validity of will, has been adjourned in the circuit court, until next term.

Thursday afternoon evidence was introduced by the plaintiffs which it is said, was damaging to the case of the defense. Friday morning a scathing cross-examination by the defense on the evidence introduced Thursday afternoon, resulted in heated arguments.

The defense then sought to have the evidence given Thursday afternoon withdrawn, but it was insisted the damage had been done. The next step was to have the jury dismissed, it being alleged that the jurors had become disqualified by hearing the testimony and then have a new jury impaneled, which the court refused. A last step was to have the case dismissed entirely, which was also refused by Judge Walter A. Funk. Then an agreement was reached by the attorneys and the case dismissed until the next term of court.

HAD MACHINE TO TEST TESTIMONY

Minister Wants to Introduce Device at Hearing But Board Says No.

Doubting the truthfulness of the police officers who testified before the board of safety Friday morning regarding the charges made against Officer Vincent Brezezinski by Rev. P. Sredanovich, pastor of the Serbian church, the pastor produced an instrument at the hearing which he claimed would ascertain whether or not the witnesses were truthful in their statements. Although he attempted to use the instrument, the board of safety refused to permit the action, depending upon the officers as to the veracity of their reports.

The action brought the action against the officer as the result of an incident which took place at the St. Joseph livery barn on W. Division st., several Sundays ago, and subsequent episodes. According to the pastor he was passing the livery barn in question and was "insulted" when a man asked him to buy a drink. He took the matter up with the authorities and as he did not know the man's name a warrant for "John Doe" was sworn out. The plaintiff was told to meet two officers, Detectives Delinski and Pallo, at the livery barn at 2 o'clock in the afternoon. According to the pastor's story he was in the barn and Officer Brezezinski came in and "arrested" him.

According to the officer's story he was called to the barn by the owners who asked that the man be compelled to leave the place. The officer told the board he requested the man to step outside and when he did not, he took him by the arm. The pastor then headed the request, but when the two stepped outside they met Officers Delinski and Pallo, who explained that the pastor was there to meet them. Brezezinski declared that he did not intend to arrest the man but wished to take him away from the crowd and finding out what he was doing around the barn, as he had a camera and was taking pictures. Officers Delinski and Pallo testified that they did not see the policeman mistreat the man, although he declares that he was handled "in such a rude way which dishonored him." He also declared that the incident disturbed his nerves and infected him "with a spirit of criminality."

Although the board investigated the matter for two hours Friday morning they could find nothing against the officers and tried to explain to the pastor that he misunderstood the situation. He still contended that he had been "founded" by two minutes, and had been dishonored, but the board dismissed the matter.

There was nothing else except routine business conducted by the board Friday.

According to the testimony of the witness he went home from work and found Coddens in the house and that Coddens tried to assault him. Coddens admitted that he was at the house and was intoxicated but said that he had gone to the house to pay back a quarter which his wife had borrowed from Mrs. Szymkowiak.

A resolution was drafted citing at length the charges against the exchange, among which was that the exchange has defrauded the producers of cotton out of millions of dollars in the crop of 1915.

PASTOR TO DELIVER SERIES OF SERMONS

Rev. George W. Allison to Discuss "Mountain-Top Experiences." "Mountain-Top Experiences" is the name given to series of Sunday evening sermons which are to be delivered at Hope Presbyterian chapel by the minister, George William Allison, B. D. This series has been planned to meet a need which has been felt for a little more systematic presentation of Biblical truth to the ordinary congregation. And this series is an attempt to fix memorably the association of some of the greatest religious truths with familiar Biblical mountains.

The first sermon will be delivered Sunday evening on the theme "Mt. Sinai—Man's Sense of Duty." Five others will follow upon successive Sunday evenings, the themes being respectively, "Mt. Pisgah—The Unachieved Vision"; "Mt. Carmel—A Daring Venture for God"; "Mt. Hermon—Glory and Duty"; "Calvary—The Mount of Sacrifice"; and "Mt. Olivet—The Mount of the Upward Vision." An endeavor will be made to insure that these will not only be interesting, but also profitable.

TEUTONS GAIN IN DRIVE ON VERDUN

Approximately a mile more of ground. The text of the communique follows: "In the Argonne, to the east of Verdun, we directed a new bombardment upon the enemy's works. In the region of the forest of Chepy there was intermittent artillery activity. "Between Malancourt and the left bank of the Meuse the cannonade has continued with less violence. "In the region to the north of Verdun the enemy did not launch any attack against our positions during the night. We have established ourselves on a line of defense organized behind Beaumont on the heights extending from the east of Champagneville to the south of Ornes. "The night was quiet on the rest of the front."

Fort Under Fire. With the French lines battered by day and night by the masses of the enemy hurled against them, the Germans have now begun a shattering bombardment of the outer defensive works of Verdun on the north.

Fort de Belleville, Fort de Douaumont and Fort de Marre are under the fire of the big German guns which are pounding away from their positions on an eight-mile front between Consenvoye and Ornes.

More than 400 guns are massed behind the German front and the cannonade of the French redoubts and forts is described as the sublimest spectacle of destruction and thunder since the world began.

French officers who saw the French bombardment of the German positions in Artois last spring and the French cannonade of the German positions in Champagne last autumn describe them as mere displays of fireworks compared with the tornado of steel which the German batteries are now launching.

So terrific is the fire of the big German guns and the reply of the French artillery that the throbbing thunder is plainly audible at Bar-le-Duc, nearly 30 miles away from the scene of the battle.

See Big Offensive. The foremost military critics in Paris express the belief that the battle of Verdun is the forerunner of a German offensive all along the west front in a supreme effort to smash through the allies' lines and reach the sea.

But the nation is more concerned with the outcome of the present struggle around Verdun rather than possibilities of the future.

It is estimated by Matin that the German army of the crown prince has been reinforced to the strength of 350,000 men, who are being hurled against the French lines with systematic and utter disregard for human life.

The curtain of fire maintained by the French batteries has annihilated whole regiments and the ridges of the rolling hills along the Meuse are piled high with dead.

tion of the resolution and thus force it on the floor would only be in order on the first and third Mondays of the month, the speaker said. There was no means, he said, of obtaining special consideration for the resolution.

"If the measure is reported by the foreign affairs committee," he said, "it would have to go to the foot of the calendar. That would mean we could not reach it before July or August, unless the rules committee would provide a special rule for its consideration. The rules committee is the only means by which early action on the resolution could be secured."

Congress found itself in a calmer mood Thursday after Wednesday's fiery agitation for action to warn Americans off armed ships. Leaders in both the senate and the house saw it that non-combatants on the proposals found their way into the open and their attitude had a quiet effect. Advocates of action insisted, however, that they had not retreated from their position, but merely had agreed to wait until they could be more fully informed about the status of the administration's diplomatic negotiations.

In the senate Sen. Gore made an unsuccessful effort to introduce a concurrent resolution expressing the sentiment of congress that Americans should keep off armed ships, and also a bill requiring Americans in procuring passports to take oath that they would not travel on such ships. For him to introduce these measures required unanimous consent, and objection was immediately made by Sen. Brandegee, republican, Thursday night. Sen. Gore said that he would ask Friday that the concurrent resolution lie on the table for a day.

On the house side, Rep. Mondell of Wyoming, the first republican to appear as a supporter of warning legislation, introduced a bill similar to the Gore passport measure, which was referred to the committee on foreign affairs. Rep. Hilliard, democrat, of Colorado, also introduced a resolution. These will be considered by the committee together with the McLemore resolution which is being urged by many champions of legislative action on the subject.

Stone Sends Message. Speaker Clark became interested in the situation during the day and after informal discussion with Sen. Stone, Rep. Flood and others regarding the agitation, it was agreed that the speaker, Mr. Flood and Majority Leader Kitchin should consult with the president on the issue and report to the membership of the house. Sen. Stone thought he would not go with them unless summoned, but late in the evening sent a special message to the president.

He did not disclose the contents. Although Sen. Stone had been reported as unwilling to oppose action if it became apparent that a majority of congress would insist upon it, he nevertheless strongly counseled against any hasty step that might disturb diplomatic negotiations. He conferred with many senators on the subject and later stated:

"If congress is to take action, nothing should be done until diplomatic efforts have been exhausted." Gore and Smith Active. Senators Gore and Hoke Smith were very active throughout the day sounding the sentiment of the senate. Sen. Stone participated in this canvassing, talking chiefly with republicans, among whom he is said to have found few supporters for the agitation.

Rep. Glass of Virginia issued a statement saying that he had been unable to discover any "revolt" against the president's policy.

"There are some men, but precious few," he said, "who are willing to haul down the American flag and circumscribe the rights of American citizens to the high seas, in order to save a bale or two of cotton."

REDUCTION IN RATE IS NOT GENERAL

According to the explanation made by City Atty. Ell F. Seebirt Friday the order for reduction of gas rates in this district as granted by the state utilities commission will not effect the petition which is now before the commission regarding lower rates for the individual consumer. The reduction in rate which was granted is only for users of over 500,000 cubic feet of gas and was made to apply to the Studebaker corporation which is the only concern using that amount of gas. In the agreement approved by the commission the following section is included:

"And Whereas the city of South Bend does not object to any reduction in a gas provided that such a change in rate shall not prejudice the right of said city in the matter of the petition for reduction of rates now pending before the said commission."

This section explains the reduction relative to the petition for a general reduction in rates.
