MOTOR CLUB TO BOOST GOOD ROADS

Rousing Meeting Held by County Organization—Directors Named.

"If we are going to have a St. Joseph county motor club organization, why, let us do something. Every time I return from the east, where they have good roads, I feel like doing the work alone, if no one will help me," was the way Col. George M. Studebaker opened the meeting of that organization held Tuesday evening at the Chamber of Commerce.

No sooner were the words uttered than every man present arose to his feet and promised his sincere cooperation to make things hum in this county for good roads.

The constitution and by-laws of the club were read and adopted. This was followed by the selection of the board of directors and some little time was spent in this effort as Mr. Studebaker stated that he would have to have a committee of which every one would work and work hard. "Otherwise," he said, "nothing can be accomplished."

The directors named are the following: From South Bend, L. P. Hardy, C. A. Dolph, C. M. Chubb, Charles Frazier, E. A. Bennett, George M. Studebaker, Mishawaka, C. E. Trovostidge, Justice R. S. Fish, Stanley McIntosh; Clay township, Henry Flekenscher; Madison township, Martin Moehel; Union township, E. B. Moon; Lincoln township, Dan Beall; Olive township, Martin Brummitt; Liberty township, W. O. Coulter; German township, John Swartz. Directors for the following townships will be appointed later: Harris, Center, Warren and Greene.

This comprised the work of the evening and no plans for the campaign for good roads was outlined at this time. A meeting of the board of directors will be held in the future and the officers of the club elected from among them.

Sec'y Albert V. Weisell of the Chamber of Commerce was present and acted in the capacity of secretary of the meeting. Owing to the banquet of the Knife and Fork club, the attendance was greatly lessened.

A SAFE FAMILY MEDICINE

Father John's Medicine is Best for Colds, Grip, Sore Throat and Stubborn Coughs and as a Body Builder.

Father John's Medicine is an old-fashioned family remedy—not a patent medicine, but the prescription of a learned doctor. It is free from opium, morphine, chloroform or poisonous drugs which are found in many of the patent medicines; it contains no alcohol or other stimulants. It is a Food Medicine, pure and wholesome. Father John's Medicine has had more than 50 years' success for colds, grip and throat troubles. It is invaluable as a tonic and body builder and restores weak and run-down systems to health and strength. It nourishes the system and makes flesh.

We want to warn you against the danger in taking medicines which rely on stimulating or nerve-deadening drugs for their effect. They weaken the system and leave you exposed to disease, cause nervous prostration and a craving for drugs.

Father John's Medicine is a safe medicine for all the family; for the children as well as older people, because it does not contain alcohol or dangerous drugs in any form.

Thousands of Mothers Endorse Father John's Medicine.

Source of Smells In North End Is Hot Cinders

After two months of puzzling over the solution of the problem of removing the cause of the obnoxious odors which have seriously troubled the residents of the northwest section of the city, especially those in Navarre place, the cause and easy plan of removing it is now most apparent.

According to Street Commissioner D. C. Layton, the Taylor st. trunk sewer, which has long borne the brunt of the trouble, has nothing to do with it and that the smell does not come from the river or any place within many blocks of it, but originates in a cinder dump along that part of the city. The dump is located just outside the city limits and has been used for the past two months or so by two South Bend manufacturers, the railroad company and Chicago concerns. No less than three cars of hot cinders have been arriving daily.

It is also believed that a peat formation, due to the marshy and wet nature of the ground in the vicinity of the dump, catches fire from the hot cinders, and hence the stench.

Architect E. W. Young and Prof. Smith of the mining department of Notre Dame also investigated and came to the same conclusion. The fact that the smell was noticed at different parts of the north end at various times was attributed to the change of wind direction.

The slides used for the talk were furnished by the United States department of agriculture. Other numbers on the program were an organ and violin duet by Mr. and Mrs. John Parvell, an organ solo by Miss Helen Crofoot and victrola music.

W. C. T. U. CLOSES ANNUAL MEETING

Various Phases of Liquor Traffic Are Discussed During Day.

The liquor traffic was discussed by Mrs. Elizabeth Stanley, state vice-president of the W. C. T. U., in her address before the last meeting of the annual institute of the St. Joseph County Woman's Temperance league, held at the Indiana Avenue Christian church. She spoke on the subject "Preparedness That Is Worth While."

"The best way to prepare," said Mrs. Stanley, "is to begin in the home and bring the younger generation up in a better sphere, mentally, physically and morally. The people of today are those we should work with for the present time but those of the coming generation, those who are to be the principal factors in the country's future, are the ones that can be taught while in their homes."

John Campbell spoke on the "Review of Prohibition Victories." He gave a review of the prohibitionists from their beginning and brought his address up to the present time, comparing the work of today with that when the prohibitionists were first organized.

"The Target of Our Union" was the subject of a stirring address delivered by Mrs. C. L. Warner at the morning session at the Christian church. Mrs. Stanley discussed the national convention for 1916 and "The Legislative Council of Indiana Women—Its Purpose and Scope." She spoke of the need of the Bible being a part of the study of the children in the public schools. Mrs. E. L. Hull spoke on "How Scientific Temperance Instructions Can Help the Onward March of Prohibition."

Following the meeting, dinner was served, and the afternoon session began at 1:30 o'clock with Mrs. R. C. Rallsback, president of the local W. C. T. U., presiding. Mrs. W. W. Davis spoke on "Retrospect and Prospect." She spoke of the organization in the youth in 1873. At that time there was but a small institution in Ohio started by three women and at the present time every state in the Union has a strong organization. Mrs. Stanley spoke on "The Work of the Council by Legislative Women." Rev. C. A. Decker, pastor of the First Baptist church, delivered an address on the subject "The New Patriotism." He spoke of three phases of the work, the political, moral and industrial.

Notre Dame News

Following the yearly custom of dismissing classes on the first fair Tuesday afternoon of spring, the university authorities granted a half holiday and regular Thursday afternoon down-town permissions yesterday afternoon.

The Hon. John Barrett, director general of the Pan-American union, at the invitation of the faculty visited the university and St. Mary's academy previous to his address in South Bend last night.

Speaking of the growing demand for poets to deliver lectures and readings before colleges and societies, the March number of Current Opinion refers to the poetry clubs of Harvard and Michigan and Notre Dame and the popularity of good poetry at these institutions. At Notre Dame aside from the efforts of a few seniors, the writing of verse is confined to members of the freshman and sophomore English classes under the direction of Rev. Thomas Crumley and Rev. Eugene Burke.

Relatives and friends from Chicago and a number of South Bend people attended the funeral of Brother Bonaventure yesterday morning. The football monogram men with whose records Brother "Bonnie" had perhaps been more familiar than any brother at the university, attended the high mass of requiem celebrated by Rev. Peter Francis C. S. C., in Our Lady of the Sacred Heart chapel. Burial was in the community cemetery.

News came to the university yesterday of the death of the Rev. Edward Laabe at Memramook, New Brunswick, Canada. Father Laabe had been a member of the congregation of the Holy Cross for over 47 years. He was born at St. Louis de Lotbiniere, P. Q., Canada, April 4, 1843; received the religious habit Oct. 21, 1869, was professed May 18, 1871, and ordained to the priesthood March 8, 1873.

Along with the report of his death word came also of the demise of Brother Modestus (Louis Bourgeois) at Angers, Maine-et-Loire, France. He was born in France Oct. 12, 1823; received the holy habit March 19, 1851, and made his final profession Aug. 15, 1874.

The address will be the fifth of a series of eight on the general subject of the Apostles' Creed or "The Modern Christian's Belief."

Preceding the address from 5:30 to 7:30 o'clock supper will be served in the dining rooms of the church by the March committee.

NEW ASPECTS OF POLITICS SHOWN

Ex-Senator Burton Speaks at Knife and Fork Club.

Three distinguished men, a statesman, a man of international affairs, and a clergyman, were the guests last night at the sixth monthly dinner given by the Knife and Fork club, held in the banquet room of the Oliver hotel. The Hon. Theodore E. Burton, ex-senator from Ohio; the Hon. John Barrett of Washington, D. C., director general of the Pan-American union and former minister to Siam, and Dr. Lynn Harold Hough of Northwestern university, Chicago, were the speakers of the evening.

Former Sen. Burton's address dealt with "Some New Aspects of Politics." He decried the tendency of politicians of the present day to favor their constituents in their districts by taking refuge in the already overfilled pork barrel. He said:

"Time for New Patriotism. Politicians today are gaining a broader scope and wider activities of government. It is time for the people of this nation to have a new birth of patriotism, parake of a new interest in the welfare of the state and the nation.

"In the first place I would speak of the relation of the public man to the people. The politician is the shining mark for ridicule. Poets and novelists give to the public man in public office, however, is never restive under just criticism. So often his utterances are misrepresented, his admissions and enunciations are given the air of falsehood, when misinterpreted. The higher standards of accuracy are necessary in the political life. Men have been made overnight and have been degraded because of inaccuracies.

Does Not Blame Press. "Criticism of the press by men in public life has been heaped upon the newspapers. I do not blame the press. When you consider the speed with which the reporter must work, the brief time in which the news-gatherer has to send the news, inaccuracy is liable to creep in. Sometimes the atmosphere of inaccuracy is introduced, and there is a wailing and gnashing of teeth.

"Another bit of advice to the man in a legislative office is to be independent and work along an independent basis. It is far better to be defeated than to swerve one iota from the path of consistency and honesty. Be affable and open your door to the humblest. By this I do not necessarily mean that you should sloop over with the exuberance of your animal spirits.

"The man that enters politics must have the saving grace of a sense of humor. He must have a certain resilience about him, that when compromised for the moment by a bit of unexpected affront, he can indulge in a little repartee, thus saving him embarrassment until, in the leisure of the retrospective moment, he is able to think back and determine the best policy to pursue.

Be Not Vindictive. "Again I would say to the man about to enter political life or who has an idea that he would aspire to public office, should never be vindictive. The man who always cherishes an injury soon becomes an aggrieved soul with little outlook. Further, don't be afraid of innovations nor yet live in the graveyard of the past.

The speaker took occasion to rap the primary, initiative and referendum likening it to the despotism of popular opinion, which combined with prejudice, hamper the courts of justice from giving fair and impartial decisions.

In closing his talk, the former senator said that with the public lays the problem of securing the right of public men. "You are the priests, in the temple of good government."

Both former Sen. Burton and Mr. Barrett paid high tributes in the course of their addresses to the memory of the late Sen. B. F. Shively.

Dr. Hough's address was concerned directly with the demands of the nation as far as bringing together the various religious and social groups were concerned. The leader of tomorrow, emphasized the speaker, is he who is apart from the crowd, who with a disinterested mind, can get the vision of the necessary amalgamation of ideas needed to foster in America a spirit dominant to the nation which will ultimately prove its salvation. A leader who is able to grasp the ideals of citizenship as expressed on the one hand by the average man, and to comprehend the needs and wants of the nation as expressed through the efficiency of its dominating motive.

Dr. Hough revealed last night that he is essentially a "preparedness advocate," and said that the very name of peace and the very name of perpetuity of the safety of the nation depended upon the power of that government to cack up its people. "Your wife and children are as safe as the point of your ability to protect them with physical power makes them. Such is the case with this government."

Brotherhood a Basis. The basis of citizenship, the speaker declared, was brotherhood. He expressed the belief that were the individual to divert himself of the policy of criticizing the denominational differences of other religious sects, substituting instead an attitude whereby men of different sects would see the things in common that lie in the differences of these bodies, the internal peace of the country would be assured.

Director General Barrett said: "The Mexican situation presents in many respects the gravest crisis in the history of the Pan American relations of the United States. Upon its outcome may depend the future of Pan American commerce and friendship. It has in its final issue possibilities of strengthening immeasurably the ties between the United States and its sister American republics, or of straining them to the point of serious and lasting break. It is, therefore, necessary that every patriotic American citizen, no matter what may be his immediate impulses or opinions, should be conservative in his judgment and not call for rash action.

"The announcement made by the president when the punitive expedition to capture Villa was organized, to the effect that it was intended in no way to be a reflection upon the sovereignty of Mexico, and the resolution just passed by congress emphasizing the same point, are of cardinal importance in preserving the confidence and good will of the Latin American governments and peoples. While it is not permitted for me officially to interpret in the slightest degree the attitude of the governments of Latin America towards the action of the United States in the Mexican crisis, I believe that I am sufficiently in touch with the popular sentiment of Latin America, based upon long experience in Pan American affairs, to state that if actual war with Mexico as a whole should eventually result from this situation, such result might become the greatest menace to practical and permanent Pan Americanism which has developed in the history of this country.

"If, on the other hand, this expedition is successfully completed without a general war and with full respect for Mexico's sovereignty, it may prove the most effective and influential step the United States has taken in long years to prove its good faith in dealing with its sister republics. It may also be the chief influence in inaugurating the new era of peace and prosperity which all the world desires for Mexico.

"As I lay emphasis upon this matter in its relationship to Pan Americanism, may I point out that never before or since the declaration of the Monroe Doctrine in 1823 has the United States faced a greater and more favorable potential era of Pan American commerce and friendship than it does at this hour. The bright silver lining of the terrible European war cloud has been the development of Pan American solidarity of interest, Pan American interdependence of commerce and Pan American sympathy in neutrality and attitude towards the war. The European war has demonstrated, as nothing has ever done before, the need that the American republics shall have a common policy in protecting their commerce, financial and material interests upon which political solidarity largely rests.

"As the future of Pan American trade, which is now growing more rapidly than ever before, will chiefly depend upon the permanency of practical Pan Americanism, we must all use our influence and express our hope that Pan Americanism is not dealt a vital blow by the Mexican crisis. Inasmuch as Indiana is not only a central political state of the United States but a state which has always taken a position of leadership in determining the foreign policies of this country and in maintaining its dignity and influence throughout the world, all Indiana people should show a direct interest in our sister American republics, study their history, their geography, their resources, their possibilities, their commerce and their customs, and thereby help forward a mighty Pan American movement which will make the twenty-one nations of the western hemisphere forever moral allies in advancing the civilization and in preserving the peace of the world."

Washing Won't Rid Head Of Dandruff

The only sure way to get rid of dandruff is to dissolve it, then you destroy it entirely. The do this get about four ounces of ordinary liquid arvon; apply it at night when retiring; use enough to moisten the scalp and rub it in gently with the finger tips.

Do this tonight, and by morning, most if not all of your dandruff will be gone, and three or four more applications will completely dissolve and entirely destroy every single stick and trace of it, no matter how much dandruff you may have.

You will find, too, that all itching and itching of the scalp will stop at once, and your hair will be fluffier, lustrous, glossy, silky and soft, and look and feel a hundred times better. You can get liquid arvon at any drug store. It is inexpensive and never fails to do the work.
