HALF MILLION IN AUTOS SHOW

Great Procession of Cars Features Opening of First Show in City.

Upwards to half a million dollars worth of automobile rolling stock represented in some of the most expensive and most widely known vehicles of pleasure and service on the market today, passed in review in South Bend and Mishawaka Wednesday afternoon as the first event in the program for the two cities' four-day automobile and accessory show.

Two hundred automobiles, forming a line nearly two miles long, followed a Ford touring car carrying Chief of Police Millard E. Kerr, South Bend and Chief K. Meter of Mishawaka, from the north pumping station on Michigan street south to Broadway, and from Michigan street over all the principal streets in South Bend and Mishawaka. Two bands, Elbe's of this city and the Bell Band's of Mishawaka, played during the parade, which lasted over three hours.

Parade Again Saturday.

South Bend's initial automobile show of any consequence was opened with the parade of Wednesday afternoon. Again Saturday afternoon the machines will form in line and traverse practically the same territory as the big event of the exhibition's closing day. Today, Friday and Saturday the show will be on in the various garages in the two cities. Considering the expense represented in the cars themselves, and adding to this expense the cost of equipment, special demonstrating displays and special aid and advertising, the show here represents upwards to a million dollars.

Handicapped in their inability to find in either South Bend or Mishawaka a building large enough to accommodate a tenth of the companies desiring space for an exhibition, officers of the recently organized South Bend and Mishawaka Auto Trade association are doing remarkably well considering with individual displays and exhibits in the various garages and show rooms.

The method of advertising the show, which was given its first wide publicity in The News-Times' special section of Sunday, the first of its kind ever attempted here, has interested a large number of people at the show. Attendance marks are hard to get, owing to the wide locality covered by show rooms, but a spirit of optimism was prevalent among dealers and agents Wednesday night.

Movie Man Gets Pictures.

As the machines followed the scheduled course Wednesday afternoon, a representative of the Pathe weekly news caught various sections from The News-Times press car, a Franklin Six, which covered carefully the line of march throughout the afternoon. These pictures which the Pathe photographer secured will be shown over the country.

Special officers from the police department were detailed to the traffic points throughout the city, and with the careful signaling of drivers and close application to the business at hand, not an accident marred the day. Prior to the parade, a Ford car caught fire near Foot st., on Michigan, and the central department were called. Little damage was done.

Each machine bore a pennant on which was inscribed the name, and as near as possible the cars were grouped. The Ford and Studebaker companies made the largest showing.

Show Rooms Opened.

During the late afternoon and evening, the show rooms were opened to the public. Novel displays greeted observers who visited the various garages. At the Franklin headquarters, 123 N. Main st., Spencer C. Crane of the Franklin company gave a 20-minute talk on the principles of construction of the car before interested motorists. These talks will be given afternoon and evening during the remainder of the week. The talks are given between 2:30 and 5 o'clock in the afternoon and from 8 to 10 in the evening.

Mr. Crane illustrates his talks with a stock car, which has been stripped for the occasion. The process of eliminating parts in order to lighten the car is shown in a display of eliminated parts. The show room has been attractively decorated with flags and bunting. A 1916 model touring car occupies the display floor.

Big Crowds See Parade.

Large crowds thronged Michigan street for the parade Wednesday, and as the cars disbanded many toured the respective garage districts to see the displays. The city-wide feature of the parade made it possible for people to view the vast array of cars without leaving their homes.

and without congesting traffic in the business district.

All interested in motordom are invited and urged to attend the demonstrations and displays during the balance of the week. Special factory agents are on hand to give instructing demonstrations not alone in the one particular car represented but in all cars and in motoring in general. A spirit of cooperation has been paramount in the opening hours of the show.

Following the parade Saturday, which promises to better even the Wednesday demonstration, the show rooms will be open into the night for the closing of the exhibition. Preparations have been made to greet a large number of people from nearby cities who will be here Saturday for the final day of the show.

Notre Dame News

Today was the annual inspection day for the military battalions of the university. Capt. John J. Kingman, corps of engineers, general staff of the United States army, will conduct the government inspection.

The program to be followed is as follows: Regimental parade, regimental review and inspection, battalion drill, close order drill, bayonet exercise and extended order drill.

Under the direction of Capt. Stogs-dall and Sergt. Campbell the squads have been drilled daily for the past week and were in good trim for the inspection. The regiment band under the direction of Prof. Frank Derrick will render the music for the various drilling events. The inspection will be held on the Brown-gymnasium, just south of the big gymnasium, beginning immediately after the students' mass at 8 o'clock and continuing the greater part of the day.

Capt. Kingman, who is a member of the general staff of government inspectors, has been conducting a similar inspection at Culver military academy in Culver, Ind.

MRS. QUILHOT GETS DIVORCE

Vice Sleuth's Wife is Once More Mrs. Marion B. Miller.

Mrs. Marion B. Miller Quilhot was given a divorce from her husband, John H. Quilhot, in circuit court, late yesterday afternoon.

Along with the divorce Mrs. Quilhot obtained the return of her former name, Mrs. Marion B. Miller. She was ordered not to marry again within two years. She sued for $10,000 alimony, but as her former husband is out of the state, the question was not raised. The Indiana divorce laws forbid the allowing of alimony where service on the husband is by publication.

The divorce went by default. Quilhot did not appear either in person or by attorney.

Cruelty is Alleged.

The grounds on which Mrs. Quilhot obtained her decree were cruelty and inhuman treatment. She told among other things of the way in which her husband mistreated her, how he alternately poured hot and cold water on her while he was giving her a bath, while she was confined in the Battle Creek "house of misery."

Mrs. Quilhot said she had practically $48,000 worth of property, both personal and real, when she married the former Keller administration sleuth. When she fled from Battle Creek, she said, she had nothing, not even clothes with which to make the automobile trip to South Bend. She testified that Quilhot took even her trinkets and keepsakes, and that towards the last she concealed $40 in her clothes for emergency uses. Her husband found out about this in some way, she testified on the stand, and took it away from her.

Mrs. Miller told the court about the life that Quilhot and Mrs. Darguach led, how she was thrown in the background and treated as an outsider while their family life revolved about the activities of her husband and the "woman in black." She said that they lived as man and wife.

Her Room Occupied.

Mrs. Miller further told the court that on one occasion one of her husband's relatives from Chicago came to visit them at Battle Creek and that he was given her room.

When she protested, she said, Quilhot showed her upstairs and said, "I guess you'll do as I say."

Further testimony was to the effect that she became so afraid of her husband that she did not eat her meals. She said that once when eating some custard, instead of chewing it she mashed it in her mouth and discovered two small pills. "What are these for?" she said she asked her husband.

"Those are for your stomach," she told the court he answered.

"Well, my stomach isn't out of order," was her comment.

"Doesn't make any difference," said the husband. "You should take whatever I give you. I want you to recover from this rheumatism."

Took Her Clothes Away.

To prevent her leaving the house, Mrs. Miller testified that her husband took all her clothes away from her save a few undergarments which he left for warmth sake.

Edward Muesel and Tom Miller acted as jurisdictional witnesses for Mrs. Miller, to prove that she has been a resident of the state for the past two years.

Pros. Montgomery appeared nominally for Quilhot as is customary in default divorce cases. He did not submit Mrs. Miller to a cross-examination, knowing from facts called to his attention previously, he told the court, that any cross-examination would tend to make out even a stronger case. Judge Funk, who granted the decree, did not require the cross-examination.

Mrs. Miller seemed in fairly good spirits Wednesday afternoon. She was accompanied by a relative. She limped slightly from the rheumatic trouble for relief of which she went with Quilhot to Battle Creek where she was imprisoned in the "house of mystery."

ON YOUR FEET ALL DAY? TRY THIS HOME EASER

Thousands of people who are on their feet all day suffer terrible tortures because their feet ache, burn, chafe and grow tender. This is the way a saleswoman in a big department store has solved the problem of keeping her feet always in good condition. She buys a 25 cent package of Wa-Na-Ta and in the evening on arriving home she removes her shoes and stockings and for a few delightful minutes allows them to soak in a pan of warm water in which two or three Wa-Na-Ta tablets have been dissolved. Then she puts on fresh hosiery and shoes and her evening is comfortable. All the burning, throbbing, aching sensations are gone out of her feet. If you are troubled again, try this. Wa-Na-Ta added to the bath water is cleansing and purifying, removing impurities and banishing body odors. You can get Wa-Na-Ta at all drug stores for 25 cents or we will mail you a sample package prepaid in some address to which you will send us 10 cents to cover cost of packing and shipping. L. C.
