Notre Dame News

The play "Twelfth Night" will be put on by the Notre Dame players Wednesday afternoon at 3 o'clock in Washington hall under the direction of Prof. Emmet J. Lenihan. The admittance to this play will be by invitation only owing to the limited number of seats in the university theater. The university orchestra will furnish a program of music during the afternoon.

Rev. John Cavanaugh tendered the Carroll hall band a banquet at the Oliver hotel last evening. Besides the 15 members of the band, the two directors, John Minavio and Frank Carey, were present. Last Sunday evening the first concert was given by the band in the assembly hall of the main department.

Final plans for the parade in South Bend were made by the military department at the university last evening. Six of the companies made up of the students in the college department will take part in the parade. The first bugle call will be given at 1 o'clock and the assembly will take place at 1:15. The trip to the city will be made by special cars over the electric line. The officers of the battalion and the "Possums" company composed of the students in Carroll hall will leave the university tomorrow morning for their camping trip at Lawson, Mich.

PLAN ADDITION TO MADISON SCHOOL

Board Authorizes Purchase of Lot as First Step Towards Enlargement.

Future additions to the Madison school were taken care of last night by the board of education by the authorization of the purchase of the lot north of the school. A request for the establishment of a free inspection of teeth in the public schools was also heard at the meeting of the board. A committee from the Visiting Nurse association attended the meeting and asked that the board provide a means for giving the children free dental work.

The school city will pay $7,000 for the lot, which is owned by Rudolph and Anna Elbel. The matter has been under consideration for some time and its purchase was finally authorized Monday night when the board received a report from Harry Wair, attorney for the school board, on the abstract of title. Madison school is unable to take care of all the children in that district at present and an addition to the building will be necessary within a few years.

According to the committee from the Visiting Nurse association, members of the St. Joseph County Dental society have agreed to give a certain amount of time each week to inspecting the teeth of the children who are unable to pay for the service. The committee requested that the board provide a dental chair and other equipment at the high school where the inspections will be made.

W. F. Hosteler, head of the commercial department of the high school, was authorized to purchase a number of typewriters for the school. Bids on miscellaneous articles were considered by the board.

Other evidence was tendered by Officers Dibley and Olmstead, who appeared for the state.

Members of the Auto post and the G. A. R. encampments here will appear at the high school in the program. Music and speeches will be given to the students dealing with patriotism.

Pianist and Soprano Win High Praise

Before a capacity audience in the recital hall of the South Bend Conservatory of Music Monday evening Miss Dora Hershonow, pianist, and Miss Hazel Harris, soprano, appeared in joint recital and won laurels for themselves and the institution of whose faculty they are members.

Miss Dora Hershonow, pianist, and Miss Hazel Harris, soprano, appeared in joint recital and won laurels for themselves and the institution of whose faculty they are members. Miss Valeria Bondurant, also a member of the faculty, did most commendable work as Miss Harris' accompanist.

The program, arranged by the young artists themselves, was both difficult and delightful in its range and variety, and every number was received appreciatively by the audience, which included many of those prominent in the city's musical circles. It was not necessary for the performers to expend any energy in winning their audience for they have been for several years past very popular.

At Best in "Erliking."
Miss Hershonow opened the program with Beethoven's "Sonata Op. 53." This brilliantly descriptive piece was dedicated by the composer to Count Waldstein, an enthusiastic student of astronomy, and suggests the play of the Northern Lights. While it would be impossible to praise any of her work too highly, the second part, much more brisk than the first, is customary in Hungary for the populace of a village to gather in a place called the "Czardas," where they dance, beginning with the slower steps and gradually working into a frenzy. The second part of the Liszt Rhapsody, which is called the "Czardas," is descriptive of such a scene. Other numbers by Miss Hershonow which were well received by her hearers were "Nocturne in E Flat Major" by Chopin, which were especially delightful because of their contrast, and "Rondo Capriccioso," by Mendelssohn.

STATE MARSHAL TAKES RAP AT SHINGLE ROOF

Says $522,014 of 1915 Fire Loss is Due Directly to This Kind of Construction.

News-Times Special Service: INDIANAPOLIS, May 29.—The report of State Fire Marshal W. E. Longley, for the year 1915, takes a "whack" at the shingle roof which it says is a dangerous proposition. The report says:

"Five hundred and twenty-two thousand and fourteen dollars of the 1915 fire loss is directly chargeable against the shingle roof hazard. A large percentage of the 'adjoining' losses occur because the shingle roof ignites so readily. Twenty-eight per cent of the fires this year were caused by sparks alighting on the shingle roof. The general use of the incombustible roof will do more to cause a reduction in the number of fires and lessen the danger of conflagration than any other practice."

The total fire loss in Indiana in 1915 was $5,745,855. This is $197,245 less than the loss for the last eight months of 1915, and $7,182,471 less than the loss of 1914. The small damage of the property of mercantile establishments in 1915 as compared with 1914 is especially to be noted. In 1914 the loss in these business houses was $2,086,116; in 1915 it was $1,182,722.

Speaking in favor of lightning rods the report says: "The loss from lightning for the years 1912, 1914 and 1915 is $864,221, $412,292 and $315,344 respectively. The increased use of lightning rods account for a part of the decrease in loss. Only three of the 273 lightning losses in 1915 occurred on protected property. In one case the lightning rod system was old and out of repair; in another lightning traveled to the building on the telephone wire.

Thirty arrests for arson and similar crimes were made in 1915 in the following counties: Allen, Clark, Elkhart, Floyd, Henry, Hamilton, Knox, Lagrange, Lake, Marion, Pike, Porter, St. Joseph, Sullivan and Wabash. Seventeen convictions were obtained during the year.

Indian Songs a Delight

The beautiful quality and effective range of Miss Harris' voice were displayed to best advantage in the aria "L'eti Signori," from the opera "Les Huguenots," by Meyerbeer, which was her first number, but the selections which most delighted the audience were those in her second group, the Indian songs, "How Many Lonely Caravan" and "Allah Be With Us," by Amy Finden, and the exquisite traditional Pyrenean melodies "La Boca de Pepita" and "Tercesita Mia," which she sang in Spanish. Her third group comprised "Bird of the Wilderness," by Horace Mann; "My Laddie," by Galloway, and "Ecstasy," by Rummel.

Of most interesting of these was the first, in that it was representative of the modern impressionist school of music. Neither the melody nor the accompaniment is complete in itself, but each requires the other to make a perfect whole. The beautiful words of this selection are by the Indian poet Rabindranath Tagore.

Following the program the musicians received the congratulations of their friends. They received deserved praise for their work, being indeed a credit to the city.

Spurned Suitor is Freed of Burglary Charge in Court

Steve Mes was an ardent admirer of Grace Hoffer, who lives with her parents at 263 Maple st. Steve had expressed his love for Grace many times but was spurned. Grace had listened attentively but her affections could not be won and Steve's pleadings were all in vain.

Finally Steve became desperate. He went to Grace's home and pleaded his passion for a place in her heart. She was adamant as far as Steve was concerned. She told him so and left him alone in the parlor. Then Steve ascended the stairs of the Hoffer home, entered Grace's room, and proceeded to toss things about right and left. He discovered two pictures of the woman he loved and left the house.

Then Grace and her parents had Steve arrested for burglary. When the case came up in city court Monday Deputy Pros. S. P. Schwartz outlined the case to Judge Warner and asked that the man be warned to stay away from Grace. The burglary charge was dismissed and Steve promised to forsake the girl forever, his romance shattered by the "crook" arm of the law and a cold heart.
