WIFE BEATER DRAWS LECTURE FROM JUDGE

No Sentence is Too Heavy For Man Who Assaults Spouse.

"A man of your stamp ought to be given at least two years in the penitentiary," Judge Feig told Otis Doolittle when the latter was arraigned before him on a charge of assault and battery filed by his wife, Hattie Doolittle. Doolittle admitted that he had slapped his wife but said that she was drunk and that she had called him names. Doolittle has been arrested once before in Mishawaka and four or five times in the city court of South Bend. He has contributed little to his wife's support for several years. In imposing the sentence the judge said that he should give him a heavy term in jail but that his wife would suffer for lack of what little support she did get from her husband. Five dollars fine and $10 costs were levied against Doolittle and he was turned over to the county jail to lay it out.
