MORE DEFEATS ARE INFLICTED ON BULGARIANS

Roumanians Invade Bulgaria With Intention of Striking at Rear of Von Mackensen's Forces. ATTEMPT TO REGAIN LOST GROUND FAILS Only Artillery Combats and Local Fighting on the Somme Front—Russians Keep Up Attacks.

International News Service: LONDON, Oct. 3.—War interest centered today in fighting in the Roumanian theater. Consequences of major importance may attend the invasion of Bulgaria by a Roumanian army. The indications are that the Roumanians will try to strike at the rear of Field Marshal von Mackensen's army, compelling its retirement from Dobruja.

On the northern front of the Roumanian war theater the Germans under von Falkenhayn are pressing forward in the region of Rothen Thurm pass with the evident intention of trying to invade Roumania from that source. Violent actions are in progress there.

On the Somme front the last 24 hours have been comparatively quiet, except for local fighting and artillery combats. The Germans attacked the French at St. Pierre Vaast wood, east of Cambes, but were dispersed with severe losses.

More reverses have been suffered by the Bulgarians in the Macedonian zone of operations. The Bulgarians tried to win back some of the ground lost to the British on the Struma front, but were driven off on the western end of this front the Serbians continue their pressure against the German allies, having captured a Bulgarian trench.

In Galicia the Russians keep up their attacks. Vast forces of Austro-German soldiers are thus engaged there preventing von Hindenburg from sending reinforcements to other fronts where the German allies are hard pressed.

BULGARIANS RETIRE. International News Service: SOFIA, Oct. 3.—Gains for the allies in Greek Macedonia were admitted by the Bulgarian war office today. In the sector of Kalamakelian heights the Bulgarians withdrew to avoid unnecessary losses under the violent artillery fire of the Serbians retiring to their main position in the Moglencia mountains.

RESIGNATION IS SENT GOVERNOR

Judge Warner to Quit Bench Oct. 10—Mayor Keller Lets Matter Drop.

The resignation of Judge Herbert D. Warner from the bench of the city court, which is to take effect Oct. 10, was mailed to Gov. Ralston Tuesday morning. Mr. Warner had signified his intention of resigning some time ago when the question arose as to the repository of the authority to appoint his successor.

This action of Judge Warner practically places, in this particular case, the power of appointing the new judge of the city court, to serve until the expiration of the term on Jan. 1, 1918, into the hands of the governor, since Mayor Keller declared that he would let the matter drop unless the resignation were tendered to him.

Four years later the first of these sections, No. 45, was amended, giving the power of appointment to the governor of the state. Neither at that time nor later, however, has there been a repeal passed recalling the latter two sections which must, therefore still be in operation.

Further, the law that gives the weight of power to the act last passed does not apply to acts retroactive to a single subject but only to conflicting acts on different subjects. The question in this matter has never been settled in any court, nor is it likely that it will be brought to a test, owing to the declaration of Mayor Keller, in which he maintained that he would not start action.

CIVIC PARADE BIG FEATURE ON FIRST DAY

Centennial Celebration is Officially Opened by Great Blare of Factory Whistles, Bells and Horns. SUCCESS IS ASSURED BY PERFECT WEATHER

Many Visitors Arrive in City to Greet Old Acquaintances—Band Concert Held in Afternoon.

St. Joseph county's three-day celebration of Indiana's centennial was officially born at 12:25 o'clock this afternoon and betokened by a great blare of factory whistles, church bells, honking horns and other sounds which are generally obvious with the coming of a new year. The sounds which marked the opening of the series of pageants, parades and entertainments which will continue during the next three days, were not confined to any one district in the city or county and whistles and horns were tied down everywhere for a period of five minutes or more. With perfect weather and a large crowd on streets before noon the celebration had an auspicious and successful start.

The great civic parade which started shortly before 2 o'clock this afternoon, was a fitting sequence to the opening ceremonies at noon when the centennial celebration was officially declared to be upon its way. Practically every civic, social and fraternal organization in the community in addition to school children and others were represented in the brilliant array of highly decorated floats.

In Six Divisions. The parade was divided into six divisions. Division No. 1, under the direction of Charles L. Ziegler, formed on the west side of Main st., facing south, at Colfax av., and was composed of a platoon of police, a band, the carriage of honor, city and county officials, fire apparatus, the artistic G. A. R. float, the veterans in carriage and the float of Aulen Relief corps. The second division was in charge of John P. DeHaven and formed along Main st. It was led by the Bremen hand and was composed of a delegation of Avalon Grotes, the W. G. W. mounted troops, a float from the same organization, a W. O. W. marching body, a Woodman circle float, the Boy Scouts and the G. R. K. P. light-foot company.

In the third division the entire west side was represented. Floats and delegations from the various Polish societies were seen. Bert Klysz had charge of this section of the parade, while Nelson Jones conducted the fourth section, which consisted of all floats which were independent of marching bodies and not a part of any fraternal organization. In this section there also was the marching body and floats of the Ancient Order of Gleaners.

Organizations in Line. Louis Kovatch was in charge of the Hungarian organizations in the fifth section of the parade. The various west side organizations were represented in this section along with the Belgian organizations and representatives, who were led by Joseph Voerde, action of Parade Director Samuel Leeper's aide.

Division six brought up the rear of the parade which passed the reviewing stand on the east side of the court house square. This division was directed by L. W. McGinn and included a band, the Knights of Columbus float and marching body, the Catholic Knights of America, uniform rank, the Serbian Federation of Saigo and St. Peter and Paul church, the Independent Order of Odd Fellows delegation, and the marching body of L. O. R. M., Monarch tribe.

The parade proceeded from the corner of Main st. and Colfax av. west on Colfax av. to Laporte av., thence south to Washington av., east to Lafayette blvd., along Lafayette blvd., west to Wayne st., east to Main st., thence west to Michigan st., and north to Marion st. From Marion st. the parade line moved over to Main st. and then proceeded south past the reviewing stand at the court house.

Factories Are Closed. Many factories and stores were closed during the afternoon in order to permit the employes to witness the civic parade. All of the schools were closed for the afternoon and
