

SOCIETY and PERSONAL ACTIVITIES of WOMEN

Now that the ivy which has been clinging to the boxes of the Oliver theater since all of us old settlers first started to kindergarten, which have so often proved stumbling blocks to many a person of real dignity have been replaced by a nicely carpeted incline and the seats have been made so comfortable that we are no longer embarrassed to invite our tall friends to accompany us when we have passes and with the opening only one week distant, the Orpheum lights already turned on for the season, all the school teachers home and ready for the Institute this coming week, the League of Women Voters fairly launched in its work for the approaching campaign and with our fall hat already purchased, which gives us the satisfaction of knowing that we look five years younger than the family record shows, we feel that we are ready for the fast approaching social activities of the early autumn, which give promise of being unusually gay.

The engagement of Miss Gorgene Muesel, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Charles Muesel, 467 N. Michigan st., and Giles L. Cain, of Stretport, Ill., was announced Saturday afternoon at a tea given for 40 guests who were regaled between the hours of 3 and 4. Miss Ruth Stoll and Miss Dorothy Miller presided over the tea table, which was made unusually lovely with a basket of yellow snapdragons and summer lilacs in the purple shades, and was lighted by yellow shaded candles in silver holders tied with purple tulle, the color scheme of yellow and purple, the early autumn shades being carried out in the entire decoration of the home, quantities of yellow daisies and purple asters being used to obtain the artistic effect.

The engagement was announced by hearts concealed in the bon bon cups, on which were written the names of Miss Muesel and Mr. Cain. Miss Florence Guthrie entertained the guests with several vocal selections.

Mr. Cain is well known in this city, having attended Notre Dame university for seven years, graduating there in June.
