

COST OF PAVING HAS DECREASED, FIGURES REVEAL

Bids Submitted for South Main Street Job Show Lower Prices Prevail.

Reduction in the cost of street paving, especially as affecting asphalt concrete, was shown by information obtained at the office of the board of public works Monday in connection with the proposed St. Main st. paving, against which remonstrators recently filed suit to compel the common council to rescind its order on the public works board to award the contract and order the paving work go on to completion.

The White Construction Co. and the Williston people recently submitted competitive bids for the proposed work. The St. Main st. paving has been the subject of controversy by the board of public works since last spring, those against the improvement being now on the defensive following the order by the council last Monday.

The White figures, formerly in line with those of the Williston Co., ranging from $3.20 to $3.50 a square yard for asphalt concrete where Trinidad lake asphalt is specified, are reduced 50 cents from the last quotation furnished by the company, to a price of $2.80.

A comparison of bids, which show a considerable reduction from former prices by the White Co., follows:

A hearing on the proposed pavement was given by the board of public works in June. At that time sheet asphalt was specified. Remonstrances were filed and final disposition was made of the matter by the board referring it to the common council. That body tabled the resolution.

In September, property owners seeking the improvement filed a petition with the board bearing the required number of signatures calling for the asphaltic type of pavement. On Sept. 26 the question again came before the council, which passed favorably upon it and ordered the board to receive bids and award contract. Bids were received last Thursday and after the required ten days for remonstrators to file it was expected that the board would act upon the bids and award the contract for the work at their regular meeting next Tuesday.

Anticipating that favorable action would be taken by the board and a contract awarded for the work, remonstrators, totaling 40 per cent, it is said, of the property owners affected, have filed suit in circuit court hoping to forestall the street improvement until a later time.

The board, it is said, is expected to hold up the expected work that suit has been brought and await the action of the court.

GILMER AND MILBURN AT MORRIS PLAN MEET

Frank Gilmer, general counsel and A. Milburn, manager of the Morris Plan company of South Bend have gone to St. Louis to attend the annual convention of the Morris Plan System.

In a summary report of the progress of the Morris Plan recently published it is shown that the Morris Plan System has loaned to date in excess of $240,000,000. The Morris Plan today represents 103 banks and companies with resources well over $500,000,000. It is interesting to note in spite of the unemployment situation and industrial depression prevailing in certain sections of the country the volume of business in the Morris Plan is greater this year than ever before. It is also noted that the savings have consistently increased this year. Some of the Morris Plan banks show an increase of over 50 per cent.

The Morris Plan System is ever in the vanguard of progress. There has recently been launched a new feature in the Morris plan activity. It is now possible for a saver to carry a savings account and have one's life insured, with the company carrying the premiums and paying for same out of the interest earnings.

After-Dinner Tricks

A match box placed upright on the back of the hand. It is pushed down, but immediately rises to its former position. After some repetition, the box is held for examination, but nothing unusual is discovered. In setting the box on the back of the hand, the drawer is pushed out slightly and, in pushing it back, a bit of flesh is pinched between the box and the edge of the drawer. This is the secret of the trick. The box is held flat on the back of the hand, but by merely doubling the fingers it will rise as on a hinge.

BOOSTERS FOR SOUTH BEND

CARE OF TREES ARGUED AT MEET OF CITY FATHERS

Common Council Handles Various Matters at Session of the Whole.

Richard Elbel, president of the Board of Foresters, led a fight for the enactment of an ordinance regulating the trimming of trees abutting and located on city streets before the common council in a meeting of the committee of the whole Monday night. The measure as written without amendment would give the park board sole authority of all tree, shrubbery and hedge trimming, removal and planting, according to certain members of the council who showed an unwillingness to be swung into line in its favor.

After more than 45 minutes debate on the matter, during which the park board's head cited the enactment of such a forestry law in a majority of the cities of Indiana and adjoining states, committee, including Baumback, Bailey and Governor, were appointed by the chair to sit with the members of the park board, obtain information as to the specific intent of the proposed measure and report back three weeks hence with their recommendations.

CHAMBER CONDEMNS WALKOUT PROPOSAL

Local Body Sends Resolution to President Harding Regarding Strike.

One hundred and twenty-five members of the Chamber of Commerce at their Monday noon luncheon today unanimously passed a resolution opposing to a railroad strike in the United States at this time. A copy of the resolution was immediately sent to President Harding. E. H. Kietz, editor and publisher of the Indiana Labor Journal spoke before the meeting and expressed his disapproval of a railroad strike at this time.

The resolution reads: The South Bend Chamber of Commerce in meeting assembled believes the proposed reduction in railroad rates is necessary for a reduction in freight rates, and we urge the President of the United States to use the full power of the government to operate the railroads in event a strike should be proclaimed.

We disapprove the action of the railway unions in calling a strike at this time as such an act can be construed as an act of disloyalty, because of its effect on the nation's business, thereby, directly bringing about wide-spread unemployment, which will seriously aggravate the present situation.

Owen E. Hotte gave a 10-minute talk on "Amusements" and Jake Handelman of the Palace corporation, provided a musical entertainment which included a soprano soloist from Chicago, whose efforts received applause.

Audience Weeps With Tragedies of Forgotten and Neglected Age.

An audience that wept with the tragedies of forgotten and neglected age, that thrilled with the self-sacrifice of youth and laughed over the comedies of childhood gave its unqualified approval to 'Over the Hill' at the opening presentation at the Oliver Monday.

In Mary Carr the devoted of the screen will find a veritable Bernhardt of the leading role of mother was more than an artistic triumph. It has the fundamentals of real genius and she reaches a standard of genuine acting which others will find hard to follow.

The story brings with it a sermon against selfishness and a bold, impelling demand for reverence of all mothers and the criminality of neglecting to educate the children of the world and lift it by their love.

The characters might have stepped from the real life of many families. There is a father, indifferent and lazy, who finally becomes criminal. The other group of children, each with a different temperament—the hypocrite, the wayward, the glib, the protector, the careless and the loyal.

In a gripping sequence, melodramatic at times and always tense, the grand abandonment of the mother by all save the misunderstood son, who undergoes all sacrifices to save the others, is portrayed. Finally, of course, the true characters are unmasked and there is a smile on mother's face after the years of tears and tragedy.

BOTTLE OF WHITE MULE IS STRONG AS LIQUOR

The irony of fate was with the law yesterday when Joseph Barca, proprietor of a soft drink parlor at 801 South Chapin street hurried a half pint bottle of "mule" 90 feet against the wall of the Oliver Foundry across the street in an attempt to destroy evidence. The bottle despite the force of the throw failed to break and was seized by the raiding police squad.

Detective Brumfield and detail visited Barca's "soft drink parlor" late yesterday afternoon. Upon the approach of the officers Barca disappeared through the side door and was found by Detective Bloom in the act of throwing the bottle.

Markets and Financial News

PENDING STRIKE WORRIES BROKERS

Wall Street Financiers Influenced in Dealings by Threatened Walkout.

NEW YORK, Oct. 17.—Trading in the stock market today was almost wholly influenced by the graver aspects of the railway labor situation and other developments of unfavorable import, including the further severe shrinkage of German exchange rates from 13 to 12 cents, the exchange of 1 to 3 points, as well as equipment, steels, motors, coppers and other issues of kindred description. In several instances, notably among minor or inactive transportation, these reversals were extended a considerable extent.

Oils were inclined to resist the general pressure at the outset, but the weight of offerings gradually effected substantial recessions in that quarter. Royal Dutch was among the issues under attack, and the announcement of reports that the company had sold its holdings in Mexican Eagle Oil. Other points of weakness embraced shippings, tobacco, textiles, leather and some of the utilities, including express companies.
