

WINIFRED BLACK

Young Mr. Furrows, whom the boys call "Grumpy" Furrows, says the world is not as happy as it was in the days long gone by.

Inventions have only made more work, for the more you work the more you want.

"The sewing machine did not lessen the sewing," says Mr. Furrows. "The women and men only put more sewing into clothes and the work is harder than ever."

"Furrows is just out of the university and as yet has done nothing to involve himself with the world. If he isn't careful, he is going to be one of the old young men, who never get much beyond their college days."

So pessimism is the frame of mind carried by such old young men as Furrows.

The automobile, now, is one of the so-called illusions of happiness which our philosopher likes to examine and then throw contemptuously away with a bitter smile.

Makes the World Happier.
"Think of what the motor car has added to human life," he will say. And then he proceeds to prove how wicked and uncivilized the world is, and to present his evidence from reports of the automobile as a discourager of decency.

At first, we were all a little dashed by the cold philosophy of the young cynic. But at last, some of us took heart of grace. When was there ever a time, we asked, when you could go miles and miles, from state to state and across country, and visit Father and Mother and the old friends you love so well?

It was not so long ago when, going far from home, one was uncertain about seeing the loved ones again for a long time. Now we take the car and hurry back to the faithful hearts at home, stay a week, perhaps, in the summer holiday—and then away we go, back to the homes we have made for ourselves.

The more closeness of the families who used to be separated by one of the blessings we should not forget when we are counting our mercies.

And who can say he ever knew anything about the city, the county or the state he lives in, until he had the automobile to speed him over the ground and show him every pleasant stretch of woods and fields, every pretty home, every view worth seeing, in the country round?

The automobile has made the world happier and better. Everything which brings us closer to our fellows and to the great heart of Nature, is making us and the world we live in better. Of course, every blessing may be given its reversed side, but it is a shame to allow that side to let us forget what is best in life.

Life Takes Us All.
The freedom, the joy in a brisk ride in a good automobile, cannot be estimated. Never were we really free before, and never before were we able to see those we love and visit them so often. The world is so much better than it used to be, there's no telling how we endured it before the hurry of the machine came to help us out.

Fie, fie, "Grumpy" Furrows! You haven't learned how to be happy and good. You need many more lessons before you get anywhere. Life will give them to you, and may you be happy at last and go to work at some honest calling, where you will

M. P. WILL AGAIN SHINE AT CAPITAL

WASHINGTON, Nov. 10.—The dreaded "M. P." will shine in all his glory again during the Washington conference.

While the American soldier is an excellent fighting man, he is a bit careless about his dress and is prone to overlook an unforeseen button and little details. Col. C. S. Babcock, chief of staff of the army district of Washington, is determined that the privates and officers shall look their best in the presence of the foreign plenipotentiaries.

So he is assembling a young army of "M. P.'s", who will patrol the city in search of offenders. The "M. P." will be empowered to correct and if necessary, arrest anyone from gobs to buck privates and generals.

SLAY GENDARMES IN SEIZED CITY

LONDON, Nov. 10.—Five hundred red native gendarmes and officers were massacred by Kurds following occupation of the town of Suljbulak, according to a dispatch today from Allahabad, British India, newspapers.

QUIT MEAT IF YOUR KIDNEYS ACT BADLY

Take Tablespoonful of Salts if Back Hurts or Bladder Bothers.

We are a nation of meat eaters and our blood is filled with uric acid, says a well-known authority, who warns us to be constantly on guard against kidney trouble.

The kidneys do their utmost to free the blood of this irritating acid, but become weak from the overwork; they get sluggish; the eliminating tissues clog and thus the waste is retained in the blood to poison the entire system.

When your kidneys ache and feel like lumps of lead, and you have stinging pains in the back or the urine is cloudy, full of sediment, or the bladder is irritable, obliging you to seek relief during the night; when you have severe headaches, nervous and dizzy spells, sleeplessness, acid stomach or rheumatism in bad weather, get from your pharmacist about four ounces of Jad Salts; take a tablespoonful in a glass of water before breakfast each morning and in a few days your kidneys will act fine. This famous salts is made from the acid of grapes and lemon juice, combined with lithia, and has been used for generations to flush and stimulate clogged kidneys; to neutralize the acids in urine so it is no longer a source of irritation, thus ending urinary and bladder disorders.

Jad Salts is inexpensive and cannot injure; makes a delightful effervescent lithia-water drink, and nobody can make a mistake by taking a little occasionally to keep the kidneys clean and active. —Adv.
