TWO WEDDINGS ON CHRISTMAS

Miss Lillian Roggemann Bride of Guy Ochampaugh—Mogge-Doremeyer Wedding.

Two weddings were solemnized in Mishawaka on Christmas day. Guy J. Ochampaugh and Miss Lillian M. Roggemann, two popular young people, were married yesterday afternoon at 3 o'clock at the home of the bride's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Adolph Roggemann, 309 E. Lawrence st. The ceremony was performed by the Rev. Otto Turk, pastor of St. Peter's Lutheran church in the presence of 40 guests. The decorations at the home were red and green in keeping with the Christmaside.

The bride was attired in an attractive gown of Harding Blue charmeuse and wore a corsage of roses. She was attended by her niece, Miss Ruth Roggemann, who wore a dress of navy blue charmeuse and wore a corsage of roses. George Roggemann, brother of the bride, was the best man. The bridal shower from Leobenstein was played by Miss Vera Berry and Marvin Roggemann, niece and nephew of the bride.

Following the ceremony a dinner was served by the Misses Nettie Krushanski, Hazel Wemman and Vera Berry. Covers were laid for 40. Among the guests was Roger Fenska, South Bend.

The groom is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Charles Ochampaugh, 512 W. Grove st.

Mr. and Mrs. Ochampaugh will reside at their newly furnished home at 237 E. Lawrence st., and will be at home to their friends after Jan. 1, 1922.

Mogge-Doremeyer Wedding.

Dean Mogge of South Bend and Miss Gladys Doremeyer were married at the home of the bride's parents, Mr. and Mrs. J. W. Doremeyer, 412 W. Battell st., yesterday at 1 o'clock.

The bride was attended by Miss Ruth Roggemann, Roger Fenska of South Bend acted as the best man. Following the ceremony a wedding breakfast was served to the invited.

The bride is a graduate of the Mishawaka high school class of '21. The groom is the son of Mr. and Mrs. J. A. Mogge, 1923 Portage av., South Bend.

LINCOLN.

If you possess the divine spark you won't take advice or need it," recently remarked Norma Talmadge who will be presented in the Lincoln revival of "Poppy" at the Lincoln theater today only. This answer came in response to one of the many letters which the star receives from motion picture aspirants.

"What is more to the point," went on Miss Talmadge, "if advice is worth anything it is seldom appreciated when given away. Things that you don't have to pay for—advice included—seldom benefit one. Of course, it is hard to come out bluntly and state the bad facts to the ambitious young folks—it would be so discouraging to them. But I should, that's where I'm afraid of my own medication."

TEMPLE THEATER.

Constance Talmadge's latest starring vehicle, "Lessons in Love," is showing last times today in an adaptation from Douglas Murray's stage play, "The Man From Toronto." It is a story of hidden identity. Two old men attempt to pick a husband for their ward, a charming young girl. One of these old men tries to induce his nephew to come East and meet the girl. He refuses. The aged planners then decide that the uncle shall play dead, leaving a will which provides that the nephew shall inherit his fortune if he marries the girl. The report of the old man's death brings the young man east. The girl then decides to take a hand in her own affairs. So is not one to place herself on exhibition for a prospective husband to look over and reject, as may please him. She hides her identity behind a serving maid's uniform, and, thus disguised, plays fast and loose with him. Of course, he falls in love with her and she with him. There is a serious misunderstanding.

VISIT EX-SERVICE MEN.

Members of the Mishawaka post 161, American Legion yesterday visited ex-soldiers who are ill at Healthwin sanitarium at the local hospital and presented each with a handsome basket of fruit along with some canned fruit, home-made cake and cookies, provided by the Red Cross.

CHRISTMAS BABY BORN.

A boy was born to Mr. and Mrs. Fred Schroeder, W. Broadway, at St. Joseph's hospital late Saturday night. Both mother and child are doing well.

DID ANYONE FIND THIS?

Christmas would have been more enjoyable for a hard working young woman of Mishawaka had she not been so unfortunate as to lose $40 in bills and silver Christmas eve. The money was lost between First and Fourth sts. and was the savings and was asked to give publicity to the matter, and should anyone have found the money he or she is asked to return same to The News-Times, receive a reward, and also the heartfelt blessing of the loser.

VISITING SISTER.

John Fiske, a foreman in the Ford automobile factory, Detroit, is spending Christmas with his sister, Mrs. G. W. Titus, W. Lincoln Way.

A hidden treasure, valued at $5,000,000, has been discovered near Cuxhaven, in Germany.

ANNOUNCING THE NEWS-TIMES FUND FOR A FORD COUPE FOR MRS. SUE BAUER

As a tribute to the splendid work done by Mrs. S. N. Bauer, Mishawaka representative of the National Red Cross, a Ford coupe is to be presented to further assist in that work, if the project undertaken by the News-Times is carried through to completion. The necessary fund has already been started with an initial contribution of $25 by The News-Times, $25 by John Ruppe and $5 by Harvey Howard, of The News-Times staff.

Mishawaka is already familiar with the fine things Mrs. Bauer has done for the unfortunate. But many Mishawakians do not know of the inconvenience and discomfort attendant on such of what Mrs. Bauer does. The need for some means of conveyance is imperative; that need can be met if the public-spirited citizens of Mishawaka will recognize their responsibility in the matter. Contributions are being received by Frank E. Coates, who has charge of the fund, or may be mailed to the Mishawaka branch of The News-Times to be forwarded to Mr. Coates.

The same care and attention is paid to the store fronts of Mishawaka as are paid in the biggest cities in the country. Just look at this store front. It is the enterprising and energetic Mishawaka Clothiers, and the window is the result of the creative genius of Louis Kekko, the "peppy" manager of this store, which opened in Mishawaka a little more than a year ago.

Fellowship to Hear Cope, King of Humorists and Kentucky Feudist

Don't forget the last 1921 banquet of the Fellowship club! It comes the day after Christmas, Tuesday evening, Dec. 27. Scene, Mishawaka hotel. Election of officers and directors for the coming year will be held, and an exceptional speaking and entertainment program is scheduled.

James A. Burns, now president of Omaha university, Kentucky, once a Kentucky feudist, will tell how he became a college president. Herbert Leon Cope is coming! The same Cope who thrilled 2,000,000 doughboys with his eloquence during the late war and the same Cope who has talked to almost as many civilians before and since the war. He is popularly known as the "King of Humorists." The army called him "Kill-the-Blues Cope."

Cope has been one of the sensations of the Lyceum and Chautauqua world for the past three years. It is better than ever on his present tour, and the enthusiastic press notices which have chased him around the country on his present Lyceum trip are said to be the most flattering ever received by an American lecturer.

Cope is not only a humorist, but he is a great preacher. Not an orthodox, ordained minister, you understand, but a man who preaches through inspiration and through the grasp he gets on his hearers by means of his wonderful humor.

Cope's personal story is an interesting one. Fifteen years ago he was a very popular lecturer just coming into fame. A few years later, through loose companionships, he fell—and fell hard. For several years he was in the depths and the world forgot Herbert Leon Cope. Then came the war and with it came an awakened manhood. The years had left their cruel markings, but something whispered that still he might do some good—for someone. He came back—just as hard as he fell. He talked "right living" in the army camps—for Uncle Sam could not use him as a soldier. His work was big, big, and before the armistice he had addressed more than 2,000,000 soldiers. Cope's work was one of the sensations of the morale program during the war. He is better than ever now, and still preaching the doctrine of sunshine and clear living.

towards the end, but the decidedly complex situation is finally smoothed out.

CENTURY.

Mr. Senger, manager of the Century theater had made arrangements for a special Monday Christmas matinee and night performance, when Harry Carey, popular western star appears in "Hearts Up." The story is out of the ordinary and with an original twist at the finish. It concerns a rough mountaineer, who tries to mother a grownup girl and falls in love with her instead. Mr. Carey is at his best in this role and changes easily from the wistful lover to the strong western man who knows how to use his fists to advantage.

HERE FROM CLEVELAND.

AMONG PROMINENT CITIZENS

"Bill" Parmenter, Mishawaka's veteran jeweler and all round good fellow requires no introduction to Mishawaka people. His place of business on Lincoln Way, East has long been a favorite as much because of "Bill's" genial and ever-ready smile of welcome as the complete and up-to-date equipment of his establishment. He is a member of the Fellowship club, the chamber of commerce, the Miami Country club, and other local organizations. He has a beautiful home on Homewood av.

TELLS OF NEW STYLES.

Recently returned from the markets of New York City, D. D. Gross of the Midway Shop contributes his impressions of new spring styles. Like a promise of spring, even before the winter is upon us, are the first showings of models. Mr. Gross tells us: "One sees soft fabric, colors very like blossoms, and new modes which are merely indications of what will be the style when spring is truly here. Honors are also given in New York between the smart, yet simple, tailored frock in cloth and the charming models fashioned of various silks. Canton crepe persists in popularity, crepe de Chine is used again, taffeta is featured by the big wholesale houses specializing in youthful effects, and among the new fabrics are crepe Roma, response and novelty silks. Woo-Kind, a silk with an sponge finish and a satin plaid stripe, is a feature. Chiffon is extremely popular for evening frocks, while Canton crepe is much used for semi-formal evening gowns, some of which are shown and show most of the decorations on the skirt. Mr. Gross said that there were no radical changes in general lines, in fact if anything there is a tinge of moderation in the styles, for example, the extremely wide sleeve has now become a three-quarter affair. Rumors that skirts will be longer are apparently unfounded, but skirts on evening gowns are slightly longer. Embroidery appears to find favor for the coming season.

JOHN CARROLL TO BE BROUGHT BACK FOR BURIAL

The body of John Carroll, a former resident, who died at Detroit, Saturday morning, will be brought back here for burial according to a telegram received here last evening. The body will arrive this afternoon at 3:07 o'clock and will be taken to the Hummer funeral home, 535 Lincoln way W. Funeral arrangements will be completed and announced later.

Mr. Carroll is well known here having lived here for 20 years. He left this city about three years ago. He is survived by four children: Mrs. George Wachs, 510 W. Sixth st., city; the Misses Dorothy and Florence Carroll of Gary, and John Carroll of Detroit.

Fire and Police Chiefs Retire Next Week After Four Year Term

Valentine J. Pfender, who retired next week as chief of Mishawaka's police department, leaves that office at the end of a four year term, with an enviable record of having made one of the best police executives this city has ever had. Four years ago he took office. He did not have one enemy. Now, at the end of four years of faithful, efficient service, during which he served all the people of Mishawaka, without fear or favor, he retires. Enemies he has, but they are a tribute to him and his splendid work. Chief Pfender, it is said, will accept a position of trust and importance with the railway police. He is very popular in Mishawaka and his record as an able police executive has spread to many parts of the state.

BIG GERMAN RANGE GUN WAS "FORCED"

Ludendorff Ordered Longer Range for "Bertha" to Demoralize Paris.

BERLIN, Dec. 25.—Though the main secret of the German guns which bombarded Paris was soon known to British artillery, the gun and its story long remained a mystery to the public. Commander Kinzel of the German navy, who took part in the design, construction and tests of the gun, has now made public an account of his experience with it.

The gun, he says, was a naval gun in the design. It was invented and designed by naval personnel. It was not, altogether a sudden idea to produce a gun that could shoot as far as Paris from the German line. The range had steadily risen.

When the war broke out the heaviest German gun could only fire a distance of 35 kilometers (nearly twenty-two miles). Then the need was felt for a gun with a range of 45 kilometers (about 28 1-2 miles), so as to be able to bombard Dunkirk, a 45-centimeter gun was designed, and on April 24, 1915, the first shell was projected into Dunkirk harbor. By January, 1917, a German gun had been constructed able to bombard St. Omer and Doullens from Cambrai, a distance of 62 kilometers (nearly 39 miles).

In the spring of 1918 Gen. Ludendorff had given his consent to the construction of an experimental gun that should be able to bombard Paris from the German line, then distant, only 90 kilometers (56 1-2 miles).

To Work at Once. The naval ordnance staff at once went to work on the difficult problem of ballistics involved. Before they could embark on construction work they had to study the minds some picture of the loading chamber, to calculate the weight of projectile, and decide what propellant must be used. Something like double the usual initial velocity was required, and an immense amount of research was necessary. It was done in complete secrecy.

When the work had been in progress for nine months, Ludendorff suddenly requested them to alter the design so as to make the range 120 kilometers (75 miles) instead of 100. Commander Kinzel observes that it was rather like saying to an athlete, "You have jumped five feet ten inches; now jump six feet."

For a long time the designers were at a loss, but ultimately they succeeded to have overcome all ballistic difficulties and the gun was built.

Length Was Monstrous. The charge, ordinarily one-third of the weight of the projectile, was twice as heavy. The length of the chamber was monstrous. At an angle of 45 degrees the barrel towered over houses, trees, and roofs. It needed some courage to shoot with a thing like "a stick of gigantic asparagus." But the material stood it.

Commander Kinzel gives an interesting account of the testing; no artillery trial ground, he says, was large enough, and the proposal to fire over the enemy territory was rejected because that would have given away valuable technical information. In conjunction with the ministry of marine the decision was reached to fire the gun from land at about the approximate distance from the sea the shell was calculated to carry. Batteries on the shore were warned, the ground divided into observation areas, and two seaplanes were sent out to set to watch for the shell. It was estimated that it would explode at 110 kilometers (68 miles) from the gun.

A Cowshed Was Hit. At 3:15 one afternoon the seaplanes were warned by wireless, "Attention shell fire." Three minutes was the time estimated for the shell to reach the marked area. Then came a bang on the telephone at the central station: "Reports of explosion heard." It was found on inquiry that the shell had fallen at 95 kilometers (59 miles) from the gun, and 1,400 yards inland. It had hit a cowshed, but there were no casualties.

The pieces were collected and examined. They showed that the shell had been to an altitude of 40 kilometers. The distance, however, was short of that for which the gun was designed, and there followed new consultations, calculations, and designs. Finally, a few weeks later,

The guns, however, had a life of less than one hundred shots before the ignition chamber was so damaged that further firing was impossible. The old barrel was returned to the factory, a new one being ready. The battery lost seven killed and thirteen wounded, and was afterwards moved forward into the triangle. Soissons, Chateau-Thierry, Reims. Of its activities there Commander Kinzel has little to say. The French soon made the position too hot for them, but they got the guns away without mishap.

WILSON MEMORIAL DRIVE.

WICHITA, Kan., Dec. 25.—A drive for funds for the Woodrow Wilson memorial will be made throughout the state of Kansas during the week of Jan. 14. Plans for the campaign have just been completed following a meeting of the Kansas advisory committee here.

The purpose of the drive is to raise funds for perfecting a foundation which will be pledged to carry forward Woodrow Wilson's work, particularly his ideas for world-wide peace.

WANTED SON KILLED.

ELYRIA, Dec. 25.—That her husband, Henry, during the recent world war, frequently expressed the desire that the Germans would kill their oldest son, serving in the United States army, that her husband was pro-German and that he frequently beat her, are claims made in the answer filed by Mrs. Martha Henes, of Amherst, to the divorce proceedings instituted by Henes, marking the end of 34 years of married life.

AMERICAN YOUTHS WORSE.

DETROIT, Dec. 25.—American-born youths in Detroit commit more crimes than those of foreign birth, Paul H. Voorhees, prosecutor, declares.

"Of the 153 cases of boys under 21 placed on probation this month 126 were American and 27 were foreigners. This despite the fact that 70 per cent of Detroit's population is composed of persons of foreign birth or parentage," he said.
