INTERMEDIATES DEFEAT WEST SIDE FIVE IN HARD GAME

Win 22 to 20 in Overtime Fray—Business College Defeats Berrien Springs.

Two games of importance to followers of minor basketball were contested last night. The work of the Y. M. C. A. 125 pound intermediates faced the "Leo" basket tossers from the west side of the city, and the South Bend Business college five met and defeated the Berrien Springs High School quintet, 22 to 20.

Coach Kizer sent a badly crippled quintet onto the floor, minus two of his star performers, but they succeeded in tossing four baskets in two days. The work of Henry Ednar was also a feature of the game. He was sent into the game with a badly wrenched back, but succeeded in tossing four baskets in two days. Beat Berrien Springs.
Too much Eadabazh, Sharpe and Slodgett were the cause of the Berrien Springs quintet falling before the local Business college five. On the coming Friday the Business college five will play the teaming rivals on their own floor. One of the cause of their defeat, one of the Michigan players declared, was the small floor. The result of the coming fracas will determine in a measure the exact caliber of the local basket tossers. The squad is being coached by Capt. Rhodes, star forward of the Y. M. C. A. basketball team.
The work of Radabaugh was particularly good. He proved a fine passer and also played a good defensive game. Sharpe tossed four baskets, while his three teammates each turned in one basket for their share in the win. The lineup: Bus, College (27) Ber. "Y" LIGHTWEIGHTS IN EASY VICTORY

Marquette Hall of Michigan City Downed by Local Midgets, 28 to 12.

In a bitterly contested basketball game the local Y. M. C. A. Lightweights trounced the Marquette Hall Midgets 28 to 12 Tuesday night on the Michigan City floor. The small floor handicapped the local players. Johnny Nyikos, of high school fame, was an individual star of the game. He made six baskets. Morris Dome, the flashy little forward on the premier lightweight quintet, shared honors with Nyikos, scoring eight points. Hollowell and Smith also showed well. Hollowell scored three baskets while Smith tallied one.

NEW YORK, Jan. 4.—Bids on the construction of the New York American league club's new baseball park were called for Wednesday.

Presidents Prove All Supermen Are Not on the Coast

Official's Action in Offside Ruling Tough Break for Coach Neale's Team.

The Washington and Jefferson-California game is over, and Coach Neale's eleven has proved that all the supermen in football are not on the Pacific coast.

The game has also demonstrated the W. & J. has a better team than most of the critics gave it credit for, or else California wasn't as strong as the advance notices made us believe.

Washington and Jefferson was robbed of a victory because of one of the toughest breaks a football team could possibly get, the calling of an off-side play, as a touchdown is scored.

Shortly after the game had started, Halfback Brenkert ran 40 yards for a touchdown. The score was not allowed because one of the officials ruled a W. & J. player was off-side.

That score would have given the eastern eleven victory, had it been allowed.

All of which brings us to the real reason for this story. The life of a college football official is no longer a soft job. Once upon a time the colleges accepted the rulings of the officials without comment. Those were the happy days of the officials, but they no longer exist.

Off-side and holding plays are a question of judgment purely. They are similar to the ball and strike, or the cut and safe decisions of the baseball umpire. The baseball official reaches a decision and gives it. Often he is the only person in the ball park who takes that view.

That turned out to be a tough ruling when I called that player for holding. It was the worst bit of holding I have seen in many a game. Since it kept one of the teams from winning the game, that college will probably have no further use for me for a couple of years.

Football officials are agreed upon usually by the contending teams. A ruling that beats a college out of an important game is certain to eliminate that official from working for that particular college for years.

Sensational Statement. This fact was brought out at the recent meeting of college football officials in New York. E. K. Hall, chairman of the intercollegiate football rules committee, made the following sensational statement:

"I had another reason for eliminating by certain colleges and led to shut their eyes to infractions of the rules because they are warned that infliction of penalties would cause them to be barred from games played in by these institutions."

If the spirit of sportsmanship is dying out in the colleges, where can one look for it? B. E.

Youngster Turns in Three Wonderful Games in Big Series Despite Injury.

BY BILLY EVANS. Those sitting out in front never know what is going on back of the scenes.

That is true of the ball field as well as the theater. While the crowd laughs and applauds, tragedy in its various forms is often enacted behind the scenes. Humor also has its place.

In baseball, the field is the stage, the clubhouse is behind the scenes. Waite Hoyt, star pitcher of the New York Americans, was the big figure in such a setting during the 1921 series with the Giants.

After the second game of the series in which Hoyt had held the Giants in the hollow of his hand, he dropped around to the Yankee's clubhouse to see how the team felt after twice defeating the Giants, each time over the shutout route.

I had another reason for eliminating by certain colleges and led to shut their eyes to infractions of the rules because they are warned that infliction of penalties would cause them to be barred from games played in by these institutions."

When I dropped into the clubhouse I found Hoyt, the center of a crowd of all the Yankees. The usual noise that goes with a world series victory was lacking.

COLLEGE CHATTER

When Walter Camp selected Schwab, of Lafayette, Devine of Iowa and Muller of California for the All-America team, it was the first time a player from these institutions was so honored.

Two former Penn State stars will have a try-out with the New York Americans this spring. They are Glenn Killinger, the star of Penn State's 1921 football team, and Hinky Haines, who was the big nose in 1920.

Georgia Tech is to have a place on the Navy schedule for 1922. The southern eleven, known as the Golden Tornado, for some reason not yet satisfactorily explained, will play at Annapolis Oct. 28.

University of Michigan has just authorized a summer school for athletic coaches and has made Coach Fielding Yost its director. It will include instruction in all branches of college athletics.

O'Hearn, who played a star game at quarterback for Yale last season, is out with an injured knee. He sustained a muscle rupture in a recent hockey game and is out for the rest of the season. Yale expects big things from him in football.

The University of Washington baseball team recently completed a four months' tour in the Orient. Most of the games were played with Japanese college teams. Twenty-three games were won out of 31 played.

The University of Pittsburgh plans big things in a baseball way. The best throw of dice is never to play at all.

CHICAGO U. FIVE WEAK AS SEASON SCHEDULE OPENS

Coach Norgren Worried as Ohio Game Nears and Machine Fails to Work.

By Associated Press. CHICAGO, Jan. 4.—While students of the University of Chicago enjoyed a week's Christmas vacation, the Maroon basketball squad spent every afternoon practicing to overcome weaknesses which cropped out in their early encounters.

Coach Nols Norgren, in charge of the quintet, is worried. He has a large and promising aggregation of steady and consistent players, with two or three individual stars, and plenty of material which can be molded into stars; yet his team is weak and far from the standard set by last year's squad. Birkhoff, Crisler and other alumni who won fame in the basket game are assisting Norgren from the sidelines.

Romey, who showed up as an individual star and point winner in the early games, is having trouble to get the proper co-operation and team work into his efforts. In the short passing game, which Norgren is using, Romey is successful at receiving, but has proved inaccurate in passing. He is quick, however, and an excellent player, by far the best the Maroons have this year.

Halladay Worried. Capt. Halladay, who has shown a surprising lack of form for an experienced and consistent player, is visibly worried about himself. Coach Norgren expects him to improve with the progress of the schedule, however.

Among the new men, two have shown much promise. Campbell Dickson, a sophomore, is quick and an accurate passer. Besides standing a good chance of being a regular member of the lineup, he was a substitute on this year's football squad and is sure of a position on next year's team. He is also a high jumper of ability. Frieda, the lanky junior from Minnesota, has shown himself adept at throwing baskets.

He is also a possibility in the lineup near the end of the season. Bobby Stahr and John Bryan, both veterans, are doing fairly well in their positions. Bryan has recovered from the trouble with his knee cap that took him out of the football lineup and, barring a recurrence, will be in the opening games. The first conference game will take place Jan. 7 with Ohio state.

ELKHART PROMOTER ARRANGING BOUTS

Holmes After Ruhlin to Meet Clarence Willard at American Legion Show.

"Doc" Holmes, Elkhart boxing promoter, has been appointed matchmaker for the American Legion show to be held in that city this month and was in this city yesterday in an effort to induce Johnny McGowan, manager of Johnny Ruhlin, to agree to a 10 round battle between the Mieshawa waka welterweight and Clarence Willard. The men fought a stinging round at the opening show at McGowan's gymnasium and there are quite a few who believe that it is possible for Ruhlin to put Willard to sleep if he works along the right lines.

The possibility of the match being made is very bright and from the present outlook the men will be present for the main go. Ruhlin is out of town and though McGowan has the power to bind the match it is not known definitely whether or not his protegee will be in town in time for the engagement.

Ruhlin left shortly after Christmas for New York state, where he was instrumental in the training of Jack Perry for his fight with one of the Shade brothers. Ruhlin, after working out for days with Perry, wrote to friends here telling them that he was anxious for a bout with Jack, as he said he had no difficulty in peppering the Pittsburgher at will.

Perry was beaten by Shade, who Ruhlin hails as a wonder but who lacks steam in his punches. At Elkhart the legionnaires will do everything possible to put over a banner show. The bouts will be staged at the city armory and at least five bouts, including two 16 rounders, will be put on.

Kid Fay, Niles 126 pounder, is to appear in one of the battles, while Clay Mandolin is to appear in another. The other boxers have not been decided upon.

Wilson's Crown Now as Useless To Him as Snowshoes in Panama

Johnny Barred by New York Commission After "Set-to" With Tex Rickard.

BY HENRY L. FARRELL. NEW YORK, Jan. 4.—Without a place to use it, Johnny Wilson's middleweight title will turn out about as useful to him as snow shoes in Panama.

New York is the latest state to decree "We can't use you, John." Three other states have declared quarantine against him and practically nothing remains now but the small time where the champion will hear talk in dollars instead of thousands.

Career a "Mess." Wilson has been out of luck since he "won" the title from Mike O'Dowd and his championship career has been one mess after another.

In many cases, the crossed fingers which was at the mention of the middleweight king's name are justified but in the present case there are two sides to the story.

In announcing his intention to run out of a contract with Tex Rickard to meet Harry Greb, the Pittsburgh jumping-jack, Wilson was making what may prove a foolish attempt to get even with Rickard.

The feud dates back to Labor day when Rickard refused to carry out a contract to pay Wilson $37,500 for meeting Bryan Downey. Rickard said the New Jersey commission had ordered the money withheld but many whispers were heard that Rickard asked the commission to do it.

It has always been thought strange that the commission never took an open stand on the case. Action Hasty. Wilson wanted his money and also he didn't want to fight for it. Rickard wireless him the information that he could have the money if he would sign for another fight in the Garden and Wilson, flinching on using a club against a blackjack, signed to meet Greb and was given his money.

Wilson then wrote Rickard and said he had no intention of filling his contract. The letter was shown to the commission and he was suspended indefinitely. It looks as if the commission might have acted rather hastily. It might have been better to withhold judgment until the contract actually had been repudiated. Under the same circumstances it would be hard to imagine Commissioner Landis suspending a ball player because he wrote his manager he had no intention of filling a contract to play ball next season.

INTERCLASS TEAMS IN OPENING GAME

Yearling Five Swamps Sophomores—Seniors Win as Juniors Forfeit.

Interclass competition started yesterday afternoon at the local high school. With further drill, some strong quintets are bound to develop and may surprise those who are certain that the seniors will take the class championship. The freshmen took the strong sophomore five into camp, 18 to 0, while the seniors won a forfeit over the juniors. Capt. Godfrey Miller failed to show up with his junior five, much to the surprise of the many junior supporters present.

Little is known in regard to the respective strength of the yearling and senior fives, neither displaying a wish to open up with their best. But those who saw Capt. Morris Dome, of the freshmen, drop the ball into the loop time and time again, and saw the perfect teamwork that his men displayed, nodded their heads, and expressed doubt as to whether the seniors would sweep the Frosh teams before them as they may the other class teams.

The next games will be played on next Wednesday afternoon. The seniors are scheduled to clash with the yearlings, and the sophomores with the junior five.
