ACME CO. REMOVES PLANT FROM CITY

Factory Building Purchased in Niles—To Begin Operations at Once.

As a result of the destructive fire on the morning of July 4, which gutted the plant of the Acme Mfg. Co., officials of the plant have decided to remove from South Bend to Niles. One of the chief factors in this decision was the large quantity of unfulfilled orders on hand which made it almost imperative to resume operations at once or lose the orders.

Purchase of the plant formerly occupied by the McLaren-Slight corp., Niles toy manufacturers, was announced Monday by A. J. Rollert of Niles, the present owner of the building and its equipment. The consideration was $60,000.

The McLaren-Slight building, consisting of 40,000 square feet of floor space, will be occupied immediately by the Acme Co., which took formal possession Monday when it removed to the new site such of its old machinery as had not been destroyed in the recent fire. A number of experienced employees will be brought to Niles by the company, which plans to employ more than 60 hands at the outset.

It is estimated by E. Burner, president of the company, that operations here will begin within a fortnight, when more than 100 cedar chests a day will be manufactured in an effort to fill present orders. The raw material used in the manufacture of the chests is secured from a saw mill owned by Acme representatives at Chattanooga, Tenn. Removal to Niles will not result in any change in the personnel of the Acme corporation, it was learned.

DeBaits Trial Opens in Laporite Court

LA PORTE, July 17.—The jury to try the case of Adolph DeBaits of Mishawaka, charged with committing a criminal assault upon his 12 year old stepdaughter, was selected Monday in Judge John C. Richter's court.

Following the impeding of the jury, the first witness for the state, the 18 year old sister of the alleged victim of the assault, took the stand and gave testimony as to family history. It is expected that the state will have the 12 year old girl, who is the chief witness for the state, take the stand Tuesday.

Arthur L. Gillison of South Bend, is special state's attorney and in his opening statement to the jury panel this morning, outlined the cause of the action and the law which governs the case.

Should DeBaits be found guilty, the law automatically fixes punishment at life imprisonment, unless Cyrus Pattee of South Bend is defending DeBaits.

The case against DeBaits has been pending since his arrest early last fall. The case originated in the St. Joseph circuit court and was venued here. It has been delayed a number of times.

Local Man's Cottage Escapes Holand's Big Conflagration

Thirty cottages at Mackinac park, near Holland, Mich., were destroyed by fire Sunday morning with a loss of approximately $200,000. One of the cottages reported burned was owned by E. C. Westervelt, a relative of W. E. Westervelt, 521 N. Lafayette st., who also has a cottage there. Mr. Westervelt said last night that as far as he was able to learn, his cottage was not caught in the conflagration.

Although all the cottages were occupied, no one was injured. A little of the contents of the buildings were saved. These homes are numbered among the best along B's lake and Lake Michigan.

An overturned oil stove at the residence of W. E. Westervelt, 521 N. Lafayette st., was the cause of the fire which burned all the cottages in less than an hour and was under control at the end of that time.

Among the cottages destroyed was that of Melvin E. Trotter, superintendent of the Grand Rapids City Rescue mission.

Record Blurred!

John Novakowski, World War hero, recipient of Croix de Guerre, cited in orders several times for gallantry, still suffering from a wound received in the Marne offensive, had the first blood placed on his heroic military record Sunday when he spent 10 hours in the Mishawaka city jail for alleged disrespect to a superior officer.

Parishioners Pay Farewell Tribute To Father Carroll

St. Joseph's Pastor Bids Farewell to Parish at Notable Reception.

Parishioners of St. Joseph's church last night paid a farewell tribute to their pastor, Rev. Patrick J. Carroll, C. S. C., who, after a pastorate of over nine years, leaves to become professor of English and Irish literature at Notre Dame.

Following a report by William Benitz of the finance committee, John Hise gave a short address reviewing Father Carroll's accomplishments in the parish, showing that Father Carroll had been responsible for remarkable progress financially and spiritually in the parish.

As a token of the esteem of the parish, they pledged $1,400 with which to defray the expense of a trip by Father Carroll, to his home in Ireland. In addition, the parish presented Father Carroll with a beautiful South Bend watch, with the thought that each second represented a heart beating in St. Joseph's parish for him. The pastor was also presented with a set of books, the gift of the parishioners.

Father Carroll graciously responded to the presentation by saying that these gifts were not required to make him remember South Bend, that the devotion and the restraint of the parishioners in this trying time was sufficient. He came to St. Joseph's parish reluctantly, he said, and was leaving just as reluctantly and he would always remember St. Joseph's parish.

After the meeting, Father Carroll invited his parishioners on the lawn and bade each one a fond adieu.

JELLISON AGAIN FIGHTS TO HOLD OFF MURDER CASE

Charges Special Judge Not Legally Permitted to Sit—May Re-arrest.

Argument on the question of Judge Pro Tem A. N. Hildebrand's jurisdiction to sit as presiding judge in the trial of the three Mishawaka Greeks, Gust Homeros, John Demetrakis and Alek Hageres, charged with the murder of John Kalakis, was still to be heard Monday when court adjourned out of respect to the late Arthur B. Hunter, practitioner at the bar. The court ruling in this matter is expected today.

Pro. Floyd O. Jellison attacked the jurisdiction of Judge Pro Tem A. N. Hildebrand to sit in the case because of the manner of his appointment.

Lengthy legal argument ensued during the entire morning session in which the six attorneys for the three accused men, who are pressing the state for an early trial, cited authorities to show that the appointment of Judge Hildebrand for the balance of the court term was entirely regular and in accordance with legal procedure.

This is Pro. Jellison's second effort to stave off trial of the trio, having indicated previously in a motion for continuance, which was denied, that the pocketbook containing the money and check was in his hip pocket but had no suspicion as to who stole it from him.

COMMITTEE GRANTS FUNDS FOR SCHOOL AND PARK PROJECT

Council Committee Tables Request to Allow Buses on Michigan St.

The resolution authorizing the contract relating to the purchase of 12 lots in Park place, in addition by the board of school trustees at a cost of $7500 and an ordinance appropriating $7000 from the general fund to the board of park commissioners for pavement on Riverside drive, and N. Lafayette drive, were favorably reported upon at a meeting of the committee of the whole of the common council last night. An ordinance appropriating $412.50 from the general fund to the park commission of the finance department was also favorably acted upon.

A petition submitted to the committee in the interest of the Hauser Bus Co. and the Indiana Bus Co. to grant to auto buses the privilege of driving on Michigan st. between Colfax and LaSalle av., for the purpose of loading and unloading passengers at proposed new stations, was tabled by a unanimous vote.

An ordinance introduced to amend section 3 of ordinance No. 2310 pertaining to the distribution of samples and advertising matter was referred to the committee on ordinances to be again referred back to the committee of the whole. An ordinance amending section 711 of the building code relative to the covering of hot air pipes was reported favorably to the council as amended. Ordinances requiring the New Jersey, Indiana & Illinois R. R. Co. to install a crossing sign at the intersection of their right of way and Kemble av., and also at Frairie av., were reported favorably by the committee.

The property to be bought by the school city is located on the site of the Perley school building on the west and constitutes the west half of the block in which the school is located. The property is bounded by Eddy st. on the west, Arthur st. on the east, Carpeau st. on the north and Chicago st. on the south. The present structure is not believed to be adequate for the school expansion program that is contemplated and the property to be purchased will be used for this purpose.

Although the Hauser Bus Co. and the Indiana Bus Co. contend that their purpose in requesting the privilege of operating on Michigan st. was to provide suitable shelter for rough looking and undesirable persons during the winter months, the committee decided to table the petition because of the necessity of repealing or amending the present traffic ordinance. The fact that other lines would later request the use of the same street, further justifying the committee to withhold their permission.

Atty. A. L. Gillison appeared before the committee for Will H. Weaver, local distributor, and pointed out the disadvantages of ordinance No. 2310, relating to the distribution of advertising material. As the ordinance now stands, a permit for such distribution must be obtained from the Chief of Police. Weaver has requested that the ordinance be amended so that any competent party connected with the police department will have the right to issue such permits.

The practice of securing a separate permit and the submitting of a sample of the advertising material before each distribution, results in a great loss of time and money to the distributor, according to Weaver, and for this reason has requested the council to allow him a standing permit.

The post plans sending four delegates to the annual American Legion convention which is to be held at Terre Haute, Sept. 25, 26, 27.

Meal Costs Zimmerman $100; Believes Pocket Was Picked

John Zimmerman, 325 S. St. Joseph st., last night reported to the police the loss of $79 in money and a Studebaker pay check for $21.

Zimmerman entered the Higgin Lunch room at the corner of Lafayette st. and South st. shortly after 8 o'clock for his supper and when he reached the street found that his pocketbook was missing. He stated that the pocketbook contained the money and check was in his hip pocket but had no suspicion as to who stole it from him.

Car Occupants Escape Injury in Collision

Mr. and Mrs. Frank Scope, R. R. No. 1, were slightly injured when the Ford touring car in which they were riding was struck by a Studebaker touring car said to have been operated by Alfons Tomaszewski, 721 S. Kaley st., shortly after 8 o'clock last night at the corner of Division st. and Olive st.

Scope was driving his car east on Olive st. when his machine was struck by Tomaszewski who was turning south into Olive st. The Ford car was badly damaged on the right side, the fenders, headlight and bumper of the Studebaker car were bent.

The Scope's were badly shaken up but were able to proceed to their home. Motorcycle Officers Schriek and Hamilton answered the call last night to the police. The identity of the driver of the Studebaker car, who had left the scene of the accident. Scope stated that he would swear out a warrant for the arrest of Tomaszewski.

According to two witnesses, who were riding in the police car, Tomaszewski was intoxicated and was driving at a high rate of speed at the time of the accident.

Tiny Comforter, Image of Father, Born Day of Father's Funeral

As if the watchful angels knew the sorrow and the anguish in her heart and saw the need of solace in her tragedy, a tiny comforter, in the image of its father came to the widow of Arthur Hunter this morning to take the place of him who was laid away by mourning friends this afternoon.

The coming of this tiny victor had been looked forward to by the young couple as a crown to their love and its advent later in the fall had been to them a great expectation in life. Crushing grief at the sudden death of her husband hastened the event and so it happened that Monday morning, a little son came to earth to take the place, as far as might be, of the father who had gone away.

The funeral ceremonies, private except for a delegation from the American Legion, who paid a military tribute to their comrade, were held Monday afternoon at the Hunter residence, 321 Park st. Rev. Elmer Ward Cole of the First Christian church conducted the services.

Came then the disastrous series with the Giants, in which the Pirates' seven-game lead disappeared with unseemly haste, and the team was fortunate to finish second.

The Pirates struck a few slumps with the season only a few weeks advanced, have been at it more or less industriously ever since, and Gibson, the man of the hour in July, 1921, passes on out with the coming of July, 1922.

"A hard one day, bum the next," applies more readily to baseball than to any other activity of the sport field. A glance at Gibson's predecessors with the Pirates since Fred Clarke stepped down years ago is sufficient illustration, if you care to go that far.

But that isn't necessary. Consider the major league managers of the moment. They are nearly all one or two-year men, and their jobs are just about as sure as a politician's promise.

Bill Killefer, of the Cubs; Fred Mitchell, of the Braves; Irving Wilhelm, of the Phillies; Leo Fohl, of the Browns, and Ty Cobb, of the Tigers, fell heir to the jobs last year. Of the Pirates, only Bill McKechnie, reasonably certain of hanging on, and then only on condition that they continue to deliver.

Of the 1920 managerial crop there are Tris Speaker of the Indians; Hugh Bennett of the Athletics; Branch Rickey, of the Cubs; and Duffy may or may not stick, depending upon Mr. Frazee's pleasure.

From the year before remain Pat Moran, of the Reds, and Kid Gleason, of the White Sox, who fought upward against the odds to their present positions.

Rumors of Moran's passing have been waited about, but Gleason seems to be sitting pretty—for the time being at least.

That narrows the field down to the Huggins, who came to the Yankees somewhere back about 1917; Wilbert Robinson, leader of the Dodgers since 1915, and John McGraw, of the Giants, and Connie Mack, of the Athletics. Clyde Milan, of the Senators, and Bill McKechnie, of the Pirates are not mentioned because they have yet to receive a white man's chance.

Of the others, however, it is understood that Huggins must bring his Yankees home this year or take himself to the woods, and he has won in 1921, while Robbe, McGraw and Mack are fixtures.

The spare manager of the Athletics is part owner of the club, else he would hardly be with us now. No more managerial jobs are left for seven years and hence about that spot in the midst of his eighth season and still remain among those present. At that he won enough pennants between 1901 and 1914 to merit more than ordinary consideration.

Connie and McGraw, the winners of many pennants, stand out as the only twenty-year managers in all baseball, and they owe their longevity as much to circumstance as to results. Huggins, Robinson, McGraw and McGraw, in addition to given carte blanche in the matter of buying talent. Were it not for that it is extremely doubtful whether John would have been able to bag seven pennants in some twenty-two seasons.

The batteries for the winners were Klossowski and Straty and for the Stars Bry and Zardinski.

Police Arrest Six for Breaking Auto Lanes

Six automobile law violators were arrested yesterday afternoon, following numerous infractions of the law.

Jake Murphy, Bissell st., was arrested at 2:45 o'clock in the 1500 block Prairie av., charged with operating an automobile while intoxicated. Officer Bates placed the driver in the Indiana jail, under arrest when Lawrence passed a street car while unloading passengers.

Charles E. Fry, 1908 E. Calvert st., George M. Studebaker, Jr., 127 S. Taylor st., and Charles E. Hagen, 214 E. Indiana st., were arrested on charges of having improper licenses on trucks.

Officer McCormick arrested Charles E. Anderson, Elkhart at 4 o'clock yesterday afternoon, for the license of a motor vehicle and Michigan st., for having an improper license.

MANAGERIAL JOB IN MAJORS MOST UNCERTAIN "PAY"

Rise and Fall of Present Day Pilots is Parallel of Broker's Life.

By DAVIS J. WALSH

NEW YORK, July 15.—The recent passing of George Gibson from the Pittsburgh National League ball club and the list of major league managers gives ample evidence of the uncertainty of managerial favor. One year ago almost to the month George Gibson was embarking on a promising career as leader of the Pittsburgh Pirates. In a few buck jumps he took his team to the paces and kept it there until late August. At that time Gibson had the world by the tail and was swinging it about his graying head.

Came then the disastrous series with the Giants, in which the Pirates' seven-game lead disappeared with unseemly haste, and the team was fortunate to finish second.

WHEAT MARKET CLOSES HEAVY; PRICES DOWN

CHEAGAO, July 17.—Renewed talk of speedy termination of the railroad strike and also increased chances of escape from serious damage by black rust had much to do Monday for bringing about lower prices for wheat. The market closed heavy 1 1/2 to 2 1/2 net lower, with September $1.11 1/2 to $1.12 and July $1.14 to $1.14 1/2. Corn lost 1/2 to 1 1/2 cents and oats 1/2 to 1 cent.

SLEEVELESS SWEATER MAY BE BARRED NEXT

When Walter Hagen, winner of the British championship, stepped off the boat on his return from England one of the first things that was asked him was whether he was going to return next year. The questioner had a reason.

Travis won and they barred his sleeveless sweater from being worn from using the stoppung club after winning the title last year and now along comes Hagen and wins the title. What has Hagen got that the Royal and Ancient committee will bar from competition next year?

The committee got wind of the rumor that Hagen was flirting with the steel shaft. Walter likes the club and thinks it is a great boon to the duffer and the beginner as well as to the star. The R. & A. lost no time in putting the ban on it.

Now the old fogies must turn their attention to something else. Will it be Walter's black armless sweater or his wing tipped shoes with black and white effect? Walter uses a spliced driver; will they get that, or will they get his non-rustable irons? Will the new champion be barred from the clubhouse by glancing at a window display of steel clubs?
