

Tyner Items.

Mr. Robert Beagles, sr., visited over Sunday in South Bend with relatives.

Mr. and Mrs. F. Parish, of Laporte, spent Thanksgiving with Mrs. J. E. Johnson.

Walter Davis, of Teegarden, and his cousins from Ohio, were calling on friends here Sunday evening.

Frank Stanley, of South Bend, returned home Monday after visiting here several days with his mother.

Amos Sarber was seriously injured on the head yesterday while in the woods hauling logs. He is reported better at this writing—Wednesday.

Rev. Luke is holding a series of meetings at the U. B. church. Attendance and interest good.

Justin Myers and wife, of Teegarden, entertained on Thanksgiving Mr. and Mrs. Seybold and children of Plymouth, Mr. and Mrs. John Nye and Mr. and Mrs. Chase of Inwood.

Miss Bessie Johnson visited with friends at Argos last week.

Mr. and Mrs. Britton, of North Dakota, are visiting with the former's sister, Mrs. Deagles.

Dixon Lake Ripples.

Jack Siddall moved back to Plymouth last Saturday.

Mr. Ringenberg is building an addition to his barn.

Miss Ruth Logan visited her Grandmothers How and Logan last week.

Miss Edith Andrews spent Thanksgiving in Plymouth with her sister Mary.

Ort Hendee and family spent Thanksgiving with Mrs. Stevick.

Rev. P. L. Browns preached at Trinity last Sunday. There will be preaching again in two weeks.

Dr. How and family of Bremen spent Thanksgiving with Mrs. How.

Miss Mabel Logan attended the Teachers' Association at Argos last Friday and Saturday.

The West Township High School will give an entertainment at the West school house next Friday evening.

Mr. Metcalf spent Thanksgiving with his daughter and family at Argos.

The Companion's Seventy-Sixth Volume.

In 1902—the seventy-sixth year of its publication—The Youth's Companion promises more varied attraction for its readers than ever before, and The Companion always gives more than it promises. The government of the United States will be represented in contributions from Secretary of the Treasury Gage, Secretary of the Navy Long, Postmaster General Smith, and Assistant Secretary of War Sanger—a list, it is believed, never equalled in a previous year.

The government of Great Britain will be represented by contributions from the Duke of Argyll, the Marquis of Duferin and Ava and Rt. Hon. James Bryce, T. P. O'Connor and Winston S. Churchill, members of the House of Commons.

Other noteworthy contributors will be Wu Tingfang, Chinese minister at Washington, Booker T. Washington, president of Tuskegee Institute, Justice Brewer of the United States Supreme Court, Gen. Charles King and Rear-Admiral Hiebhorn, while more than two hundred of the most popular of living story writers will contribute from four to six fascinating stories to each of the fifty-two issues of The Companion for 1902.

To all new subscribers for 1902 and to those renewing their subscriptions The Companion will send its beautiful 1902 Calendar, lithographed in twelve colors and gold. By sending $1.75 before January 1st, the new subscriber will receive free all the remaining issues of 1901 from the time the subscription is received.

THE YOUTH'S COMPANION, 195 Columbus Ave., Boston, Mass.

To accommodate those who are partial to the use of atomizers in applying liquids into the nasal passages for catarrhal troubles, the proprietors prepare Ely's Liquid Cream Balm. Price including the spraying tube is 75 cents. Druggists or by mail. The liquid embodies the medicinal properties of the solid preparation. Cream Balm is quickly absorbed by the membrane and does not dry up the secretions but changes them to a natural and healthy character. Ely Brothers, 56 Warren St., N. Y.

List of Unclaimed Letters.

The following letters remain un-called for in the post office at Plymouth, Ind., for the week ending Dec. 5, 1901.

GENTLEMEN: Frank Ross, D. S. E. Shaffer, Andrew J. Johnson, Milton Beatty, Esie Martin, Andy Sommer, Newton May, Jas. F. Duffy, F. A. Hill, Sam Mitchell.

LADIES: Mrs. Vern Schroeder, Mrs. King Eley, Miss Mabel Wells.

A fee of one cent will be charged on all the letters advertised.

Please say advertised when calling for these letters.

J. A. YOCKEY, P. M.

Dr. Ph. D. Paul of Chicago may be consulted on all diseases of the eye and ear, glasses etc., at the home of Mrs. M. Yockey, Plymouth, Wednesday Dec. 18. Consultation free. Poor treated free. Please come early. 8t1

Conspicuous American Exports.

(From Ainslee's Magazine)

The graphophone is beginning to figure as a considerable American export, and certainly it is one of the most curious and interesting. While its commercial uses are beyond the comprehension of needs of the Persian, the Hindoo or the South-Sea Islander, each of them is fascinated by an invention which reproduces the familiar sounds of the human voice and entertains him with grand and light opera and orchestral music. Captain J. W. Webster, of the transport Milwaukee, who took Gen. Cronje to St. Helena, amused the old hero and his wife with a graphophone. Although the instrument is common enough in Johannesburg, the general knew of it only by report. "I heard you had a box that talked like a man," he said to Captain Webster through an interpreter. Webster, telling the story, goes on: "Yes, general," I replied, "and if you and Mrs. Cronje will come into my stateroom I will give you an exhibition." They sat down soberly in front of the talking box, and I slipped in a cylinder, containing Moody and Sank-ey's hymn, 'The Ninety and Nine,' which I had been told they sang in their own language. The effect was startling. They recognized the tune at once, and Mrs. Cronje burst suddenly into tears. Her husband turned away and wiped his eyes, and I could see by the spasmodic clapping and unclapping of his hands that General Cronje himself was deeply affected. To relieve the tension I put on a record with a lively banjo solo, and in a moment the old gentleman began to smile and beat time with his feet and head, his gray beard wagging to the melody. It was funny to see him. When the music had ceased a black Kafir boy, a boy servant, who had followed the party in, said awesomely that there was a devil in the box. Cronje frowned down the suggestion, but asked whether it wasn't done by some trick, like ventriloquism, making an expressive gesture with his lips. To satisfy him, I took the machine apart and explained the principle, and he seemed deeply interested. I left the instrument at St. Helena.

The Shah of Persia saw the graphophone at the Paris Exposition, and was so entertained by it that he commissioned his minister to the United States to procure the best specimen that money could buy. A graphophone reproducing operatic and march music on the most elaborate scale was specially constructed for him, and shipped to Teheran last Spring. From Batoum to the capital the medium of transportation was the dromedary, and surely the export trade had never furnished such a singular contrast. If the faithful Mohammedan who had not enjoyed the Shah's advantages as a traveler and visiting potentate could have heard the graphophone rendering Sousa's "President's March" he would have thought the ship of the desert was carrying an unholy, heathen thing to the palace at Teheran.

Perhaps the strangest place where the American graphophone has found a welcome is the harem of the unspeakable Turk. No man may enter there except the lord and master, but he has graciously permitted the voice of man to be heard in the marvelous American talking machine. "No entertainer," says an American resident of Constantinople, "was ever so popular as the graphophone, although the harem has always been well supplied with musical instruments. For a long time, as I am informed by a dealer, it was not clearly understood why so many more graphophones per capita were used in Turkey than in countries where the monogamous marriage is in vogue, and where the prevailing ethics sanction intercourse among ladies and gentlemen."

An Evangelist's Story. "I suffered for years with a bronchial trouble and tried various remedies but did not obtain permanent relief until I commenced using One Minute Cough Cure," writes Rev. James Kirkman, evangelist of Belle River, Ill. One Minute Cough Cure affords immediate relief for coughs, colds, and all throat and lung troubles. For croup it is unequalled. Absolutely safe, never fails and a favorite with the children. J. W. HESS.

Turkeys.

From the 9th of Dec. until the 18th we will pay $c for good, fat, plump hen-turkeys and young gobblers. If you have any that are good enough for market the coming week bring them in so they will not come with such a rush on the 16, 17th and 18th. After Dec. 18 the chances are young gobblers will drop 1c (cannot say for sure). Those who have chickens, we would prefer if you can, to hold them back for a couple weeks, as the next two weeks is turkey time. Remember it is the high priced turkeys we want. Poor stock will be very low, it is not wanted.

J. SWINDELL & BRO.

A Good Cough Medicine.

(From the Gazette, Toowoomba, Australia. "I find Chamberlain's Cough Remedy is an excellent medicine. I have been suffering from a severe cough for the last two months, and it has effected a cure. I have great pleasure in recommending it.—W. O. WOOLNER. This is the opinion of one of our oldest and most respected residents, and has been voluntarily given in good faith that others may try the remedy and be benefited as was Mr. Woolner, this remedy sold by J. W. HESS.

HIS REIGN IS O'ER.

Croker Abdicates as Tammany Boss and Talks About Leadership, Harmony and Other Matters of Interest to Democrats.

NEW YORK, Dec. 4.—After an interview with Senator Tim Sullivan at the democratic club yesterday, Richard Croker admitted that his leadership of Tammany Hall was at an end.

"I am old and worn out," said Mr. Croker. "I will do little leading after this. I am tired of being the wheel horse for everybody in the organization."

"I can't stand it any longer. The work I have to do in that position is enormous. Nobody knows what I have had to stand since the beginning of the campaign. Since the election it has been even worse."

"The leader of Tammany Hall should be here all the year round to be in touch with the situation personally. My health will not permit me to do that any longer. I have to go to England. I will probably not leave here before February. I cannot say now when I will return."

"A younger and more active man should be at the head of Tammany Hall. He should be a man who can remain here and stand the brunt of the battle throughout the year. I can say nothing as to who is the proper man, but he will be found when the time comes."

Although Mr. Croker declared he was tired of the leadership of Tammany Hall, when asked the pertinent question tonight if he would also resign as chairman of the finance committee he said he would not.

Croker denied again that he aspired to be a national leader. He did not think Mr. Shepard was out of politics. Mr. Croker further said:

"It is useless to inquire into the causes of our defeat last month. One cause was sufficient—the opposition of all the newspapers in New York to Tammany Hall."

"As things were, the republicans could have put up a ticket of their own and won out. Their democratic support amounted to little. The Greater New York democracy could have been dispensed with easily. It was simply impossible to win with the whole press of New York against us. The charges against us reached all the people; our defense was heard by only a few. That is the whole story."

Reverting to the state leadership question, Croker said: "It is silly to make a fight on the leadership. I don't care who poses as state leader. I don't want the job, and I don't see why anybody should hanker after it. At this time all democrats should be engaged in uniting against the common enemy and not in promoting selfish ambitions."

"It is nonsense, too, to begin at this time to talk about democratic candidates for governor next year. Let the party get together first."

Concerning Tammany's future, Croker said: "Some mugwumps are talking about Tammany going to pieces. Nonsense. Tammany will be stronger than ever two years from now. A defeat once in a while is a good thing for any organization. After the fusionists have been in office a couple of years, the people will see that Tammany administration was not such a bad thing after all. It will be the same story in 1903. Tammany is close to the common people of New York."

Croker then proclaimed his "Americanism." "I have been annoyed for years," he said, "by the newspaper talk about my being an Englishman at heart. It is all rot. I am a New Yorker, and an American all through. I live in England a part of the year solely for the sake of my health. I keep race-horses because I love them, and promote my health by looking after them. If I had not taken to horses and open air life in England I would not be living today."

WOOD-FOR-SALE—Delivered as ordered. Plymouth Novelty Mfg. Company, telephone 128. Cash paid for logs and bolts; basswood, oak, elm, beech, poplar, etc. 4914 8t4

Difficult Digestion

That is dyspepsia. It makes life miserable. Its sufferers eat not because they want to, but simply because they must. They know they are irritable and fretful, but they cannot be otherwise. They complain of a bad taste in the mouth, a tenderness at the pit of the stomach, an uneasy feeling of puffiness, headache, heartburn and what not. The effectual remedy, proved by permanent cures of thousands of severe cases, is Hood's Sarsaparilla.

HOOD'S PILLS are the best cathartic.

STUDEBAKER WILL FILED

South Bend Wagonmaker Divides Millions Among His Wife and Children—Expects Them to Continue Charity Work Begun in His Lifetime.

SOUTH BEND, Ind., Dec. 4.—The will of the late Clement Studebaker, dated May 19, 1901, was admitted to probate yesterday afternoon.

It does not give the exact estimate of the value of the estate, but is worth several millions, there being thousands of acres of farming and marsh land, 6,000 shares of stock in the Studebaker Brothers' Manufacturing company, probably over a million dollars in cash, and about $500,000 in insurance.

The six thousand shares of stock is equally divided among his children, Mrs. Chas. Arthur Carlisle, Clement Studebaker jr., and Col. Geo. M. Studebaker. The stock is worth about $250,000.

Each of the children is also given $5,000 in cash. To each of his grandchildren he bequeathed $10,000, to be paid when they reach the age of 25 years. Provision is also made for the education of each of the grandchildren.

All the rest of Mr. Studebaker's estate is bequeathed to his widow, Ann M. Studebaker, his children, Geo. M. Studebaker, Ann Studebaker Carlisle, and Clement Studebaker, to be held in trust.

Mrs. Studebaker is to receive out of the income derived from the property placed in the hands of the trustees $25,000 yearly in quarterly amounts while she lives, the same to be her absolute property.

No bequest is made to charity, but the will states that Mr. Studebaker through his life made many such donations, and that he had full confidence that his wife and children would make such further donations for such matters out of their own estates at their own discretion as circumstances should at the time justify.

Mrs. Ann Studebaker, George M. Studebaker, Ann Studebaker Carlisle, and Clement Studebaker are made executors as well as trustees.

Studebaker Reorganization.

SOUTH BEND, Ind., Dec. 4.—The board of directors of the Studebaker Bros. Manufacturing company met on Monday at the main office of the company in this city and the vacancy in the board caused by the death of Hon. Clem Studebaker was supplied by the election of his son, Clement Studebaker, jr. Resignations were offered and accepted as follows: J. M. Studebaker, as first vice-president and treasurer, and Geo. M. Studebaker, as secretary. The board then filled vacancies as follows:

President, S. M. Studebaker, sr.; first vice-president, Geo. M. Studebaker; treasurer, Clement Studebaker; secretary, J. M. Studebaker, jr. N. J. Riley remains second vice-president.

FATHER AND SON IN PRISON

MICHIGAN City, Ind., Dec. 4.—A father and son were received at the state prison Monday to serve life sentences for murder. The father, Nelson Fritz, is nearly 70. The son is but 16. Wife, husband and son were implicated in the tragedy in which the life of John Pfeister was taken at Bedford. The wife was acquitted.

Pfeister was an inoffensive neighbor who was brutally slain by the two men, the son doing the bidding of the father in committing the crime. The prison officials say this is the first case on record in Indiana where father and son have been convicted of capital crime and given life sentences.

KASKASKIA DEAD

End of Historical Town Once Capital of Illinois.

WASHINGTON, D. C., Dec. 4.—Kaskaskia, at one time the capital city of the state of Illinois, will soon be wiped out of official existence by an order of the postmaster general. Only five families now live in the once prosperous town, and the department has decided to abolish the Kaskaskia postoffice and accommodate the residents through the extension of a rural free-delivery route.

Time was when Kaskaskia was a thriving town—a mushroom growth of rough-hewn dwellings and canvas shelters—a central point in the then western wilderness, and a trading post known far and wide. It was predicted then that one day Kaskaskia would become the metropolis of the west, and vie with far eastern New York in size and prominence, for the town was situated on the Illinois river, navigable then for the largest vessels, and was located at a point where the worn trails from the south, the north, and the east united and swept westward in the broad path followed by the pioneers in their journey toward the setting sun.

General Lafayette once honored Kaskaskia by a visit, and stopped beneath the roof of one of the few houses still standing within the limits of the town. He predicted a great future for the hustling place. But other towns more desirably situated began to grow and Kaskaskia stood still. The Illinois river took a hand in the game, overran its banks in unexpected places, filled up its channel, until it is now navigable at Kaskaskia only during certain seasons and generally played havoc with the prospects of the capital of the state of Illinois. Parts of the town slid off into the river at different times and people kept moving away until now the five families and the five houses are all that remain of the place which at one time had such a brilliant future and for which so much was predicted.

THE MARKETS.

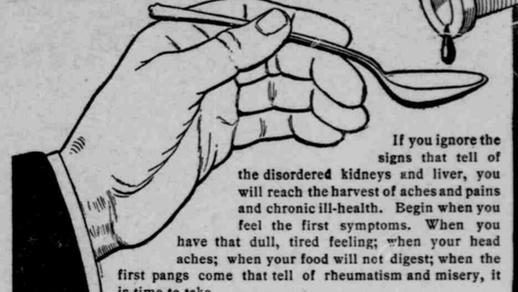

Plymouth

Table with 2 columns: Commodity and Price. Wheat 70, Corn 50, Oats 35, Rye 50, Clover Seed 45, Potatoes 70-80, Lard 9-10, Hens 5, Spring Chickens 6, Roosters 3, Gobblers 5, Geese 5, Ducks 6, Turkeys (after Dec. 9) 8, Eggs 20, Butter 16-18, Apples 70-80.

Chicago

Table with 2 columns: Commodity and Price. Wheat 75, Corn 62, Oats 43, Rye 61, Clover 5.00-6.00, Potatoes 71-84, Cattle 4.75 to 5.40, Hogs 5.75 to 6.00, Sheep 5.00 to 6.00.

A Drop in Time Saves Nine

If you ignore the signs that tell of the disordered kidneys and liver, you will reach the harvest of aches and pains and chronic ill-health. Begin when you feel the first symptoms. When you have that dull, tired feeling; when your head aches; when your food will not digest; when the first pangs come that tell of rheumatism and misery, it is time to take McLean's Liver and Kidney Balm. At the beginning it will prevent disease of these organs. If your trouble is in an advanced stage it will cure it. $1.00 for a Large Bottle at Druggists. Made by The Dr. J. H. McLean Medicine Co., St. Louis, Mo.

Everybody Wants It!

Murat Halstead's Great Book, Life and Public Services of the Late William McKinley. . . .

For a limited time only we are enabled to offer to our subscribers, old and new, this book, which has turned out to be one of the greatest sellers in the history of literature. Mr. Halstead himself was astonished at its popularity and sought to recover the copyright for his own use but the courts promptly decided against him and held him to his contract.

The book contains 540 pages and is copiously illustrated from photographs. Senator Chauncey M. Depew, General C. H. Grosvenor, the late Secretary of State John Sherman and Colonel Albert Halstead contributed chapters and the work covers McKinley's entire life from his birth to his death and burial. It is a liberal education and should be in every home.

What It Costs Our Subscribers:

Any person paying all arrearages and one year in advance from this date in cash for the weekly edition of THE PLYMOUTH TRIBUNE may have the Life of McKinley for 50 cents. The regular price of the book is $1.50 and of the paper $1.50; we sell the two for $2.00.

The price for THE DAILY TRIBUNE ten weeks in advance and the Life of McKinley is $1.50, payable in cash with all arrearages.

Call on or Address, THE PLYMOUTH TRIBUNE, Plymouth, Indiana.

C. R. LEONARD, Furniture and Undertaking

Largest Stock—Lowest Prices.

Store removed to new quarters in Wheeler Block, corner Michigan and Laporte Streets. Thanking the people for past favors we invite you to come in and see our new store.

Residence Walnut & Washington Sts. Telephone: Residence 18, Office 90.

America's BEST Republican Paper...

Editorially Fearless Consistently Republican—Always News from all parts of the world. Well written original stories. Answers to queries on all subjects. Articles on Health, the Home, New Books and on work about the Farm and Garden.

THE WEEKLY INTER OCEAN

The Inter Ocean is a member of the Associated Press and also is the only Western newspaper receiving the combined telegraphic and cable news matter of both the New York Sun and the New York World respectively, besides daily reports from over 2,000 special correspondents throughout the country. No pen can tell more fully WHY it is the BEST on earth.

ONE DOLLAR YEAR 52 12 Page Papers—52 ONE DOLLAR YEAR With Plymouth Tribune $2.00 a yr.