Senator Platt made a mistake in fixing the time of the settlement next Monday. It is probable that both the operators and miners were afraid that if it was settled in accordance with Platt's predictions the country would think he was boss of all parties concerned. The strike will probably not last much longer.

Rev. G. L. Mattox and wife are attending the United Brethren conference at Peru this week. Mr. Mattox does not know where he will be sent the coming year, but he has been given appointments in this vicinity for many years and Plymouth feels like home to him and his family. He always does good work.

It would seem that if the people of Florida and southern California knew their business they would be showing in interestingly written and properly displayed advertisements, how the average northern family can make money by moving into a country for the winter where the price of coal does not make any difference.

Valparaiso is trying to become an industrial town as well as a college town. The Valparaiso Business Men's Association Friday closed a contract whereby Powers, Higley & Co., of Chicago, manufacturers of school supplies, are to move that factory to that city. The Washington Post stated a plain and unvarnished truth in saying recently: "It would be better for this country and the civilized world in general if 90 per cent of the persons who are dabbling in literature were employed in wholesome and useful manual labor. Not one in ten of the books printed has any excuse for existence, and most of them are worse than useless."

Bert Thayer, whose home is near Lapaz, was badly hurt Saturday evening by falling from his buggy while his horse was traveling at a fast gait. The man was drunk and was dragged some distance; his head was badly cut and his face skinned in places, but his injuries are not necessarily serious. He had been employed with a bridge gang here. He was taken home Sunday morning.

A. B. Wickizer who purchased the Corbin residence block on North Michigan street sometime ago, has traded it to Erastus Hess for what is known as the Lolamaugh farm of 214 acres northwest of Argos. It is understood that Mr. Wickizer retains 136 feet of the southwest corner of the block, gets the farm and pays Mr. Hess a difference of $4,000. The residence which Mr. Hess gets costs originally about $10,000.

After all is there not a great deal of folly in the cry of inconvenience to the public resulting from the coal strike? As a result of it the fuel supply in being scattered to other lines and distributed over other fields. The farmer is selling his surplus wood, he is employing labor to cut it; the maker of wood stoves and the merchant are selling more than usual; the soft coal dealer is supplying a quickly increased demand. So after all the redistribution is a blessing that offsets much discomfort.

MARRIED

Astley-Swoverland.

John V. Astley, of this city, and Mrs. Nancy Swoverland, of Bourbon township, were united in marriage at Bourbon, Tuesday evening Sept. 16, 1902 at 8 o'clock, by Rev. Mr. Neff, pastor of the Bourbon Presbyterian church.

Everybody in Marshall county knows John V. Astley. He has resided in Plymouth almost all his life, was a gallant soldier in the war for the preservation of the union, served two terms as sheriff of Marshall county and has sold hardware in Plymouth for over thirty-five years.

His bride was the widow of the late John Swoverland and is an amiable and excellent lady. They will make their home in this city, but Mrs. Astley will remain for several weeks at the home on her fine farm ten miles east of Plymouth, taking care of her large crop of apples and arranging things so that she can leave the farm in good shape.

Mr. and Mrs. Astley seem to have shown the same good judgment in marrying that they always have in everything else and hundreds of friends tender congratulations and good wishes.

The Peach Trust.

The big wholesale peach dealers of Michigan met Saturday and formed a "peach trust" and immediately sprung the price until a peach, even in Michigan, is a luxury. Local dealers who were fortunate enough to get in orders before the combine was formed will be able to sell peaches to their patrons for very little more than they cost at wholesale in Michigan, it is said.

THE OLD RELIABLE

Killed at Bourbon.

Otto Compton, aged about 35 years, was instantly killed at Bourbon Sunday forenoon. Mr. Compton was crossing the railroad tracks noticed a freight train moving slowly but did not see another train which was moving much faster on the next track. He hurried across to get out of the way of the first train and stepping on the second track was struck by the engine of the other train which was moving in the same direction as the one on the first track.

He was badly mangled and killed instantly. Deceased was a working man and leaves three children, his wife having died about two years ago.
