

Remedies are Needed

Were we perfect, which we are not, medicines would not often be needed. But since our systems have become weakened, impaired and broken down through indiscretions which have gone on from the early ages through countless generations, remedies are needed to aid Nature in correcting our inherited and otherwise acquired weaknesses. To reach the seat of stomach weakness and consequent digestive troubles, there is nothing so good as Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery, a glyceric compound, extracted from native medicinal roots—sold for over forty years with great satisfaction to all users. For Weak Stomach, Biliousness, Liver Complaint, Pain in the Stomach after eating, Heartburn, Bad Breath, Belching of food, Chronic Diarrhea and other Intestinal Derangements, the "Discovery" is a time-proven and most efficient remedy.

The genuine has on its outside wrapper the signature Dr. Pierce's. You can't afford to accept a secret nostrum as a substitute for this non-alcoholic, medicine of known composition, not even though the urgent dealer may thereby make a little bigger profit. Dr. Pierce's Pleasant Pellets regulate and invigorate stomach, liver and bowels. Sugar-coated, tiny granules, easy to take as candy.

Science has proven Catarrh to be a constitutional disease, and therefore requires constitutional treatment. Hall's Catarrh Cure, manufactured by F. J. Cheney & Co., Toledo, Ohio, is the only constitutional cure on the market. It is taken internally in doses from 10 drops to a teaspoonful. TAFT IS AMONG THE INSURGENTS

CONDEMNNS CRANE'S INQUIRY

President Dines with Peculiar Company and Goes from Table to Talk on Peace, Arbitration and Like Pacific Virtues.

Baldwin, Kan., Sept. 25.—Governor Stubbs, the fighting insurgent executive of the Sunflower state, extended to President Taft his first welcome into insurgent Kansas, and it was, perforce, an official one. The governor met the president at Lawrence, Kan., where Mr. Taft addressed the students of the University of Kansas.

Here is the governor's welcome: "I hope that Kansas, without regard to church, party or faction, will give President Taft the most royal welcome that a president ever received."

Governor Stubbs accompanied the Taft special to this town and spent the day with the president. Senator Bristow was at the station here to meet the president. This is the first time that Mr. Bristow has gone to see the president since January. He stopped his calls at the White House when reciprocity became an issue. Senator Curtis accompanied the president and will stay with him through his stay in the state.

Mr. Taft was in Baldwin to attend the ceremonies at Baker University in the installation of Dr. W. N. Mason as president of the institute. The university is sectarian and the religious atmosphere was dominant throughout the day. Politics were watched for closely, but they did not crop out except in the appearance of Senator Bristow and the introduction of the president by Governor Stubbs.

The president made three speeches. In the first, at Lawrence, to the students of the University of Kansas, he spoke on the work of the Y. M. C. A. in universities, and took occasion to condemn the work of Mr. Crane, who used a detective to determine the moral weaknesses of Harvard students. He said that he had no patience with such an investigation, and that information like that which had to be dug up with a spade had a great deal better be left beneath the sod.

When Mr. Taft arrived at Baldwin, automobiles were waiting to take him to the Methodist church, where the inaugural service for Dr. Mason was held. He listened to an excellent sermon by President McConnell of DePauw university, who told the congregation that in the long run in this life the step was more important than the stride. That common heroism was harder to find than uncommon heroism; and that it was not the spectacular fight, but the steady march that counted most. This is the line of thought that President Taft presented to his Peoria audience in outlining his efforts as president.

The president dined with peculiar company. He was the guest of W. C. Markham, a prominent local politician, and at the table sat the president, Senator Bristow, Governor Stubbs, and Senator Curtis and greater extremes than these would be hard to find.

The principal speech of the day was delivered by the president at the academic exercises in the afternoon. He spoke on peace, and arbitration. It was unbearably hot in the hall, and outside of the students and faculty most of the audience sat in their shirt sleeves. They were a typical Kansas audience, and followed the president's argument closely.

SPECIAL AGENT FRED WENZLER, Plymouth, Indiana

C. R. LEONARD, Funeral Director and Undertaker. PLYMOUTH, INDIANA. C. R. Leonard Office 645 Residence

Obituary. Eva A. McChesney-Stilson, daughter of Robert and Jeanette McChesney, was born September 11, 1857, at her late residence, in Marshall county, Indiana. She was the second of a family of twelve children, six of whom have preceded her in death.

She grew to womanhood under the care of her parents, receiving the advantages of the common schools, in which she afterwards taught two years. She was united in marriage to Alexander F. Stilson, November 23, 1873, and went to housekeeping in the neighborhood. They afterward moved to South Bend, then to the farm to care for her mother during her last sickness and death. They then lived in Walkerton for a time, then moved back to the place of her birth where she has since resided.

She was the mother of five children, namely, Floyd A. Stilson, born June 17, 1882, now a Professor in the South Bend Business College, Myrtle, born April 22, 1886, now Mrs. Houser of Lakeville, Indiana, Rolland, born January 30, 1892, Iris, born August 19, 1900, and Forest, born January 27, 1902. The last three named were with their mother at her death.

Sister Stilson united with the church of God at North Salem and was baptized into the name of Jesus, April 7, 1878, and was an active member in good standing at her death. She has been in declining health since a year ago last February. Her husband died in January last which time she has continually failed until her death September 22, 1911. She was a great sufferer during the last days of her life. She was conscious of her condition and met her fate with Christian courage and fortitude.

She leaves three brothers, Selwyn McChesney of South Bend, Mae McChesney and Robert McChesney of this vicinity, and two sisters, Mrs. Jeanette A. Conger of Plymouth, and Mrs. Francis A. Pierce of South Bend, her five children, six grand children, and many good friends and neighbors to lament because of her death.

Sister Stilson's life has been eventful in the things that are common to the lot of human kind. She climbed the hills of life, surveyed the fields of activity that lay before her, wrought where duty led her, and tired of her struggle, she lay down the thread of life in peaceful rest. She had no fear of death because of her trust in God and her hope founded upon the love of the Father as manifested in the gift of His Son. In her death the world has lost a good woman, society a kind neighbor, and her children a loving mother. Funeral services were held from the Union church at 2 o'clock p. m., Sunday, September 24, 1911, conducted by D. E. Vanvaeter. The attendance of a very large concourse of friends and neighbors was a living testimony to the esteem in which she was held. She was laid to rest in the adjacent cemetery to await the resurrection at the appearing of Jesus Christ the lifegiver.

Attacks School Principal. A severe attack on school principal Chas. B. Allen, of Sylvania, Ga., is thus told by him. "For more than three years," he writes, "I suffered indescribable torture from rheumatism, liver and stomach trouble and deceased kidneys. All remedies failed till I used Electric Bitters, but four bottles of this wonderful cure me completely." Such results are common. Thousands bless them for curing stomach trouble, female complaints, kidney disorders, biliousness, and for new health and vigor. Try them. Only 50c at Fred Wenzler's.
