SHORT LUMBER CROP.

A Minneapolis special says the prospects are that we will have a short lumber crop this year, compared with last year. On Rum river and Upper Mississippi only about 156,000,000 feet have been cut. There are now 10,850,000 feet of logs in the river at this point, making only about 167,000,000 feet the total for this year. Last year the Eldridge shingle mill started early in May.

This year the mills will probably not begin to run much before the last of June or the first of July. We have in this city 8,000,000 feet of lumber in sticks, of which only about 1,000,000 is first and second class, whereas these qualities should be 25 per cent. of the entire amount.

The Tilton-Beecher Trial.

BROOKLYN, March 24.—On the assembling of Court in the Beecher trial this morning, Bessie Turner resumed the stand, and her cross-examination was resumed by Fullerton asking generally in relation to her testimony before the Investigating Committee. Counsel referred specifically to the scene in the parlor, when Tilton, on bended knees, pleaded his wife's forgiveness for his sins, and asked to be taken back.

Witness also described again the scene between Tilton and Mrs. Morse in the hall way of Tilton's house, when Mrs. Morse called Tilton "an infernal scoundrel." Witness described the scene in a humorous style. Tilton never told witness that Mrs. Tilton confessed adultery, but told her she had sexual intercourse with three men, and named them. Whenever witness spoke to Tilton about the treatment of his wife and her crying, he said, "Oh, that's her habit; she is thinking of her sin with Beecher.

Witness explained the variance in her testimony regarding the letter, but nothing material was elicited. The letter was written by witness to Mrs. Tilton, detailing the story that Tilton carried her screaming from her bed to his was a wicked lie.

The letter was shown witness. She wrote it at the request of Mrs. Tilton. When asked if Tilton ever did attempt to violate her person witness answered evasively.

THE case of Mary Ann Thompson, administratrix of Emma King, against the Hamilton and Dayton Railroad Company for $10,000 damages, was disposed of before Judge Cox this morning. The defense alleged that the proper signals were given in time, and that the accident happened through the carelessness of the deceased going on the track. The jury, after some deliberation, brought in a verdict for Mrs. Thompson, and placed her damages in the sum of $700.

MURDER IN THE SECOND DEGREE

Verdict in the Dummy Davis Case.

The jury in the J. M. S. Davis murder trial, after having been in consultation about ten hours, brought in their verdict at a few minutes after our time of going to press with the city edition. At the request of the Judge the Clerk read the verdict, which was as follows:

"We, in the issue joined, find the defendant, J. M. S. Davis, guilty of murder in the second degree, and so say we all."

Altogether seven ballots were taken, with the following result:

	First Degree.	Second Degree.	Manslaughter.
1st Ballot	1	7	4
2d Ballot	0	8	4
3d Ballot	0	10	2

The fourth, fifth and sixth ballots stood eleven for murder in the second degree and one for manslaughter. After some few minutes more deliberation, on motion the last ballot was taken, and the jury stood agreed on the verdict as above mentioned.

The excitement that prevailed at the sound of the jury bell was intense, so much so that a simultaneous rush was made for the doors, and the closely packed crowd swelled until no available place was left.

Davis, at being informed of the verdict, appeared as if taken a little by surprise, but otherwise manifested no special emotion.

Captain Wietler:

The Indianapolis delegation of fire boys attending the Cincinnati Fire Department ball, February 9th, and not unmindful of the courtesies received from you personally, and from the gallant No. 4, beg your acceptance for yourself and as their Captain, of the inclosed badge. Accept it as a pledge of fraternal greeting and a symbol that to you and them our latch string is always out. Dock. Sherwood, Jack Robinson, of No. 6; Mell. Haverd, Lou. Danforth, John Rogers, of No. 12; Frank Ingersoll, Hooks No. 2, and Billy Paine, No. 7.

The badge is a splendid gold and silver one, worth not less than $50. It is formed of three pieces, the top being a solid gold plate with the word "Captain" engraved on it. Beneath this is a fine gold border, to which is attached a gold and silver arch, in the middle of which is suspended a golden figure "4." The present is a handsome one and one that does credit to the taste of the Indianapolis boys.

Every one Likes It.

O. Cunning, of Tuscarawas, O., writes: The gold pen which I received from you "is just the thing." I have had a number of pens of that quality, but never anything to compare with it in perfection. It would transform a poor writer into a good one. I am much obliged to you for the very handsome present. Wishing you continued prosperity, I remain yours, &c.

Wm. Nickle, of Nickleville, Pa., says: I received the premium gold pen for the club of subscribers sent you for THE STAR; think it very good; accept thanks. THE STAR gives satisfaction. It is a new paper in this section, and I was a little too late in starting out to raise a club, but I think your paper well worthy of patronage; will try at the proper time to increase, or raise a new club for you.

The Evangelists.

The noonday prayer meeting at the rooms of the Y. M. C. A. to-day was presided over by Mr. Bliss. The services were opened with singing and prayer. Mr. Bliss then read from the eighteenth chapter of the second book of Kings, in which Elijah tells Ahab to rise, eat and drink, for a great rain shall descend upon the earth.

He spoke of Elijah's faith in believing that rain would come because he had prayed for it and his fervency in praying for it after he had made the promise to Ahab. He said that there were five essential elements to prayer, which were faith, agreement, importunity, thankfulness and humility; and that if Christians expected the blessing of the Lord on their work in this city they must pray with faith, agreement among themselves, importunity in asking God for his blessing, thankfulness for gifts already received, and humility.

After the conclusion of Mr. Bliss' remarks, Rev. W. S. Duncan spoke concerning the efficacy of prayer, and the necessity of Christians believing that God would give them what they prayed for in faith.

Eight written communications were then read asking prayers in behalf of different persons—three of them persons addicted to strong drink, one for a young man who was "happy enough without Christ," and one for a young man who "would be a Christian when the time came."

In response to invitation eight or ten requests for prayers were made by persons in the room.

The attendance to-day was much larger than yesterday, and the interest is evidently increasing.
