The moment a woman's heart begins to get sour and embittered the wrinkles crop out ready for business. Her face is as crinkled as a paper lamp shade, and if she ever looks sweet and young it is because she has learned to keep her heart sunny.

As a rule no good comes from criticizing others. Anybody can do that, but the man who can accept his own honest estimate of himself and resolve to profit by it has achieved something.

A Policeman's Testimony.

J. N. Patterson, night policeman of Nashua, Ia., writes, "Last winter I had a bad cold on my lungs and tried at least a half dozen advertised cough medicines and had treatment from two physicians without getting any benefit. A friend recommended Foley's Honey and Tar and two thirds of a bottle cured me. I consider this the greatest cough and lung medicine in the world." L. P. Van Werden.

At the last presidential election the republican plurality in Pennsylvania was over half a million. Recently a democrat was elected state treasurer. Talk about a landslide!

He Could Hardly Get Up.

P. H. Duffy of Ashley, Ill., writes, "This is to certify that I have taken two bottles of Foley's Kidney Cure and it has helped me more than any other medicine. I tried many advertised remedies, but none of them gave me any relief. My druggist recommended Foley's Kidney Cure and it cured me. Before commencing its use I was in such a state that I could hardly get up when down." L. P. Van Werden.

HAVE YOU HEARD FROM OHIO? Respectfully Dedicated to the "Standpatters."

Have you heard from old Ohio? Don't it fill your soul with glee? Scooped it clean from Meigs to Fulton, from Sciota to Maumee! Cincinnati to Toledo, from Defiance to Monroe!

Honest voters gladly rallied to deal graft a fatal blow. And they landed good and lusty on the rotten Cox machine. Till the buckeyes popped with laughter at the long awaited scene. "I've retired," said Cox next morning. But the statement isn't true—Cox was shoved, and shoved forever—don't it look that way to you?

"That's a democratic measure—I'll have none of it in mine!" Shouted Foraker in a frenzy as he pranced along the line.

"Stand by Roosevelt!" he shouted, "but don't vote the way you stand; Vote for railroad domination—they have made the country grand!" Had he boosted Mr. Herrick back to place and power again? He'd have claimed a vindication—Joe's the foxiest of men.

But the people have grown wiser in the past decade or two, And they're "onto" Joseph Benson—don't it look that way to you?

"Don't go back upon the party!" pleaded Dick in tearful tones. But the answer of the people was to walk upon his bones.

"Don't be fooled by public clamor—stand up for the G. O. P.," Shouted Dick—and then the people smote him on the neck with glee. "Don't do railroad's an injustice," pleaded Dick with plaintive cries, And the people for an answer smote him fair between the eyes.

Cox and Dick and Joseph Benson are all feeling mighty blue, But Ohio is rejoicing—don't it look that way to you?

Have you heard from old Ohio? Don't the figures make you smile? Beat the railroad combination seven furlongs in a mile.

Have you heard from old Ohio? Notwithstanding Shaw and Taft. Honest Buckeye voters rallied and knocked out both greed and graft.

Have you heard from old Ohio? Don't the figures loom up fine? Got the "stand pat" fellows loosed all along the voting line.

Have you heard from old Ohio? Patisson just fairly flew, And honest rule is more than busted—don't it look that way to you? —O. B. JOYFUL.

The Pear Tree Man.

On Wednesday afternoon Wm. Maneley of Whitebreast township came to Chariton and filed an information before Justice Storie, charging a Des Moines fruit tree man with swindling him. A warrant was issued and the gentleman was soon ushered into the presence of the court, and on failure to give bond, was turned over to the sheriff until he could do so. Mr. Maneley had a copy of the contract which he had signed. At the top printed in fine print was this agreement, "All claims that misrepresentations were used to get the contract signed are waived, and in case the order is cancelled, the farmer must pay the nursery man sixty per cent of the face of the contract. On the back was an agreement by the salesman to plant, trim and replace for a period of three years, and he was to get one-half of the third year's crop, and to pay the farmer two dollars per bushel for his share. On the face of the contract written plainly Mr. Maneley agrees to pay two hundred and seventeen dollars for the pear orchard. F. O. B. Des Moines. He is now in jail, not being able to give required bond.—Chariton Leader.

If you are interested in this winter's legislative session, which promises to be the most important in many years, you should be a subscriber for the Register and Leader. No other paper in Iowa covers state house and legislative news so completely, and the fact that it is the only morning newspaper published in Des Moines makes it certain that no other newspaper will have such accurate reports.

Better than ever before. The Register and Leader, Des Moines, Iowa, is the best newspaper published for Iowa readers. A handsome new three-sheet wall map and the paper free the remainder of the year to new subscribers paying for 1906. The Des Moines Register and Leader published day after day more Iowa news than any other paper. With THE REPORTER both one year, only $4.50.

Walter Wellman, Washington correspondent for the Chicago Record-Herald, says that the results of the recent elections indicate that government ownership and general opposition to corporation rule will be the democratic issues in 1908.

What Others Think.

The following clippings regarding the defeat of the new Decatur county court house show the drift of opinions among disinterested parties.

The proposition to build a new court house in Decatur county was defeated at the special election Nov. 7, by a majority of 251 votes. There were only five votes against the proposition in Leon, but in the other towns in the county jealousy of the county seat conquered broadminded regard for the welfare of the county and the measure was nearly autagonized.—Chariton Patriot.

Decatur county voted on the question of building a new court house on Tuesday, Nov. 7, and the proposition was defeated. If we needed a new court house, they needed it ten times worse. Our court house is palace compared with the little ramshackle affair which does duty at Leon. This is the third election on the subject and they talk of submitting the question again next year.—Newton Record.

The proposition to vote bonds for a new court house in Leon has been voted down by the electors in Decatur county. However, the proposition came nearer carrying this year than it did last. The majority against the court house gets less every time, and if this ratio keeps up, it is entirely probable that Decatur county will have a new court house some time in the years to come.—Mt. Ayr Record.

Down in Decatur county nearly every town outside the county seat voted strongly against building a new court house, simply because it would be built at Leon. The old court house is rotten, Leon is by far the largest town in the county, nearly ever voter in the county wants a new court house built and it has to be built somewhere, and yet the small towns voted against it because it might help Leon. Isn't human nature queer, when you come to think of it?—Chariton Herald.

The proposition voted on in Decatur county last week for issuing bonds for $75,000 for the purpose of building a new court house was beaten by about 250 votes. This is the third time the proposition has been submitted in the last few years to the voters of that county and each time it has been beaten but always by a smaller vote. The present court house is an unsafe building and the records of the county are liable to be burned up at any time and certainly looks like short sightedness in the voters of the county not to erect a new and safe building, but there seems to be much jealousy among the other towns of the county against Leon and they always combine to beat the proposition.—Corydon Times-Republican.

By a vote of 1456 to 1406 the voters of Decatur county last week decided that the old court house was good enough. A special election was held to give the people a chance to vote on a proposition to build a $75,000 structure to take the place of the old barn which is now dignified with the name of court house. The old shack is a disgrace to the county, entirely inadequate and really unsafe, but a feeling of jealousy on the part of other localities has twice defeated the proposition to rebuild at Leon. The latter town is the only logical location for a county seat and having been the county capital for half a century will probably continue to be the end of time in spite of the old mossbacks and kickers who would rather have the seat of justice located in a corn field than see a new and modern building erected in Leon.—Humeson Advocate. of innumerable opportunities for young men or old ones—to grow rich?

Do you want to know about rich farming lands, fertile, well located, on a trunk line railroad, which produce two, three and four crops from the same field each year, and which can be purchased at very low prices on easy terms? About stock raising where the extreme of winter feeding is but (6) short weeks? Of places where truck growing and fruit raising yield enormous returns each year? Of a land where you can live out of doors every day in the year? Of opportunities for establishing profitable manufacturing industries; of rich mineral locations and splendid business openings? If you want to know the details of any or all of these write me. I will gladly advise you fully and truthfully.
