WHOLE TRAIN BLOWN UP

A Car of Gasoline Explodes near Blythedale and Wrecks entire Train--Crew Painfully Burned

A mysterious and very unusual accident occurred at a point about two miles south of Blythedale last Thursday about noon, when a tank line car of gasoline exploded with fearful force and the entire train except the engine and two cars were burned.

The wrecked train was the regular north bound freight, No. 119, which is due at Leon about 3 o'clock in the afternoon. It was in charge of a crew composed of conductor Long, engineer Monroe, and brakemen Burrell and Starkie, all of Chariton. They had had no trouble with the two tank cars, one filled with gasoline and the other with coal oil, and were running along about twenty miles an hour when the gasoline car exploded with a frightful noise. The engine and two cars were separated from the train, but the balance of the train which consisted of the two tank cars, two cars of merchandise, two box cars and the way car, piled up against the wrecked gasoline car, and in an instant the whole train was a mass of flames, the burning oil and gasoline having been thrown all over the train. In the way car were conductor Long, the two brakemen and a traveling man, E. A. Rippey, of Springfield, Mo., and it was with difficulty that they escaped with their lives. The burning oil was all around the way car before they could get out, and thousands of gallons were on fire. Conductor Long was burned about the face, as was the traveling man and brakeman Starkie. Brakeman Ben Burrell, a former Davis City boy, was the worst burned. When the crash came and everyone climbed out of the burning car, he was blinded by the smoke and flames, and jumped into a ditch at the side of the track, which was filled with burning oil, and his clothing was set on fire. Brakeman Starkie, with rare presence of mind threw his coat over his head and ran to Burrell's assistance, as he was unable to get up, and pulling him out of the burning oil tore his clothes off, but not until he was burned terribly on the hands and face, as well as on the body. It was at first reported he was fatally burned, but the burns were not deep and he was able to be taken to Davis City the next day, the railroad company sending a trained nurse to wait on him, and he is getting along nicely. The others were not seriously burned.

The explosion and smoke could be plainly seen at Davis City, Pleasanton and Cainsville, and the whole train was burned up in less than thirty minutes after the explosion occurred. It is reported the gasoline and coal oil cars were coming to Leon, and no reason for the explosion has been given to the public. A tank car holds 5,000 gallons and a person can hardly imagine how fast a fire 10,000 gallons of gasoline and coal oil would make.

Judge Harvey's Taxes.

Considerable surprise was manifested by knowing ones when they read in last week's REPORTER that the amount of taxes paid in Leon by Judge J. W. Harvey, was only $111.89, as heretofore he had always been the heaviest taxpayer in the town. An investigation disclosed that in making out the tax books for the county treasurer to make his collections from by the county auditor, that by oversight all of Judge Harvey's monies and credits had been left off the tax book, and only his real estate taxed up. Judge Harvey gave in to the assessor over $42,000 in monies and credits in addition to his bank stock in Leon and other towns, and the amount of taxes which he pays in Leon this year is $980.07. He also pays $52.30 in Eden township, $72.00 in Lamoni, and his share of the tax paid by the Farmers & Traders State Bank is $385.00, so that the total amount of taxes which he pays in Decatur county is $1,070.33, by far the largest amount paid by any individual in the county.

EDITOR LEON REPORTER:—I notice in a recent issue of our newsy paper a squib on the removal of the county seat question in your county. My Lord, is that not settled? The descendants of the Southern Confederacy not far from me have hopes—and I presume so with the west side. My father, John Jordan, John Vanderpool, Samuel C. Thompson, Miram J. Stanley and Wm. Oney were the original founders and passers of independence location, (now Leon) at the election therefor.

Sudden Death of Jehu Sylvester.

The town of Davis City was startled Monday morning by the report that Jehu Sylvester, one of the best known citizens of that town, had been found dead at his home, and the report proved only too true, his body being found cold in death lying on the floor partly inside the door. Mr. Sylvester had been up and around town all day Sunday, and that evening was at home with his wife at supper time. Mrs. Sylvester was going to spend the night with her daughter, Mrs. H. L. McClaran, who was sick, and asked Mr. Sylvester to go with her, but he said he would go up town a little while and then sleep at home. He was seen going toward home at a late hour, and must have fallen just as he was entering the house, it being supposed he ruptured a blood vessel, as he had bled quite freely from the nose. Coroner F. A. Bowman was notified and went to Davis City on the noon train and viewed the body, but as there was no mark of violence on the body or any suspicion of foul play, he did not deem it necessary to hold an inquest. The funeral will be held at Davis City Thursday, having been postponed to await the arrival of his children from Montana.

Some Old Bibles.

Last week an article appeared in the Garden Grove Express under the heading "Decatur County's Old Bible" describing an old bible in possession of Wm. Asbach, of Davis City, which was printed at Cologne in 1630. The Express was of the opinion that it was the oldest bible in Iowa, but we think Lamoni can boast some older ones.

In the L. D. S. library, located in the Herald Publishing House is quite a collection of old books. In the collection is a new testament printed in four languages, Hebrew, Greek, Latin and German, which bears the date of 1602.

On the same shelf is a copy of what is known as the "Beeches Bible," printed in London by Robert Baker, in 1619. The bible derives its name from the reading of Genesis 3:7, which is as follows: "Then the eyes of them both were opened, and they knew that they were naked, and they sewed fig leaves together and made themselves breeches."

Nor is this all. In the museum of Graceland College is an old bible which bears the date of 1627. Lamoni Chronicle.

A Bit of Home Sensation.

Here is a romance in real life. A few weeks ago a man came here from the southland and wedded a widow lady of this city. Names will not be mentioned as it is not necessary to the story. After the marriage he asked to see her bank account and on learning that she was poor he said he was disappointed and in a few days left without notice or information as to his destination. It now leaks out that he was an inmate in the Missouri penitentiary when he in some stealthy manner prosecuted his courtship by letter and on the day of his release started to Iowa to wed the woman he had won. They had been acquainted years before but his real character was unknown until after the marriage. He is an all around crook and is wanted elsewhere, it is said. Here is a story for the yellow journals to elaborate on.—Chariton Leader.

MADE $40,000 TRADE

S. H. Covington Trades His Store and Business Block for 1,000 Acre Farm in Kansas.

S. H. COVINGTON

What is probably the largest single real estate transaction ever made by a Decatur county man, was closed last week through the real estate agency of C. M. Keller of this city. It being the sale of S. H. Covington's big general store and brick business block in the town of Grand River. The stock will invoice about $25,000 and the brick building is sold for $17,000, the sale being made to John Connor, of Hamburg, Iowa, who traded Mr. Covington 1,000 acres of fine farming land, two miles from Hepler, Kas., the consideration for the land being $10,000 or $10 per acre.

Mr. Covington is a pioneer businessman of Grand River, and commencing in a small way nearly twenty years ago, he has gradually built up a business second to none in southern Iowa. Long years of close confinement, however, finally influenced him to retire, and he expects to take personal charge of his big farm, which is said to be well improved, and one of the best in Kansas. Possession of the store will be given about April 1st. During the many years Sam Covington has been in business in this county, he has made many friends by his business methods, and the people of the northwest part of the county, and in fact of the entire county, will be very sorry to see him leave the county.

Mr. Keller and Mr. Covington returned from Hepler last Friday, and while there the contract for the transfer of the property was signed up in due form, and it establishes another high water mark for C. M. Keller in the real estate world. He is certainly a cracker-jack when it comes to making big deals, and when once he gets a proposition in his hands he is pretty sure to land a buyer or seller as the case may be. He devotes his entire attention to the real estate business and no proposition is too big for him to tackle, and the bigger the better. And the best thing in connection with his business is that the parties whom he represents are invariably well satisfied with the manner in which he does the business for them.

Mr. Keller has on his books a large list of splendid bargains, and any one who is looking for something in his line will be sure to find something with him which can be handled to good advantage.

Theodore C. Merritt

died at his home in Davis City, Feb. 5, 1906, of a complication of diseases contracted while in the army.

The funeral services were held at the L. D. S. church on Tuesday, Elder Stephens, of Lamoni, officiating, after which his remains were taken in charge of by the G. A. R. post of which order he was an honored member and laid to rest in the old Davis City cemetery to await the resurrection morn.

Mr. Merritt was born in Crawford Co., Indiana, September 26, 1846, and grew to maturity in that state. In 1861 when a mere boy he enlisted in the service of his country and served to the close of the war, when he was mustered out in June 1865. He returned to his home in Crawford Co., where November 15, 1868, he was married to Miss Mary J. Brannon. To this union was born two children, Mrs. Verge Davis and Mrs. Sadie Bartlett both living in Burlington Junction, Mo. His wife died in 1881. In 1882 he with his two motherless children came to Iowa to live. In 1885 he was again married to Miss Alice Flory. To this union was born 6 children, all of whom together with their mother are left to mourn his loss. Dick Merritt as he was most familiarly known by that name was a devoted and loving husband and father, a good neighbor and a kind friend, he was at the time of his death a member of the L. D. S. church and was a faithful member to all his duties to his church.

Amicitia Club Entertains.

The members of the Amicitia Club and their husbands were guests at an open meeting held at the spacious home of Mrs. A. P. Olsen last Friday evening, which was designated a Spider Web party. The house was tastefully decorated to represent an immense spider web, the trimming being hundreds of hearts of all sizes and shapes. The spider web was composed of yards and yards of string, crossed and recrossed, and running from one room to another. Partners for refreshments were secured by following up the strings, valentines being cut in two and each part attached to the end of one of the strings. A dainty water color painting was awarded to the person who secured the longest string, the lucky one being Mrs. J. A. McIntosh, of Weldon. The evening was pleasantly spent with games of various sorts, and dainty refreshments were served in the dining room. It was one of the best open meetings the Amicitias have ever enjoyed.
