May Weather.

Here is the pot porri which Hicks has dished up for the people during the month of May. The month of April gave us the worst dose of weather for a long time, but maybe Hicks had nothing to do with it.

A reactionary storm period is central on the 2nd, 3rd and 4th, during which days look for change to warmer with falling barometer, cloudiness and rain, all beginning in western sections and passing in due order eastward over the country on and touching the dates named. Brief reaction to cooler, with rising barometer will follow closely behind these disturbances.

A regular storm period is central on the 9th, extending over the 6th to 12th. Moon is on the celestial equator on the 6th, in perigee on the 8th, and new moon at an eclipse node falls on the 9th, the central day of the period. The Mercury period also covers this storm period. We do not hesitate to say that this promises to be a very decided and dangerous period. Storms of tornadic character are more than probable during this period, calling for watchfulness on the approach of all threatening storm clouds. It goes without saying of course, that dangerous storms possibly may not develop at this time, or that many localities may not be visited by them if they do; but this stubborn fact remains, that violent storms are more than probable, and no locality has any positive guarantee that it will not be visited by them. Hence, it is the part of wisdom and common sense to watch and not be surprised. Change to very cool nights, with probably frosts over northern sections for several days west of storm areas in and following this period. From the 6th to 12th, centering on the 9th, is one of the most positive seismic periods of the month or year. There will be a great strain on the earth at this time, and earthquake shocks, diagonally through the earth, from the southern to the northern hemisphere, are almost certain to occur about Friday, the 6th, to Thursday, the 12th. The central days of seismic danger are the 8th, 9th, 10th and 11th. Watch and see.

A reactionary storm period falls centrally on the 14th, 15th and 16th. The Moon at first quarter and the culmination of the Mercury period will heighten storm probabilities at this period. It must also be borne in mind that "the annual focus of solar energy" is central over the middle states at this and other May storm periods. Hence great electrical and tornadic storms are more frequent and violent about this time. It is folly to be unmindful of these great facts, and it is criminal in any one having the care of a household to make no sort of preparation for tornadic visitations at such times. Regular rise of barometer and change to cooler will follow at the close of all May storm periods. Should the barometer remain low, with warm southerly, muggy winds, storm cycles will repeat themselves daily until these conditions break up. When you see the high barometer, stiff westerly winds, and decided change to cooler, know that that daily cycle of thunder, rain and wind is at an end.

A regular storm period covers the 18th to 22nd, central on the 20th. Low barometer, much warmer, with decided electrical storms will result about the 18th to 22nd. We repeat the warning of probable tornadic danger at this time. The seismic period central on the 9th will continue up to, and reach another seismic crisis from the 21st to the 26th, central on the 24th, at the Moon's eclipse.

A reactionary storm period is central on the 25th, 26th and 27th. Falling barometer and storms will appear promptly and pass from west to east over the country during these days, followed by cooler. The month ends as we enter a regular storm period.

Tingley Land $250 Per Acre.

Last week S. H. Heaton, who owned a 50-acre farm adjoining Tingley corporation on the northeast, received $250 per acre for the tract, a total of $12,500. As far as we know that is the record-breaking price for land in Ringgold or adjoining counties. One of the Iowa dailies last week predicted that land in this state would reach $500 per acre, and here we have reached half way on that price. In exchange Mr. Heaton received 150 acres of Idaho land, valued at $150 per acre. J. B. Johnson and Chas. Buell of Ellston each purchased 60 acres of Idaho land for $7,000. This land is in the irrigated section advertised in the Vindicator a few weeks ago by Low Bros.—Vindicator.
