

Good Liver Remedy Free

When you suffer from any form of indigestion it is always well to take something for the liver, as usually the trouble lies there. If you are bilious, have a bloaty feeling after eating, if you belch, if your skin is yellowish you may be sure it is liver trouble.

What you need is something to stir up the liver, to arouse the gastric juices so that they will aid in the digestion of your food. A very good remedy for this, and one highly recommended by those who have used it, is Dr. Caldwell's Syrup Pepsin, which you can obtain of any druggist at fifty cents or one dollar a bottle. But if you have any doubt about its merits, and would prefer to try it first, send your address to Dr. Caldwell and he will promptly send you a free sample bottle.

Thousands of people first learned of this remarkable cure for stomach, liver and bowel troubles through a free sample. Mrs. Frank Lilly of Plainville, Ill., sent for one and it cured her and she is open in saying that she will never take pills or strong cathartics again, as Syrup Pepsin acts so mildly. Mr. W. L. Bryant, the Postmaster at Sardis, Tenn., says he will never be without it again. No sick person can afford to ignore a remedy so highly endorsed as this. It is good for all the family from infancy to old age, because it is mild, free from gripping and yet promptly effective. Furthermore, results are absolutely guaranteed or money will be refunded.

Dr. Caldwell does not feel that the purchase of his remedy ends his obligation. He has specialized in stomach, liver and bowel diseases for over forty years and will be pleased to give the reader any advice on the subject free of charge. All are welcome to write him. Whether for the medical advice or the free sample address him Dr. W. B. Caldwell, 402 Caldwell building, Monticello, Ill.

Webster's NEW INTERNATIONAL Dictionary, (G. & C. Merriam Co., Springfield, Mass.) surpasses the old International as much as that book exceeded its predecessor. On the old foundation a new superstructure has been built. The reconstruction has been carried on through many years by a large force of trained workers, under the supervision of Dr. W. T. Harris, former United States Commissioner of Education, and reinforced by many eminent specialists. The definitions have been rearranged and amplified. The number of terms defined has been more than doubled. The etymology, synonyms, pronunciation, have received unsparing scholarly labor. The language of English literature for over seven centuries, the terminology of the arts and sciences, and the every-day speech of street, shop, and household, are presented with fullness and clearness. In size of vocabulary, in richness of general information, and in convenience of consultation, the book sets a new mark in lexicography.

Shady Lawn Farm (Copyright).

A bill before the legislature provides for the copyrighting of farm names, says the Marshalltown Times-Republican. If it passes the farm name chosen and copyrighted by the owner will become a part of the real estate, to be conveyed in the deed and guaranteed to the heirs, assigns, etc., and may not be duplicated.

Why not? Its name is part of the individualism which is coming to the farm. Beecham's Garters," or "Pears Pills," are products protected. Why not the eggs from "Brookside Farm" or the butter from "Dairy View," the seed corn from "Sunny Slopes"? And from a sentimental standpoint why should not "Homesfield" means as much locally as "26 Broadway" does across the wide world?

The farm should be given a name. It is a part of the new farm life, of the marvelous change that is coming to the farms and the country. It gives the farm standing and locality and individualism. Moreover it goes toward better farms and better farming. There is much to live up to in a good name.

The Lurid Glow of Doom.

Was seen in the red face, hands and body of the little son of H. M. Adams, of Henrietta, Pa. His awful plight from eczema had, for five years, defied all remedies and baffled the best doctors, who said the poisoned blood had affected his lungs and nothing could save him. "But," writes his mother, "seven bottles of Electric Bitters completely cured him." For Eruptions, Eczema, Salt Rheum, Sores and all Blood Disorders and Rheumatism Electric Bitters is supreme. Only 50c. Guaranteed by Van Werden & Kopp.

I heard a tale of a cheerful skate, who died and went to the pearly gate, and asked if he might go in. St. Peter said: "Well I like your looks, but I'll have to hunt through my set of books, and see if you're charged with sin." He pulled his ledgers and daybooks down, looked them through with a growing frown, and muttered, your name is Pants; in some divisions you stack up high; you didn't swear and you didn't lie and you don't smoke or dance. You passed through life with a high renown and you cut more grass in your native town, as my books do plainly show; but you had one habit that makes me tired; to outer darkness you must be fired, and down with the goats you go. Your wife was ever a patient soul, and though you carried a big fat roll, she always was busted flat; she had to beg and she had to hint to pull a plunk from your fist of flint, whenever she wished a hat. You sent long green to the heathen guys because you thought it would advertise the piety of your soul; but your wife must get on her marrow bones and always you filled your house with moans, whenever you drew your roll. So chase yourself to the dread abode where the brimstone's used by the wagonload, and the weather is always dry; a man like you in our realm of grace would jar the saints till they'd jump the place, and start up another sky."—Walt Mason.

ANSWER IT HONESTLY.

Are the Statements of Leon Citizens Not More Reliable Than Those of Utter Strangers?

This is a vital question. It is fraught with interest to Leon.

It permits of only one answer. It cannot be evaded or ignored. A Leon citizen speaks here. Speaks for the welfare of Leon. A citizen's statement is reliable. An utter stranger's doubtful. Home proof is the best proof.

Mrs. J. P. Hamilton, Leon, Iowa, says: "A short time ago I suffered from an acute attack of lumbago. It came upon me suddenly, and on and hips, I could not stoop or rise, account of lumbago pains in my back and hips, I could not stoop or arise from a chair after sitting for some time. The pains were often so severe that I could hardly endure them. Hearing about Doan's Kidney Pills, I procured a box and after using them a short time, my troubles disappeared and I feel perfectly well. I feel sure that I am the use of Doan's Kidney Pills."

Betrayed by His Dog.

One day last week a farmer residing in the neighborhood west of town butchered a hog and hung it in his smokehouse to cool off during the night. On opening the door of the smokehouse next morning no hog met his gaze, but a strange dog very anxious to be liberated was there instead. The dog could not have eaten the entire hog and its disappearance must have been caused by human agency. Hastily arming himself with shot gun the farmer turned the canine loose and followed him. The dog taking a straight course for home evidently animated with a desire to get his share of the hog. The farmer who had been despoiled of his pork was not far behind the dog when the latter reached his master's home. There was blood in his eye and after a short search found the missing porker. What he said to the purloiner of his meat is not reported, but it was evidently enough, as the latter immediately hitched up his team and hauled the hog and its owner back home, a mile or so distant and the ride was probably the least enjoyable one ever taken by the thief. More trouble will probably come to him later.—Lineville Tribune.
