

This is NOT a Clothes Advertisement It is an Announcement---And a Challenge

WE announce that our Spring stock of Adler-Rochester clothes is open---and that for style, for tailoring, or for materials, these clothes are without equal anywhere at any price. Also we challenge you, or anyone else, to prove the above statement to be other than the absolute truth. We feel that our efforts to describe Adler-Rochester clothes can not be but weak. It isn't within the power of pen to tell how different are these clothes.

ADLER-ROCHESTER CLOTHES

You've seen many clothes pictures, no doubt, and admired some. Adler-Rochester clothes are realizations of these artists' rarest fancies.

They are made by men with whom tailoring is a fine art. For each detail of every garment, there is employed many specialists---men whose sole work is the single detail.

Adler-Rochester styles are the result of study by master designers, who visit world-famous fashion centers for their style ideas.

And the materials are the selection of experts in cloth, who command the output of the finest woolen mills here and abroad.

Also, each season sees Adler-Rochester patterns and shades in the forefront of American fashions. But let us stop right here.

Adler-Rochester clothes have never had justice done them in an advertisement.

You will have to visit our store and ask us to show you. And make that visit soon---today, if possible.
