

CLOTHES HONESTY

Wilson Bros
GLOVES

We believe Abraham Lincoln's famous remark applies very forcibly to the clothing business. He said: "You can fool some of the people all of the time, and all of the people some of the time, but you can't fool all of the people all of the time." We believe just as he did, a successful business can't be built on deception. We could sell near-good clothes here; that look alright; clothes made just good enough to satisfy you when you're buying them, that sort of thing might go for a time; many clothiers do that.

But we aren't in business for a time; we're seeking permanent success.

You'll be a willing captive; You'll surrender; You'll give up your money cheerfully to get such clothes we're showing from the Famous

Weldon.

Mrs. Robert Mitchell and daughter Miss Ora entertained the young ladies' and young men's classes of the Methodist Sunday school on Friday evening. The guests of honor were the former's aunt and niece.

On Saturday evening Mrs. Roy McAllister entertained at her pleasant home in honor of Mrs. W. N. Stevens of Amidon, N. D., a number of friends including the K. O. Z. Y. club. The entertainment consisted of games and music followed by elaborate refreshments, which were artistically served by Misses Nellie McAllister and Ruth Tabler.

Miss Hazel Westfall entertained on Wednesday evening a number of friends of her brother, Ira, who is visiting here from Norwich.

The classmates of Frank Tabler surprised him at his home on Thursday evening.

Mrs. L. A. Arnold and Miss Emma Warren visited the grammar room Tuesday.

Robert McAllister visited the primary room Tuesday afternoon.

School was dismissed Thursday and Friday while the teachers were attending the State Teachers' Association at Des Moines.

Mr. and Mrs. Roy McAllister entertained at a family dinner Sunday. Mr. and Mrs. H. E. Stevens, Mr. and Mrs. A. L. Stevens and little son Marvin and Mrs. W. N. Stevens and children, Harvey and Mary, of Amidon, N. D.

TWENTYFIVE YEARS AGO

Items Taken from the Files of The Reporter Published a Quarter of a Century Ago.

Mr. and Mrs. Grant Dial bought the postoffice newspaper and notion stand from Miss Jennie Martin.

While hauling a load of baled hay last Saturday Milt Lindsey had his left arm broken by one of the bales turning and throwing him to the ground. Twenty-one years ago he broke his other arm in exactly the same manner.

Another old landmark and eyesore has been torn down in Leon. We refer to the old building on the north side of the square, formerly used as a harness shop by Uncle John Patterson. It was declared a nuisance and hence is no more.

C. M. Akes bought A. J. Warner's furniture store and Jake Warner was managing the business for him.

The board of supervisors appointed James Grandstaff county recorder to fill the vacancy caused by the death of recorder John N. Grayson.

County recorder John N. Grayson committed suicide by cutting his throat with a razor at the home of his sister, Mrs. Wm. Artt. For some weeks he had been sick and unable to attend to his duties, and his mind had become affected. Just after supper he made an excuse to go out, and being gone longer than Mr. and Mrs. Artt thought necessary, they went out to look for him and he was found in the yard. He spoke only a few words after being found and expired soon after being taken into the house.

Elizabeth, wife of F. L. Lorey, died at her home in Cainsville, Mo., on Nov. 11th at the age of 26 years, 3 months and 5 days. Her remains were brought to Leon, the funeral being held in the M. E. church, interment being in the Leon cemetery.

Albert Sharp and daughter Louise, of Grand Island, Neb., were visiting with relatives in this city.

A. J. Forgrave, of Perry, Iowa, and R. G. Forgrave, of San Jose, California, were here visiting with their brother, L. W. Forgrave. The ladies in discarding their bustles have brought grief to the soul of the seal-skin dealers and manufacturers of fur coats and sacques. The supply for a winter is made up about a year before hand, and the cloakmakers appear to have had no notice of the bustle earthquake, and made all their cloaks with a bridge to cover the bustle. And now they are busy taking in the slack and weeping over the wasted folds of precious fur.

Not for some time have we had the pleasure of attending a real comic opera performance and this is now guaranteed by the engagement by Manager Butler of the Leon opera house, of the Boston Ideal Opera Co., which will appear at that theatre Tuesday, Nov. 17 in the convulsing comic opera success, the "Mascol." This production was recently revived in New York City at the Broadway theatre by the popular comedian, Mr. Raymond Hitchcock, and the instantaneous success scored by this standard offering, plainly demonstrated the fact that comic opera still stands for all that is best in both voice and book. On behalf of the company the management promises an abundance of excellent vocal numbers, both solo and concerted, a display of elaborate costumes and clean comedy of a convulsing order.

"Babe" Adams, the great pitcher for the Pittsburgh base ball team, accompanied by his wife, passed through this city last Friday, returning from a few weeks' visit with relatives at his old home near Mt. Meriah, Mo. Adams is one of the greatest pitchers in the country, but he is the same old fellow he was when he pitched ball down in the Missouri branch. He had been enjoying hunting on the old camping grounds and visiting with his boyhood friends.

Pease & Pease, the "Old Reliable" insurance agents, handle the best in fire, lightning and tornado insurance.

Mrs. Lucy Stocker, of Chicago, came the first of last week for a visit at the home of J. R. Bashaw, who has been quite sick, but is now considerably improved.

Teller, the ten year old son of Romeo Bailey, of Akron, Mo., was brought to the Leon hospital Tuesday and operated upon for appendicitis. The little patient has an excellent chance for complete recovery.

Mr. and Mrs. C. E. Stuber, Mr. and Mrs. J. A. Caster, Mr. and Mrs. O. E. Hull and Misses Dorothy Hull, Elma Forbes and Mabel Bradley autoted to Osceola Sunday afternoon and visited a few hours with friends.

Dr. Jason Roberts, for many years a leading physician of Osceola, died at his home in Osceola last Friday, and was buried Sunday afternoon by the Masonic orders. Dr. Roberts had been an invalid for many years prior to his death.

Roy Phillips was fined $5.00 and costs by Mayor Faruhar for fighting on the street Saturday evening. He met Charles Bullard in front of Hansell's store and proceeded to settle a real or imaginary grievance with his fists.

E. K. Pitman, formerly of this city, now editor of the Northwood Anchor, has been traveling for the past few weeks with a theatrical company which he owns, which is playing "The Convict's Daughter," in towns in northern Iowa.

At the special election held at Humeston last Thursday to vote on the question of issuing bonds in the sum of $10,000 for a system of water-works, the proposition carried by a vote of 190 to 41. There were 78 ladies voted at the election, and only ten of them voted against the water-works.

Hiram Williams, of Fairbury, Neb., is here visiting old time friends and relatives. He is one of the old settlers, coming to Decatur county with his father in 1852. His father entered land from the government east of High Point, which has been known as the Williams farm ever since.—Garden Grove Express.

Miss Lois Rudibaugh, a progressive young teacher, held a pie supper at her school near Pleasanton last Thursday evening. The proceeds were almost thirty dollars and Miss Rudibaugh will expend this to a good advantage in improving her school room. Miss Jane Griffin received the box of candy for being the most popular young lady and Oren Elmore, the prize for being the laziest man.

The little two weeks old son of Mr. and Mrs. Geo. L. Jackson, of Moline, Illinois, passed away last Thursday evening. The little one had been very delicate from the time of its birth. The little body was shipped to Leon for interment in the Leon cemetery, Mrs. Jackson being too weak to come and Mr. Jackson could not leave her. Kind friends in this city accompanied the body to the Leon cemetery, where short services were held by Rev. G. J. Fansher, pastor of the M. E. church. Many friends in this city extend their sympathy to the sorely bereaved parents.

If your husband kept his office as he expects you to keep your kitchen he'd be bankrupt

Saving time and energy in the home is just as important as saving it in business. If a man had to jump up and run to the pantry every time he wanted to write a letter or get a stamp, he would waste half his time.

Just come down here with your husband and see what a wonderful labor-saving kitchen machine we can supply you at a very small cost. Bring him in tomorrow. He will appreciate the value of
